WITHROW HIGH SCHOOL
CINCINNATI, OHIO

Allen County Public Library
900 Webster Street
PO Box 2270
Fort Wayne, IN 46801-2270

FOREWORD

IN our effort to prepare a yearbook truly representative of Withrow and embodying its spirit, we have chosen the school itself as our theme. With such a theme we feel certain that the book will be of great interest to you, with its valuable memories of Withrow. The staff greatly appreciates the help of Miss Schneider, Miss Green, and Miss Parks, whose co-operation has been of such aid to us in the preparation of this book.

VIRGINIA WEBSTER
BOB SOHNGEN

To E. D. Lyon, the very soul of Withrow and the exemplification of its ideals, the class of '31 affectionately dedicates this Withrow yearbook.

MR. LYON, Principal

To the Teachers of Withrow:

The guidance you have given, the understanding you have shown, the friendship you have offered, have meant much to the class of '31.

Because of you we feel that high school has not been four years of drudgery, but of happiness and progress.

May future classes derive as much pleasure from association with you as we have done these past four years.

SENIORS
VIRGINIA BARNUM

SENIORS

INSPIRED by the fine leadership of one of the most able and versatile class presidents Withrow has ever known, the class of '31 has inaugurated many new practices.

Foremost among these achievements has been the organization of the Student Council, an advisory body which has introduced and is fostering many new things to advance the ideals of Withrow.

Through Student Council the first scholarship drive was held, in which certain students tutored other pupils of the school in preparation for mid-year exams. Gravy was kept off the vests in a noval fashion—napkins were instituted in the lunchroom, to the great satisfaction of the female members of the student body.

Withrow's first debating team made its debut in a spirited contest at Holmes High in Covington. Another club organized by the boys was the Scribes, a literary group

Withrow took the air with a new glider constructed by members of the Aero Club. Student talent was displayed in student assemblies which were more numerous.

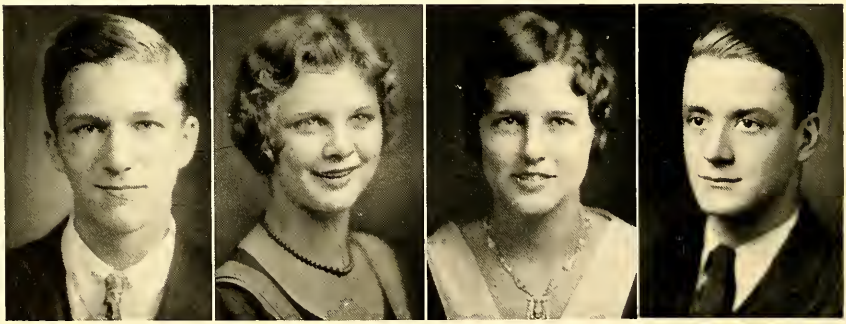
A senior team won the intramural basketball championship. The girls took the hockey and basketball championships, won one of the swimming meets, passed Red Cross Lifesaving tests, and captured many other honors in their line.

Many new, valuable organizations have been formed, a different style of commencement announcements has been adopted, and our graduation exercises will be held at Emery Auditorium. Though we lament the fact that we shall not tread over our bridge in the traditional graduation march, we believe that something almost as lovely may be substituted at Emery.

So, reviewing these most successful years, we leave Withrow with the happy memory of four years of good fellowship and learning.

We hope that future senior classes will accept the challenge that our leaders and their followers are offering. May they leave the school better for having known them, as we have tried to do.

CHARLOTTE FREY, '31.



WILLIAM FRANKLIN
President

MARJORIE COWELL
Vice President

CHARLOTTE FREY
Secretary

GEORGE YOUNG
Treasurer

ELNORA ABRAHAM, "Oswald"

Kalidasa; Euterpeans I, II, III, IV; Hamiltonian; Vergiliani; Home Room President III.

Elnora is one of our up-and-coming musicians. We know that she'll be an honor to Withrow.

EVERETT ACOMB

Spanish Club; Camera Club II; History Club.

Everett will be remembered as being English, unassuming, and 99 44/100% blond.

CARL ADOLF

Euclidean Math Club.

We admire Carl's serious work during and after school hours; but we regret that it has kept us from knowing this interesting lad more intimately.

WILLIAM AHLERT, "Bill"

Thalian; Hi-Y; Boys' Glee Club; Spanish Club; Euclidean; Camera Club.

It is not easy to become acquainted with a quiet, studious chap like Bill; but he's such a good sport that it's more than worth the effort.

HETTIE M. AICHOLZ

New people and places interest Hettie, who possesses that keen sense of humor necessary to complete enjoyment of life.

ROSEMARY ALBERS, "Ray"

Kalidasa; Annual; Euterpean; French Club.

Through Rosemary's extraordinary talent she will achieve a high place in the world of art.

JOHN ALDERDYCE

Reviewers; President, Scribes; Thalian; Tennis Club.

No one who remembers our Christmas play could doubt John's outstanding histrionic ability.

JANE ALLEN

Tower Y; French Club; Kalidasa; Clio.

Jane's stunning black hair and easy southern accent make her most attractive.

CHARLES ANDERSON, "Snooze"

Basketball II, IV; Baseball III; Football IV; Home Room President II; Nathan Hale History Club.

In addition to being an outstanding athlete, Charlie is one of our funnymen who possesses real wit for all occasions.

BETTY ANGLE

G. A. A.; Kalidasa; French Club; Aeneadae; Hamiltonian.

All who have been "strung" by Betty will testify how well she accomplishes her purpose.

HOUSTON ARGABRITE, "Argy"

Band; Special Chorus.

All Withrow knows Argy as a sophisticated dresser and an irresistible trumpeter.

JEAN ARMACOST

Hockey, I, II, III, IV; Basketball I, II, III, IV; Baseball I, II, III, IV; G. A. A.

A rush! A hustle! A conference! A few words and then on—Jean is certainly a live worker.

PAUL ARMSTRONG, "Fat"

Special Chorus I, II, III, IV; Boys' Glee Club I, IV.

Paul's talent and loyalty are both shown by his faithfulness to numerous activities.

HELEN ASH

French Club; Tower Y; Kalidasa; G. A. A.

Helen furnishes decisive proof of why gentlemen prefer blondes. With the vocation of teaching in view, however, perhaps Helen's male students will do especially good work.

HILLIARD BAAS

Hilliard has a highly developed sense of humor, which makes him the jolliest of jokers.

ARTHUR BAEHR, "Artie"

Ad Club; Law Club; Withrow Club.

The unusual ability to do things right the first time has made Artie an excellent commercial student and should insure his success in the business world.

DOROTHY BAGLEY, "Dot"

Spanish Club; Kalidasa.

Dot shows her Irish ancestry in her red hair and most engaging smile.

MINNIE BARBER

Minnie graduates with extra credits and an enviable reputation as a hard worker.

VIRGINIA BARNUM, "Ginny"

Kalidasa; Thalian; Tower Y; Aeneadae; Special Chorus; Pythagorean; Tower News Staff; Annual Staff.

Ginny has no Bohemian tastes, which seems strange when one considers her artistic ability.

RUTH BARR, "Rudy"

Euterpean; Kalidasa; French Club; Special Chorus; Chorean; Thalian.

Ruth always makes any gathering gayer for her presence.

RUTH BARROWS, "Rudy"

Vergiliana; Tartaglian; Kalidasa; Basketball.

Pretty, popular, and bubbling over with pep, this young lady is always the center of a laughing crowd.

RUTH BATEMAN

Kalidasa; Camera Club; Aeneadae; Special Chorus III, IV; Washingtonian; French Club.

Giggles, gossip, and good times, together with an effervescent optimism, have characterized Ruth's school career.

ELENER BAYERSDORFER

Special Chorus; Euterpean; Home Room President IV; Kalidasa.

Elener's titian hair is not a bit more sunny than her heart.

JAMES BEATTY, "Jim"

Football IV.

Jim makes no pretentions of being a scholar, but, opposing football ends will assure you that he's there with the goods.

HOWARD BEIRNE

Philologia; Radio Club.

A good sport like Howard, who grins instead of smiles, and would rather listen than talk, can't help being popular.

DOROTHEA BELLONBY, "Dot"

G. A. A.; Euterpean; Special Chorus; French Club; Tower Y; Camera Club; Kalidasa.

Busy as the proverbial bee. At least that's what Dot's list of activities seems to say.

ROBERT BERNHARDT, "Bob"

Withrow Club; Track III, IV; Euclidean.

Few really realize how "fast" serious-minded Bob really is—until they've seen him in action, on the track.

ESTHER BERNHART, "Bernie"

Vergiliani; G. A. A.

Bernie is always not only ready to enjoy someone else's jokes, but to supply her own share of entertainment for the crowd.

CATHERINE BEYER, "Catty"

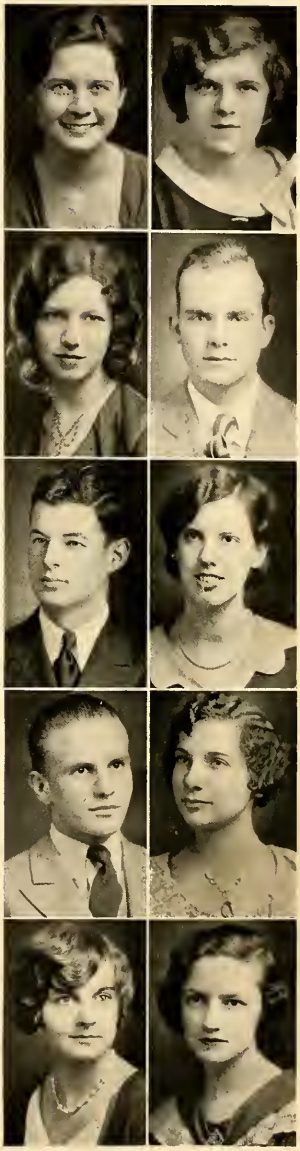
President of Los Amigos; Tower Y; G. A. A.; Special Chorus; Camera Club; Tartaglian Math Club; Baseball 1; Lunch Room Staff; Hiking I, III.

Have you ever seen Catty in a sullen mood? This delightful, happy girl is never without her radiant smile.

MARIAN BINDER, "Shorty"

Girls' Glee Club III, IV; Special Chorus IV; Camera Club III; G. A. A.; Aeneadae; Kalidasa; Tower News.

Whether it's a joke or not, Shorty's there with a giggle.



JACK BINGHAM

Jack's genial ability to have a good time by conforming to the will of the crowd has made him many friends.

WALTER BITTMAN, "Walt"

Clio; Lunchroom; Camera Club.

Walter was so busy keeping the lunchroom clean and supplying us with food that his friendship was restricted to a fortunate group.

MARIE BLAKELY, "Ree"

We hope Marie will be successful in her social service work.

VIRGINIA BLISS, "Jin"

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Camera Club; Law Club.

Of all the forty-eight states in the Union, Jin confesses a weakness for Massachusetts. Could it be the climate or some particular inhabitant?

MARJORIE BOSSE, "Marj"

Spanish Club.

One so charming and interesting as Marjorie is always welcomed into the midst of a crowd.

CORINNE BOTLEY, "Crinn"

Kalidasa; Washingtonian; G. A. A.; Euterpean.

"Would some power the giftie gi' us, to see ourselves as others see us!"—What a well dressed young lady Corinne would behold!

DOROTHY BOWER, "Dot"

Kalidasa.

Dot's unusual amiability and animation warrant her a lively friend.

JACK B. BOYLE

Censor, Hamiltonian; Tartaglian; French Club; Basketball III, IV'; Golf III.

Everyone knows this high-pressure joker, high-spirited golfer, and high-point scorer on the basketball team.

FRANK BRADY, "Red"

Aero Club; Glider Club.

"Red" enjoys the distinction of being the smallest but not the least among our glider pilots.

IRVING BRASCH

French Club; Hamiltonian.

This lanky chap with the brief case—this curly-haired guitarist—has achieved renown among '31.

ELLEN CLAIRE BRITTAIN

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Vergiliani; Washington History Club.

Ellen Claire has a rather unusual liking for walking in the rain. In addition to this she is very fond of romantic adventures of the thirteenth century.

GERALD B. BRITTON, "Jerry"

Orchestra I, II, III, IV; Band II, III, IV.

With his clarinet and his motorcycle, Jerry accomplishes more in his leisure than most of us do at work.

WILLIAM BROERMAN, "Bill"

Lunchroom; Tower News; Reviewers.

Bill's work for Tower News and the lunchroom has made the accurate handling of money practically his hobby, and it's a hobby which will assure his success in the world of finance.

NAOMI JANE BROMLEY, "Bromley"

Vergiliani; Camera Club; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Special Chorus.

Naomi loves to tease, but her friends have found that this faculty only adds to her attractiveness.

HAZEL BROOKS, "Haz"

Girls' Glee Club I, II; Special Chorus I, II; Kalidasa; Lunchroom I, II, III, IV; French Club; Vice-President of the Civic and Vocational League.

Her quiet, smiling friendliness is sure to make Hazel the kind of nurse who makes even illness almost enjoyable.

HAROLD BROWN

Washingtonian.

A tall lanky young man with a passion for pharmacy—that's Harold.

MARGARET F. BROWN, "Peggy"

Reviewers; Orchestra I, II, III; Kalidasa; Law Club.

Judging from Peggy's excellent work in Mr. Seay's office, there will be one husband who won't have to worry over his budget.

ELIZABETH BRUCE, "Ebie"

Tower Y II, III; Special Chorus III, IV; Aeneadae; Camera Club III.

Ebie's demure expression sparkles when a chance for fun is offered.

ROBERT BRUCH, "Bob"

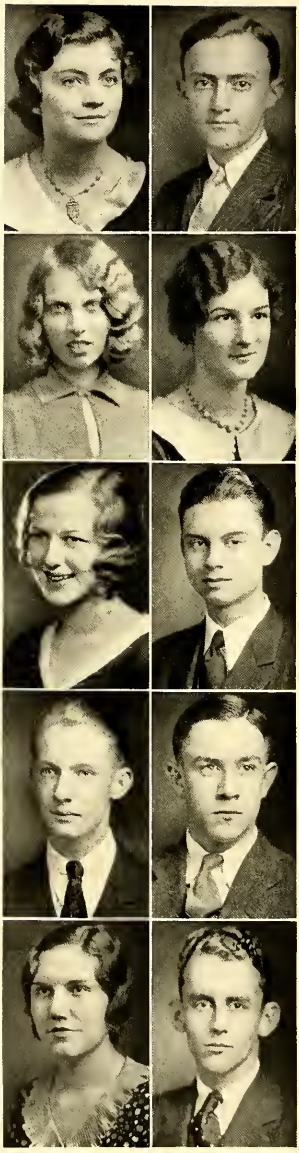
Pythagorean.

Here's someone who'll make the sparks fly. Bob hopes to be an electrical engineer.

JEAN BRUCKNER

Camera Club; Nathan Hale; Kalidasa; Aeneadae; G. A. A.

As a history teacher Jean will be excellent without a doubt, but she'll have to have plenty of room in which to "squirm."



ALICE BRUNNER

G. A. A.; Senior Orchestra; Euterpean.

Alice's prominent place in the orchestra prophesies much success in affairs of music for her.

MILTON BUCK

Withrow Scribes.

Milton's literary talent has been displayed in his efficient organizing of the new boys' literary club, Withrow Scribes.

RUTH BULTEMEYER

Spanish; Kalidasa; Clio.

Though her quiet manner does not show it, Ruth has the spirit of an adventurer and travelling is her hobby.

HELEN M. BURR.

Kalidasa; Aeneadae; Tower News; Annual III, IV; Art League; Astronomy Club.

As the pages of this book and her frequent cartoons in Tower News testify, this titian-haired lady is one of our most outstanding artists.

MARGUERITE BUSH.

Tower Y; G. A. A.; Clio; Spanish Club; Swimming III, IV.

Panama lost a petite young lady and an excellent swimmer when Marguerite came to Withrow.

NEWELL BUSH

Philologia; President, Hi-Y; Thalian; Track III, IV; Annual; Tower News; French Club.

Real dramatic talent and dignity are as obvious in Newell as is his six-foot figure in the halls.

ROBERT BUTLER, "Bob"

Student Council; Philologia; Hi-Y; French Club; Editor of Tower News; Annual; Withrow Club; Pythagorean; Clio; Basketball Manager III.

An outstanding editor of Tower News, an active participant in school affairs, and an honor student—these are the qualifications of likeable Bob.

JOHN CAMPBELL, "Doc"

Thalian; Withrow Club; Track I, III; Philologia; Band; Hamiltonian.

Doc and his inimitable impersonations brightened many a corner in Withrow during our senior year.

RUTH CAMPBELL, "Rufus," "Camel"

Thalian; French Club; Kalidasa; Euterpean; History Club; G. A. A.

Ruth would make an excellent member of the Chatter and Stitch Club, for she does both in her capable way.

LAWRENCE CANTER, "Larry"

Basketball III, IV; Hi-Y; Thalian; Baseball IV; French Club.

Real athletic ability and a genial personality have combined to make Larry one of the best known of our class.

CLARA CARTWRIGHT

Thalian; French Club; Kalidasa.

Although Clara has only been here two years, her pleasing personality and jolly humor have won her many friends.

HELEN CASTELLI

Camera Club; Kalidasa; Special Chorus.

More people like Helen, friendly and capable of great accomplishments, would make the world a fine place in which to live.

RUTH CHALKER

Kalidasa; Special Chorus III, IV; G. A. A. I, II, III.

Efficiency and hard work are two of Ruth's most outstanding characteristics. She does excellent work in everything she undertakes.

WILLIAM M. CHAMBERS, "Bill"

Philologia; Withrow Club; Tower News; Home Room President IV; Tennis Club I, II, III, IV.

This introduces a tennis star of the first magnitude, and a leader in the class of '31.

FLORENCE CHISHOLM, "Chisy"

Camera Club I, II; Euterpean Music Club III, IV; Special Chorus III, IV; Law Club.

Those who know Florence agree that she has a remarkable sense of humor.

EVELYN CIARNIELLO

Hockey IV; Spanish Club; Kalidasa; Camera Club; G. A. A.

One can fancy a vision of shimmering waters, gliding gondolas, and moonlight nights, when looking at Evelyn.

VINCENT CIMAGLIA

Vincent's quiet, business-like manner has made him rather reserved, but we're sure that it will aid him in his chosen work of accounting.

CLIFFORD CLARK, "Cliff"

Thalian; Radio Club; Pythagorean; Home Room President I.

Lighting effects by Clark have made Thalian plays Thalian successes.

JEFF CLAUDER

Clio.

What! A surgeon? In spite of what he says, surgery seems a fearfully serious profession for the light-hearted Jeff we know.

ELAINE CLEMONS, "Clown"

President of Vergiliani; Quien Sabe; Thalian; Tower News; Kalidasa; Special Chorus II, III, IV; Glee Club II, III.

Elaine goes in for dramatics, likes to read mystery stories, and admits she has a hot temper. The combination might indicate her as Ethel Barrymore's successor.

WILLIS COBB, "Shorty"

Withrow Club; Tartaglian; Track.

Don't be misled by Shorty's youthful appearance and boyish grin, for to us he's proved himself thoroughly capable, self-reliant, and dependable.

EUGENE COLEMAN, "Gene"

Swimming II, III; Swimming Captain IV; Philologia; Annual; Withrow Club.

Here's a swimming team captain with winning ways of more than one variety.

MARY BETSY COLLORD, "Betsy"

Kalidasa; Hamiltonian.

A rather unusual combination is found in this girl, who dislikes basketball and football, but who would like to teach gym.

HELEN CONDON

G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Hockey I; Basketball I, III; Swimming IV; Baseball I; Astronomy Club.

Helen is the personification of the modern miss—athletic, assertive, and attractive.

JUNE CONGER, "Babe"

Tower Y.

A merry heart always makes a cheerful countenance. Probably this accounts for June's happy smile.

LA RUE CONGER, "Larry"

Hamiltonian.

Larry goes in for the sciences, excepting mathematics, and specializing in the one of making friends.

EDWARD CONWAY, "Boots"

Spanish Club; Special Chorus.

Boots isn't one to advertise himself or his accomplishments; but his friends know him as a square fellow, proverbially pleasant.

VIRGINIA COUCH, "Ginny"

Enterpean; Orchestra II, III, IV.

Hearing gifted Virginia play her violin, we realize indeed that "Music hath charms."

MARJORIE COWELL, "Marj"

Thalian III, IV; Spanish Club; Kalidasa; Chorean III, IV; Vice President of Junior Class; Vice President of Senior Class; G. A. A.; Hockey III, IV; Basketball I, II, III, IV; Baseball III; Swimming II, III, IV.

An active member of most of the prominent clubs, for two years vice president of the class, and an influential member of numerous athletic teams, Marj is one of the few who may be termed an all-round girl.

ELEANOR CRAIG

Vergiliani; G. A. A.

Eleanor enjoys the study of languages. She stands high in her English classes, has advanced to Vergil in Latin, and admits that she enjoys reading and speaking German.

MARY CROUSE

Tower News; French Club; Kalidasa; Glee Club; Special Chorus; G. A. A.

This Mary is anything but contrary when it comes to having a lively good time and thoroughly enjoying herself.

EMILY CURD

Emily wishes that winter came four times a year, instead of only once, so that there might be a continuous open season for ice-skating, her favorite sport.

CAJETAN D'AGOSTINO, "Caj"

G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Tennis Club; President, Spanish Club; Hockey II, III, IV; Basketball I, II, III, IV; Baseball I, II, III, IV; Swimming II, III, IV.

"For some are born to do great deeds and live."—Caj. surely is one of this group, and possibly the great deeds will be in the world of sports.

MILDRED DAHLMAN, "Mil"

Kalidasa; French Club; Civic and Vocational League; G. A. A.; Hockey I, III; Basketball III; Thalian.

Mildred is one of the few people who succeed in completing the high school course in three years.

VIRGINIA DAVIS, "Jinny"

Kalidasa; Law Club.

Virginia has visions of herself as a Paris buyer for a great department store some day.

RUTH DE GARMOE

Special Chorus; Glee Club.

Ruth has been well known at Withrow for her excellent singing. A bright future is in store for one so talented.

RUTH DIACK

Pretty? Jolly? Lots of fun? Yes, that's Ruth all over.

VIOLA DIERS, "Vi"

Camera Club; Tower Y; Aeneadae; Hamiltonian; G. A. A.

Vi is always quite willing to do her bit with that cheerful smile which is so admirable.

MABEL DOENCH, "Blondy"

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Tower News.

Always ready to play jokes on others, and a good sport when a joke is played on her, Mabel is a lively friend.

JANE DOWNEY, "Jan"

Camera Club; Law Club; G. A. A.; Riding Club; Washingtonian History Club; Kalidasa; Tennis Club.

Jane is an ideal outdoor girl. Her weakness for dogs is only surpassed by her love for horseback riding.

ELEANORE DOYLE, "El"

Thalian; Kalidasa; Girls' Glee Club I, II; Special Chorus I, II; Home Room President I; Spanish Club.

Fragile and delicate as any Dresden shepherdess, Eleanore's willowy grace in the art of Terpischore lacks any of that lady's china stiffness.

CHARLES M. DRACKETT, "Chuck"

Philologia; Withrow Club; French Club.

Chuck is one of those rare young men who always know, do, and wear, just what is right.

MARY E. DURHAM, "Denny"

French Club; Euterpean; American History Club; Special Chorus I, II; Kalidasa.

The gods were good to Denny, for they bestowed upon her a pleasant disposition and the ability to draw.

FLOY EASTER

Special Chorus III, IV; Girls' Glee Club I, II, III, IV; Law Club; Clio.

Floy is a music lover, and has sung in the Glee Club four years, but, being the proverbial shrinking violet, cannot be prevailed upon to sing for her friends.

JUSTINE ECKMAN

Kalidasa; Lunchroom.

Justine is that dependable and industrious girl whom one sees busily working in the lunchroom. Moreover she is the custodian of our lost and found department.

THOMAS EDWARDS, "Tom"

Tower News III; Annual; French Club; Washingtonian; Withrow Scribes; Tennis Club.

May we present the High School edition of Don Juan—Tom. He is considered "divine" by all freshie girls, while his ready wit makes him popular with the seniors.

ESTHER EIBEL

Nathan Hale; Kalidasa.

Although Esther is little, she holds a big place in the hearts of many friends.

ERMA EICHE

Kalidasa; Law; Tennis Club.

Erma is one of those attractive brunettes who succeeds in making herself thoroughly irresistible.

MARY LOUISE ESSLINGER

Tower Y, III. IV; Kalidasa; Camera Club; G. A. A.

Beneath Mary's quiet exterior there lurks a delicious sense of fun.

MARIAN EVANS, "Monnie"

G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Aeneadae; Hamiltonian; Tower Y.

Through some unknown means, it leaked out that our dignified Marian has a weakness for writing to movie stars, and her pet hobby seems to be playing tennis.

WILLIAM EVELAND, "Bill"

Thalian; Law Club; Clio; Bank.

The tall, dark, quiet fellow who designs and paints most of the Thalian "sets"—Bill.

PAUL FALONE

Swimming I, II.

Good-natured, happy-go-lucky Paul—owner and operator of the original, contagious "Falone laugh."

EDNA MARIE FEHL, "Eddie"

Tower Y; G. A. A.; French Club; Kalidasa; Special Chorus; Girls' Glee Club.

In Edna one finds an unlimited resource of energy, together with an abundance of charm and initiative.

RUTH FEIS

Tower Y; Kalidasa; German Club; G. A. A.; Hockey IV.

A fine member of the hockey team, an excellent student, and a good sport—that's Ruth.

HELEN FENNEN, "Fen"

Kalidasa; Law Club; G. A. A.; Hockey I, IV; Home Room President II; Annual Staff; Track II, III, IV.

We all know Fen loves the rhythm of the Royal or Underwood, but her weakness seems to be making the permanent and finger waves roll in.

STEWART FERN, "Stew"

Philologia; President, Thalian; Hi-Y; French Club; Withrow Club; Annual Staff; Tower News.

Here's as enthusiastic a president, as versatile an actor, and as downright cheerful a lad as may be found in the class of '31.

EDNA FIFE, "Ed"

Clio; G. A. A.; Hockey I, II, III, IV; Basketball I, III, IV; Track I, II, III, IV; Baseball I, II, III, IV.

Anyone can see from the above inscription where this young lady's heart lies; but Ed does not live entirely for sports. She says she loves to argue, and enjoys studying people.

DOROTHY FINCH, "Dot"

French Club; Kalidasa.

Dot accomplishes her duty in a most unassuming and unostentatious way, which distinguishes her as a capable student.

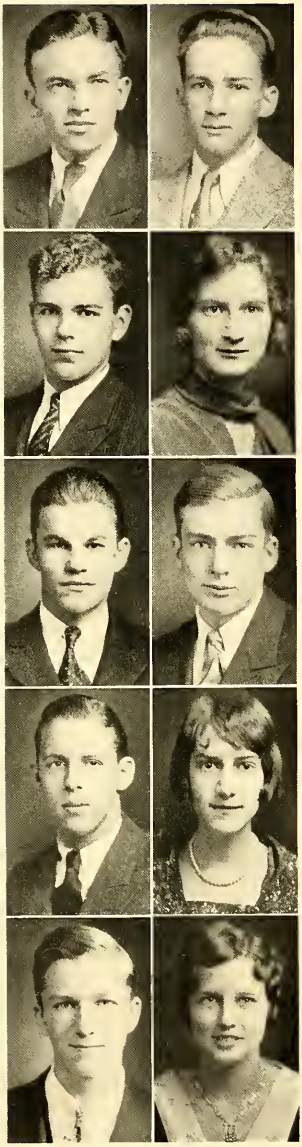
WILLIAM FINKE, "Bill"

If we have a future "Bobby Jones" in our class, we're agreed that it's Bill, who ardently follows the elusive, white "pill."

EARL FINNELL

Philologia; Hamiltonian; Spanish Club.

Earl is a staunch supporter of the theory of conservation of energy. He's noted for his excellent excuses.



RICHARD L. FIRESTONE, "Rich"

President, Philologia; Withrow Club; President, Hi-Y; Thalian; Law Club.

Dick is an irrepressible humorist who uses his excellent dramatic talent to gain a laugh a minute.

JACK FISCHER

Aero Club; Clio! Euclidean.

Meticulous methods have made Jack one of Withrow's dependable winners in model contests.

WILLIAM FLETCHER, "Bill"

Swimming III, IV.

If in the distant future you should desire to have a bridge built or a ditch dug, just summon Bill, for he is going to be one of the best civil engineers in the business. Ask him!

MARGARET FLINN.

French Club; Kalidasa; Lunchroom.

Margaret is one of those few lucky girls who can climb a rope to the top of the gym. Nothing ever ruffles her blond serenity.

CHARLES FLOYD, "Charley"

Football II, III, IV; Track I, II, III, IV; Baseball II. III, IV; Tartaglian.

Charlie's name is almost synonymous with fight. When he sets his jaw, the opposition is in for a stiff battle.

CARL FOSTER

Tumbling Team III, IV; Spanish Club.

Carl is one of our capable young gymnasts with ambitions toward mechanical engineering.

STERRETT FOSTER, "Bud"

Special Chorus, Football II, III.

Bud is an easy going soul with quite a line for entertainment, but beneath it lies capacity for friendship.

LUCILLE FRANCIS, "Lucy"

Spanish Club; Kalidasa.

Lucille has a dignity of her own, but when you know her she's no end of fun. One look at her merry brown eyes and you will understand.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN, "Bill"

President of Senior Class; President of Junior Class; Tower News; Annual Staff; President of Philologia; Student Council; Debating Team; Thalian; Withrow Club; French Club III; Hi-Y; Aeneadae; Reviewers; Astronomy Club.

Bill's scholarship is proverbial, his leadership able, his list of activities exceptional, and his popularity unexcelled. The founder of Student Council and the Debating Team, he is Withrow's go-getter.

CHARLOTTE FREY

President, G. A. A.; Scribblers: Chorean Dance Club; Student Council; Hockey I, II, III, IV; Basketball I. II, III, IV; Baseball I, II, III, IV; Swimming III; Secretary of Senior Class; Secretary of Junior Class.

One of Withrow's all-round girls! A glance at her numerous activities shows her varied interests.

GORDON FREY

Withrow Club; Debating; Tennis Club; Track III, IV; Pythagorean.

The attainment of a track letter and a high scholastic average hasn't interfered with Gordon's fun and practical joking.

RUTH FRICKE, "Ruthie"

Law Club; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Ad Club.

Ruth doesn't make herself conspicuous, but this quietness doesn't keep her from being well-liked by her friends.

JEAN FROMMEYER

French Club; G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Glee Club; Dance Club.

We predict a social future for this attractive miss, for she seems to be enjoying the society whirl even now.

DOROTHY FULFORD, "Dot"

Spanish Club; History Club; G. A. A.

We all admire Dot's remarkable perseverance, which should ensure her a remarkable future.

MARY FUSARO

Camera Club; G. A. A.; Special Chorus III, IV; Kalidasa.

Mary has always been an enthusiastic member of her class and is willing to help anyone who is in need.

MILDRED RUTH GABLE, "Mil"

Glee Club; Special Chorus; Camera Club; Kalidasa; Dance Club; G. A. A.; Lunch Room.

Mildred's friendly manner has won her many friends. The quality of being obliging is her outstanding characteristic.

FRANK GAIN

Law Club.

Frank's infectious grin and his sincere friendliness should carry him far in the world of business.

ROBERT GAMBLE, "Bob"

Although Bob is a happy-go-lucky sort of fellow with no pet ambitions or hobbies, his friendly grin has made him acquainted with most of his classmates.

JOSEPHINE GELHOT, "Jo"

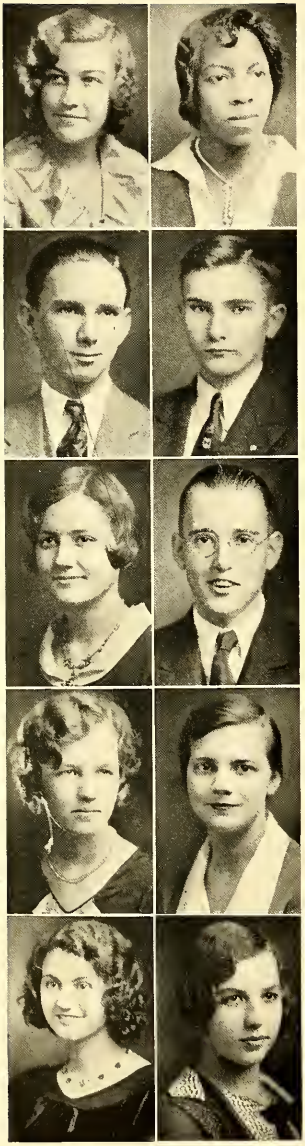
Kalidasa.

Since neatness and accuracy are two essentials of a good bookkeeper, Jo is bound to succeed.

EVELYN GIBSON, "Ebby"

Kalidasa; Special Chorus; Euterpean; American History Club; Annual Staff.

At the mention of beautiful curls, we think of Ebby, who is pretty as well as talented.



VIRGINIA GILL, "Ginny"

G. A. A.; Spanish Club; Washingtonian; Kalidasa; Tower Y; Camera Club; Hockey II, III, IV; Baseball II, IV.

Ginny's main interests are associated with athletics, in which field she is most proficient.

CAROLYN GIVENS, "Carol"

The commercial world will find in Carolyn an apt and diligent worker.

ARTHUR GLOS, "Art"

Camera Club.

We'll probably see Art behind the bars in a few years, since he's going in for post-office work.

WILLIAM GLYNN, "Bill"

Bill's preference for expressing his thoughts in code over the radio is probably due to his inherent quietness.

NANCY JANE GORDON, "Nance"

G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Sanos Y Salvos; Scribblers; Chorean; Annual; Hockey II, III, IV; Basketball II, III, IV.

Artistic, literary, and athletic ability embody the desirable qualities which Nance possesses. No wonder we like and admire her!

ROBERT W. GRANEY, "Bob"

Orchestra I, II, III, IV; Band I, II, III, IV; Glider Club: Reviewers' History Club.

Those numerals after Orchestra and Band show, better than words, Bob's talents and loyalty.

PEGGY GRANGER, "Peg"

Home Room President; Student Council; Spanish Club; Hamiltonian; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Tower Y.

Peg's popularity and ability are attested by her position on the Student Council.

ELAINE GRASSMUCK, "Lane"

Kalidasa; Spanish Club.

It appears that Elaine's hobby is flirting, to which her attractive appearance and sparkling smile attribute much, but her athletic ability is very well known.

GARNET GREEN, "Garnie"

Orchestra I, II, III, IV; Euterpean; Special Chorus; The Reviewers.

Garnet is a talented violinist, and we feel quite sure that she will be a brilliant star in the musical firmament before many years elapse.

GENEVA GREATOREX, "Gen"

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Camera Club.

Geneva doesn't say much, but goes about in her own systematic way accomplishing much.

MARIAN GREIFE

Law Club.

Besides being a pretty blond, Marian is an ideal hostess.

ELEANOR GRIM, "Grimmy"

Glee Club; Special Chorus; Quien Sabe; Kalidasa; American History Club.

A person of many moods—sometimes laughing and gay—other times thoughtful and serious. Eleanor is a delightful companion.

PAUL GRISWOLD

Special Chorus.

Believe it or not, Paul enjoys reading and golf above all other things.

DORIS GROSSE, "Sammy"

Kalidasa; Law Club.

Doris' snapping dark eyes attest to the fact that she always welcomes a rousing good argument.

ANNA GROSSMAN, "Ann," "Annie"

Law Club; Senior Orchestra I, II, III, IV; Ad Club; Hamiltonian; Annual Staff.

Anna is a willing worker, her good disposition and friendly ways acquiring for her many friends.

VERNA GUENTHER

Law; Revtewers; Kalidasa.

Verna's ability and energy place her in a position which many of us should like to occupy.

ALBERT J. HABERER, "Al"

Band II, III, IV; Special Chorus III, IV; Withrow Club.

Al is one of those energetic, school-spirited members of Withrow Club who are indispensable to the smooth running of our school.

KARL HAGGARD, "Bunny"

Philologia; Withrow Club; Thalian; Tower News; Band III, IV; French Club; Euclidean III.

Varied interests in electricity, music, and newspaper advertising make Karl an entertaining fellow to know.

HAROLD HAGUE

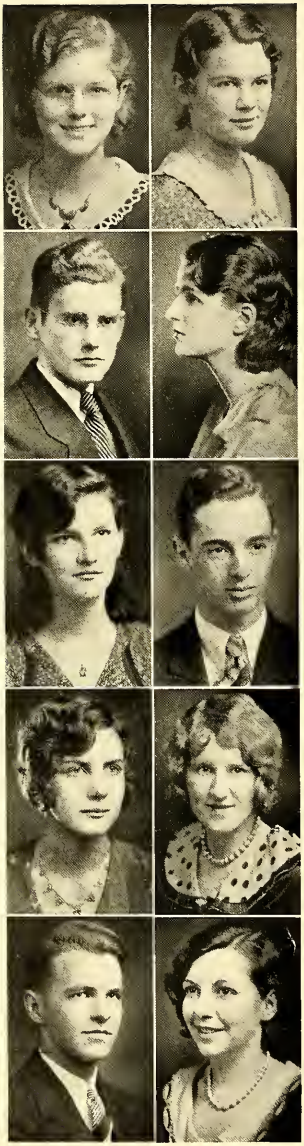
Track I, II.

Harold is already holding a bank job, where he puts into daily practice the principles he has been learning in the commercial course.

IRENE HALL, "Rene"

Kalidasa; Lunchroom.

Irene, busy as a bee, is one girl who is not afraid of work, and is always jolly in a crowd.



GRETCHEN HALLER, "Gretchy"

Astronomy Club; Camera Club; American History Club; Spanish Club; Hockey III; Basketball III, IV; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Tennis Club.

Good-natured Gretchy! And her fair complexion shows the advantage of basketball and country air.

RUTH HARDY

Reviewers; Camera Club; Kalidasa; Aeneadae; Law Club.

Ruth has aspirations; she wants to be a football player, a secret service detective, and an airplane pilot. Add to this a weakness for pumpkin pie and Booth Tarkington—! ! !

DWIGHT HARKINS, "Red"

Radio Club; Philologia; Pythagorean; Tower News; Thalian; Withrow Club; Tartaglian; Annual Staff.

Popular through his pranks; and highly respected for his achievements in short-wave broadcasting.

MARY ROSE HARMON, "Billie"

Thalian; Scribblers; Kalidasa; French Club; G. A. A.

Billie is a thoroughly modern miss, but not too modern to enjoy such quiet pastimes as reading and walking.

GEORGINA HARPER, "Bee"

G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Hockey I; Basketball II.

Bee is bubbling over with enthusiasm and love of activity. She is very proficient in athletics.

HARRY HARRIS

Although not active in organizations, this dignified chap is quite popular among his classmates.

CATHERINE HARTLAUB, "Kate"

Catherine flustered or in a hurry simply wouldn't be the same calm, easy-going girl to whom we're all accustomed.

MARGARET HARVEY, "Marge"

Law Club III.

Margaret has a friendly manner that is very pleasing, and she is happiest while swimming or dancing.

GEORGE HAYDON, "Yatz"

Band I, II; Pythagorean; Dance Orchestra; Hamiltonian.

It seems impossible that a person as quiet as George should toot such a "mean" saxaphone. Yet the fact remains that he's one of our musical mainstays.

RUTH HAYES

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Special Chorus; Spanish Club.

Someone has described Ruth as being as merry as the day is long, an apt phrase which seems positively made for her.

WOODROW HAYNES, "Woody"

Philologia; Radio Club; Astronomy Club.

Though an active member of the Radio Club, Woody is by no means a "loud speaker." His fame rests upon his faultless grooming and sly humor.

MERRILL HAZELTON, "Toots"

Pythagorean.

Toots, as he is called, is a very practical and persevering worker. His resourcefulness and ingenuity in things mechanical direct his future.

JOHN HECKLE, "Johnny"

Clio.

Johnny is the Beau Brummel who doesn't believe in letting school work interfere too much with his having a good time.

IRVING HEIMAN, "Irve"

Irve's motto is "Believe this and I'll tell you more." He has a fondness for extravagant automobile horns.

JOHN HELLEBUSH, "Johnny"

Philologia; Withrow Club; Student Council; Spanish Club.

Most unspoiled only son on record. Old economics himself, with a weakness for fishing and weird stories.

DOROTHY HELWIG, "Dot"

Kalidasa; Hockey I; G. A. A.

Dot's quiet manner in her classes is supplemented by spontaneous wit outside of school.

MARTHA HENDERSON, "Mart"

Kalidasa; Reviewers; G. A. A.; Hockey III, IV; Baseball III, IV; Basketball III, IV; Endurance Swim II, IV.

Martha is just the type of girl to enjoy not only athletics, but even sewing and its kindred domestic pastimes.

ALLAN HENNESSY, "Al"

Radio Club; Spanish Club; Hamiltonian.

Besides unobtrusively occupying a position on the honor roll, Al plays a mean harmonica. Just ask him to play "The Wreck of the Old '97."

ELEANORA E. HESCHONG, "El"

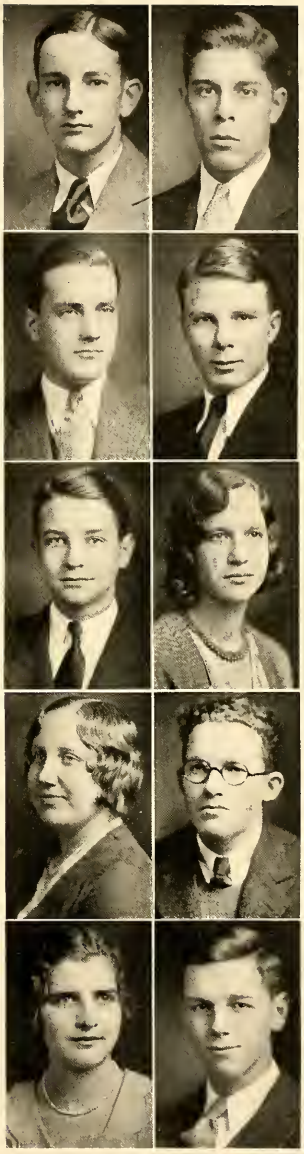
Girls' Glee Club I, II, III, IV; Reviewers; Kalidasa; Lunchroom; Hockey I; Spanish Club; G. A. A.

Eleanora's quiet, friendly character reminds us that "Still water runs deep."

EDWARD HESSEL, "Red"

Football II, III, IV Captain; Home Room President III, IV; Pythagorean.

When toreador Ed flaunts that flaming crop of his on a gridiron, it's just too bad for "bulls."



HELEN HICKS

Law Club.

Helen is very popular because her supply of pep seems inexhaustible.

EDWIN HOLZENKAMP, "Ed"

Football IV.

Even when weighing his words in that slow, serious way of his, Ed generally has a sly grin on his face.

EVELYN HOOD, "Sunny"

French Club; Alpha Y; Pythagorean.

Sunny, her friends call her, but Evelyn refutes the epithet by thoroughly enjoying blood-curdling mystery stories, and historical accounts of bloody battles. A dual personality.

ROBERT HOPPER, "Bob"

Aero Club; Camera Club.

One never hears about Bob from Bob, but his friends will tell you that he is one of Withrow's expert model airplane builders, and that he hopes to be an aviator.

LELIA MAE HOUSTON, "Lee"

Glee Club; Kalidasa; History Club.

Peppy, vivacious Lelia is certainly an exception to the theory that attractive girls can't have brains.

BETTY LOU HUBER, "Betty"

Glee Club; Kalidasa; German Club.

Betty displays her sunny disposition by her giddy giggle.

RODNEY HUBER, "Rod"

Radio Club.

Rod drives a "Henry the Sixteenth" in a wildly haphazard fashion, and possesses the finest supply of antiquated jokes in the radius of ten miles.

HILTON HUMMEL

Spanish Club; Baseball; Swimming.

Though, naturally, Hilton is serious and thoughtful, he is by no means a pessimist. Rather he's a worker who applies himself with unusual diligence.

MARJORIE HUNT, "Marje"

Spanish Club.

Marje is admired for her poise, efficiency and, last, but by no means least, attractiveness.

RUTH IMHOFF

Glee Club; Special Chorus; Hockey III, IV; G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Vergiliani.

Ruth's future career is well assured, for her excellent singing will undoubtedly win her a high place in the world of music.

EFFIE ISPHORDING

Tower News; G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Annual Staff; Reviewers; Camera Club; Swimming I, II.

Of course, Effie is popular, and why not? Personality and attractiveness are two of her outstanding assets.

RICHARD ISPHORDING, "Dick"

Football III, IV.

Being a tall, attractive football man, Dick has won for himself many an admirer and friend.

RUTH JACKSON, "Jack"

Law Club III, IV; Special Chorus III; Bank III, IV; Baseball II, IV; Basketball II; Kalidasa.

Jack's red hair and quick temper are a natural combination for the delightful Irish wit.

CHARLES M. JACOBS, "Jake"

Orchestra I, II, III; Hamiltonian.

You've all no doubt felt the spell of Charlie's fiddle, but the lucky ones are those who have come in contact with that infectious chuckle.

ROBERT H. JAHNKE, "Bob"

Pythagorean Math Club.

Bob's pet hobby is reading accounts for that active and interesting participation in discussion which has made him a favorite with students and faculty.

JAMES JENKINS

Orchestra I, II, III; Aeneadae; Scribes.

We hear very little from James except when he has a violin under his chin; and then it's a pleasure!

GENEVIEVE JENNINGS

Kalidasa; Law Club; G. A. A.; Special Chorus; Hockey I, II, III, IV; Basketball III, IV; Baseball I, II, III, IV.

Genevieve gets a lot of pleasure out of whatever she undertakes. Just to see the sparkle in her eye during a basketball game, is in itself ample proof.

HOMER JENSEN

President, Student Council; Tower News; Annual; Philologia; Thalian; Spanish Club; Debating Team; Clio History Club; Aero Club; Glider Club; Pythagorean.

For authoritative advice on almost any subject, just see Homer, the twice elected, 100% efficient president of Withrow's first Student Council.

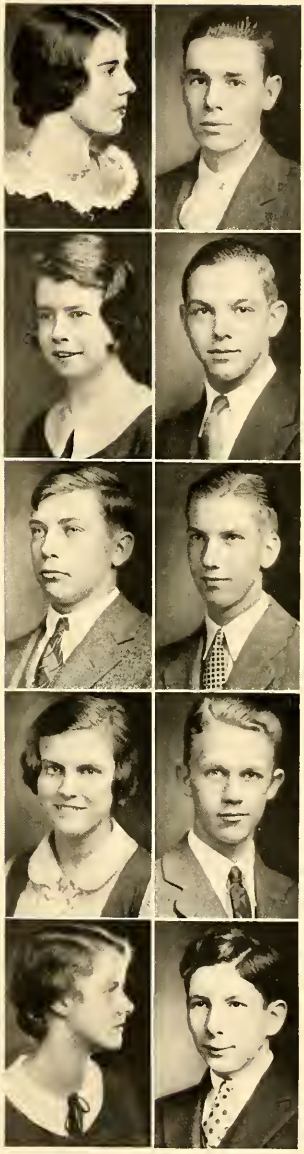
VIRGINIA JOHNSON, "Ginny"

Aeneadea; French Club; Kalidasa; Tower Y; Basketball IV.

Why does Ginny blush when called upon in class? She certainly needn't worry—not with her four-year average of better than ninety.

WILLIAM JOHNSON, "Bill"

Bill follows the Scout motto, "Be Prepared." When he knows a job is coming, he is completely ready when it arrives.



DOROTHY JOHNSTON, "Dottie"

Kalidasa; Spanish Club; Tower News; Astronomy.

An artist of no mean ability is Dottie. Such talent cannot help but find a high place for its possessor.

AGNES M. JONES, "Aggie"

Kalidasa; Spanish Club; Lunchroom.

Agnes is a diligent student who well knows the time and place for work and play.

HILDA JONES

Kalidasa.

Hilda's wistful expression vanishes when she smiles, and she's usually doing that.

HOMER JONES

Philologia; Aero Club; Home Room President I, III; Special Chorus III, IV.

Here's the dean of Withrow's model builders—a real craftsman and a patient teacher.

ROBERT JONES, "Bob"

Philologia.

Bob is the peppy sort, always on the go. He modestly admits that he'd get along fine in school if it weren't for his studies.

CLAUDINE C. KAPS, "Hans"

Orchestra I, II, III, IV; Enterpean; Home Room President II; German Club.

If Claudine makes up her mind to do a thing, it is as good as done. The beautiful way in which she plays her violin is sufficient proof of one of her talents.

ALBERTA L. KAUCHER, "Bert"

Spanish Club; Lunchroom; Law Club III; Camera Club.

Pretty? Look at the picture. Efficient? Watch her fingers fly on that check-maker in the lunchroom.

EARL P. KAUFMANN

Football III, IV; Pythagorean; Hi-Y; Withrow Club; Philologia; Track III, IV.

A remarkable steadfastness toward his goal made Earl a success in classes and on the athletic field.

CARL KENNEDY

Tower News; Spanish Club; Aeneadae; Camera Club; Euterpean; Boys' Glee Club; Orchestra I, III.

Talent and temperament insure Carl's dream of conducting an orchestra on the "Gay White Way."

BURTON KINNEY, "Bert"

School Bank.

Bert's outstanding trait, his dependability, earned him an important position on the bank staff.

RUTH KIRGAN

Spanish Club; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Camera Club; Enterpean; Glee Club.

Ruth is that girl who plays jazz like a professional.

BETTY KLEPPER, "Scleps"

Kalidasa; Glee Club; Camera Club; Enterpean; Special Chorus; G. A. A.; Tower Y.

Betty certainly has made a success of her Withrow days, if a host of friends counts for anything.

JOSEPH KOCH

Vice President, Scribes; Baseball IV.

Joe is an unusual type of bookworm, one that is all hustle and bustle —for he's the busy warden of our bookroom.

JANET KOOLAGE, "Jan"

Thalian; Dance Club; Lunch Club; Vergiliani; Scribblers; Kalidasa: G. A. A.

Janet is tall, stately, and dignified, with a friendly manner that endears her to her friends.

FRED G. KRATZER, "Fritz"

Law Club; Scribes.

Fred declares that he's going to enter the world of business, but his talents indicate that he might also enter the field of literature with success.

GERTRUDE KREETZ

German Club; Kalidasa.

Gertrude uses her ability at designing and her skill with the needle to turn out for herself lovely frocks that are the envy of many of us.

FRANK KRENTZ

Philologia; Track I, II, III, IV; Swimming II, III, IV; Withrow Club; Hi-Y; Tennis Club; Spanish Club; Euclidean.

Not everyone knows that husky Frank is a real, authorized life saver; but everyone knows what a "life saver" he's been to several of our athletics.

ELIZABETH KROHME, "Betty"

Vergiliani; Tower Y; Nathan Hale French Club; Special Chorus; Kalidasa.

Betty's cheerful smile and witty sayings have made her popular with those who know her.

ROBERT M. KUCK, "Bob"

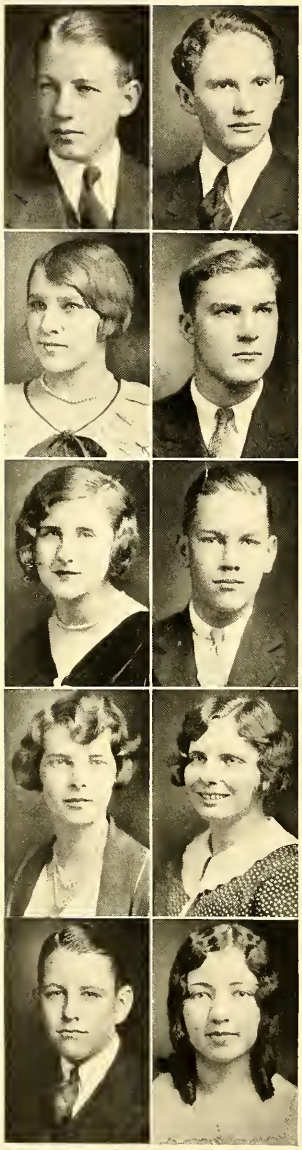
Washingtonian; Special Chorus; Boys' Glee Club; Euclidean; Hi-Y; Withrow Club; Philologia; Tennis.

Bob is a "hail-fellow-well-met," with real ability.

MARGARET LACY, "Marge"

Law Club; Nathan Hale; Kalidasa.

Margaret is a girl whom no one could help but admire. Her friendly ways have a charm for all who know her.



ROBERT LANCE, "Bob"

Special Chorus; Boys' Glee Club; Tumbling I, II, III, IV; Hamiltonian; Stargazers.

Bob is not only one of the most agile, but also one of the most interested and modest of our tumblers.

SAM LANE, "Sammy"

Bank I, II, IV; Orchestra I, II; Special Chorus III, IV; Euclidean; Spanish Club.

We're sure that for anyone as much in demand as Sammy and his trumpet, the future will be bright in the field of popular music.

ALMA LARKIN, "Al"

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Tartaglian.

Even Alma, nice as she is, occupies a place behind the bars—selling car tickets.

CHARLES LAUB, "Charlie"

Swimming II, III, IV; Tartaglian Math; Baseball III, IV.

Whether in the tank or on the field, Charlie's there with the goods. Especially as a swimmer and later as assistant coach, his services were invaluable to that team.

CHARLOTTE LEMMON, "Dolly"

Kalidasa; Nathan Hale; G. A. A.; Hockey I, II; Basketball I; Baseball I; Chorean; Spanish Club III.

Dolly has been a talented member of the Dance Club, and possesses unlimited musical ability. We won't be surprised some day to see her name in bright lights.

CHARLES E. LEX, "Charlie"

Withrow Scribes; Euclidean.

Charlie is quiet and studious. One could want no finer companion.

ELSIE LIGGETT, "Diz"

President, Aeneadae; Tower News III, IV; Annual; Kalidasa; Scribblers; Astronomy Club.

Diz is that popular young lady whose clear thinking moved an otherwise dignified teacher to exclaim, "Well, you know your stuff!"

STELLA MAY LINDEMANN, "Stell"

Kalidasa; French Club; Tower Y; Camera Club; G. A. A.; Special Chorus.

Plump and jolly, that's Stella May. When she isn't giggling, she'll try to convince you that she's studying to be a chemist.

FRANK LINZ

Camera Club; Radio Club; Special Chorus; Tower News.

This classmate of ours is a convincing proof that mental ability has no relation to stature.

HENRIETTA LOGAN, "Billy"

Billy is as industrious as she is attractive. As a teacher she will be the idol of her pupils.

CHARLES LOHMILLER, "Charlie"

Withrow Club; Philologia; Tower News; Annual.

With his well-planned advertising, tall, serious, conscientious Charlie has contributed much to the success of both Tower News and Annual.

DORISE B. LOHRER, "Dee Dee"

Thalian; French Club II; Camera Club II; Euterpean.

Writing is Dorise's hobby and we're sure that fortune will smile upon her career as a poet.

VIRGINIA LOWTHER, "Jinny"

Special Chorus I, III; Girls' Glee Club I, III, IV; Reviewers; Ad Club III; Law Club III, IV; G. A. A. II; Bank.

Virginia is that generous girl who will always give you a piece of her candy if you will only stop and listen to her latest funny story.

ROBERT LUDLUM, "Bob"

Radio.

Though thoroughly practical, Bob's activities center around such airy matters as aeronautics and radio.

DONALD LYNCH, "Don"

Swimming I, II, IV; Philologia; Hi-Y; Tumbling II; Nathan Hale History Club; Annual; French Club; Withrow Club.

Don's dependability made him one of the standbys of the swimming team and a valuable member of other organizations.

JEAN MAGOTEAUX

Euterpean; Senior Orchestra I, II, III, IV; G. A. A.; Nathan Hale History Club.

Jean took the music course and certainly does it credit. We will hear from her some day.

RUTH ALICE MAIER, "Al"

Girls' Glee Club; Kalidasa; Spanish Club.

Ruth plays the piano with a distinctly professional touch. May that touch make her a professional.

JEAN MASON

Kalidasa; Law Club; Nathan Hale History Club; Spanish Club.

Satisfied with life is Jean, and we are certainly satisfied with her.

HELEN MAUNTEL

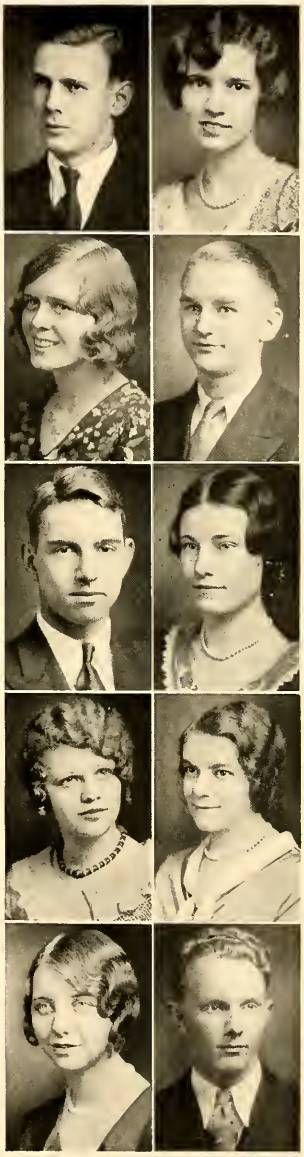
Special Chorus; Tartagalian; Vergiliani; Kalidasa; Lunchroom.

"Work before play," is Helen's motto. Having done her work well, Helen can thoroughly enjoy a good time.

HARRY MAY, "Red"

Nathan Hale History Club; Law Club.

Harry has been so busy doing some of the best work in the commercial department that very few of us were lucky enough to make his acquaintance.



MARTHA MAYCOX, "Motz"

Law Club; Bank.

Martha, in her nonchalant way, always gets by. One of her highest ambitions is to cremate all people who still say "Oh Yeah?"

CLARA McCALEB

Clara intends to teach public school music, a different and interesting vocation, in which we wish her much success.

SELINA McCARTHY, "Babe"

Kalidasa; Tower Y; G. A. A.; Camera Club; Tower News; Enterpean.

Blue-eyed Selina has a persuasive voice with which she usually manages to convince her listeners.

HAZEL McCLURE

Kalidasa; Law Club; G. A. A.; Special Chorus.

One cannot possibly keep from liking such a gay-hearted, friendly girl. Withrow counts her among its best students.

CHARLES McCREARY, "Bill"

Hi-Y.

Bill is, in our opinion, a living example of "What the well-dressed man should wear."

JESS McCREIGHT, "Mac"

Math Club; Withrow Club.

Camping is his hobby; perseverance, his business; and geniality, his talent.

WILLARD McCRONE

Euclidean; Reviewers; Hi-Y; Camera Club; Tumblers I, II.

Willard has that quality of persistence which forces him to complete anything he undertakes. Perhaps it's his Scotch descent.

AGNES McDANIEL, "Aggie"

French Club; History Club; Kalidasa.

A pleasing combination of dignity and daintiness makes Agnes a charming individual.

DANIEL McDANIEL, "Dan," "Mac"

Withrow Club; Philologia; Reviewers; Radio; Tartaglian.

Here's the model student; Dan takes his work seriously, not too seriously. He seldom hurries, yet never lags. He's rather reserved, but popular with everyone.

ANN K. McELFRESH, "Mac"

Scribblers; Vergiliani; French Club; Tower News; Annual; Girls' Glee Club I, II; Special Chorus III, IV.

How Ann can take part in so many activities, maintain exceptionally high scholarship, continue to be the best pianist in school, and yet never be in a hurry, keeps us guessing.

VIRGINIA MECKSTROTH, "Gin"

Special Chorus; French Club; Kalidasa; Euterpean; Camera Club.

Gin is always carrying an exciting novel under her arm. Perhaps it's her romantic nature rising to the top.

CRESSIE MEINHART

Camera; Tennis; Special Chorus; Kalidasa; Tower Y.

Cressie is more honest than many of us in declaring that school is often a bore for her.

HELEN MERGLER, "Hollie"

Kalidasa; Tower Y; G. A. A.; Spanish.

Helen is particularly fond of out-door sports, tennis being one of her favorite diversions.

JEANETTE MERK, "Jean"

Thalian; Euterpean; Debating Team; Vergiliani; Kalidasa; French Club; G. A. A.; Dance Club.

Whether Jean will take to the concert or the theatrical stage is still in doubt, but we know that she'll be a true artist upon either.

CATHERINE LOUISE MESSER, "Kay"

Kalidasa; Home Room President II; G. A. A.; Reviewers; Euterpean; Tower Y.

Catherine is the pretty girl we admire—industrious, cheerful, and true to the ideals of Withrow.

CLARA MILLER, "Chappy"

French Club.

Clara wishes to teach commercial subjects. We know she will be successful in this field.

DOROTHY MILLER, "Dot"

Camera; G. A. A.; Lunchroom; Spanish Club; Euclidean; Tower Y; Kalidasa.

Cheery Dot, with her infectious grin, is a valued member of the lunchroom staff.

MOLLIE MILLER, "Fritz"

Mollie is a careful and industrious person, at whose door opportunity is sure to knock.

ROWENA MILLER, "Rowinaboat"

Law Club; G. A. A.; Lunchroom; Reviewers; Hockey II, III; Basketball II, III; Baseball II, III.

Although Rowena says she doesn't like her work, her list of activities doesn't seem to support that statement.

JANE MILLIGAN, "Janie"

Tower Y; Kalidasa; Scribblers; Lunchroom.

Happiness and good nature seem to bubble all over Janie.

DOROTHY MIZNER, "Dotty"

Law Club; Washington History Club.

"Cream always comes to the top." Dotty always does her very best in anything.

VIRGINIA MOELLER, "Jinny"

Kalidasa; Aeneadae; Hamiltonian; Camera Club; French Club; Tower Y.

Jinny is a girl of varied interests and can quite easily add spice to any conversation of which she may be a part.

JOHN MONTGOMERY, "Jack"

Withrow Club; Tower News; Spanish Club; Tennis Club; Special Chorus.

Jack's a lad who is successful in most of his undertakings, except when he tries to be serious. He will form a duet with any one capable of carrying a tune.

HAROLD MOONITZ

Nathan Hale History Club; German Club; Euclidean.

Frisky, absolutely! Light-hearted Harold simply doesn't know the meaning of gloom.

MARJORIE MOORE, "Marge"

Orchestra I, II, III; French Club; Hamiltonian; G. A. A.; Kalidasa.

Marjorie is the girl of brilliant colors who lent four years of sunny Spain to Withrow.

ALICE MOSER, "Al"

Baseball II, IV; Basketball III; Swimming I, II, III, IV; Jr. and Sr. Life Saving; G. A. A.; Tower Y.

Al has made herself a "high-light" in the field of athletics at Withrow. May she be just as successful in the broader field of life.

JAMES MOSSMAN, "Jim"

Track III; Tennis II; Washingtonian; Withrow Club; Home Room President I; Law Club.

Quiet mannerisms cause Jimmy to keep covered his many talents, the best of which are tennis and track.

ANSLEY MUELLER, "Ans"

Football III, IV; Pythagorean; Aeneadae; Track III.

Ansley's a keen thinker, a powerful athlete, and as jolly a fellow as ever made the team.

MARY MARGARET MUELLER, "Red"

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Home Room President II.

A friendly slap on the back, a cheery greeting, and Red makes her fond farewell like a streak of lightning.

WILLARD MULFORD, "Will"

Withrow Club; Thalian; Philologia; Special Chorus; Nathan Hale; Pythagorean; Debating Team; Tower News; Annual.

Efficient methods and clear reasoning have made Willard a formidable debater and an excellent student.

JAMES MURPHY, "Jim"

Withrow Club; Camera Club; Tartaglian; Vergiliani; Special Chorus; Boys' Glee Club; French Club.

His friends have agreed that Jim works altogether too hard for his safety; but a timely sense of humor adds spice to this worthy trait.

JOHN MURPHY, "Murph"

Law Club; Basketball I.

Murph is known for tapping a tantalizing drum and in other ways contributing to what makes a dance orchestra a success.

GLADYS MUSE, "Glad"

Law Club; Lunchroom.

Gladys is so good natured that we are apt to impose upon her. As a member of the Lunchroom Staff she has proved very efficient.

RICHARD MYERS, "Dick"

Tennis III, IV; Basketball IV; Law Club.

Whether the courts be those of clay or hardwood, Dick is always the same—fast, accurate, and sportsmanlike.

DANIEL NANKOVITCH, "Dan"

Annual Business Manager; President, Tartaglian; Reviewers; Orchestra, Concert Master; Special Chorus I, II, III, IV; Boys' Glee Club I.

Music or mathematics—it's all the same to talented, enthusiastic, versatile Dan.

SVETOZAR NANKOVITCH

Special Chorus I, II, III, IV; Boys' Glee Club I, II; Tartaglian; Hamiltonian; Football III, IV.

Only a plucky, cheerful, diligent fellow like Svet could ever have overcome that disheartening football injury and graduated with his class. We're proud of him!

BERTHA NEMIROFF, "Bert"

Law Club; Kalidasa; Bank Staff.

A class of which Bertha is a member is never dull, for her amusing remarks are always appreciated.

MARY NICHOLS

Scribblers; French Club; Home Room President III; Kalidasa; G. A. A.

If we all were as good students as Mary, there would be fewer gray heads among the faculty.

JANE NICKUM, "Nicky"

French Club; Washingtonian.

Jane is a serious, conscientious worker, but her friends all say that she's always ready for a jolly time.

KARL NIEHOFF, "Nick"

Football I, III, IV; Track III, IV.

Karl's obvious ability to "hold that line" has caused the bulk of his immense popularity.

RUTH EVELYN OBERKLEIN, "Rudy"

Kalidasa; Pythagorean; Clio; Basketball; Cooking Club; G. A. A.

Rudy is quite interested in domestic affairs, which simply means that some young man will be mighty lucky some day.

MARY O'CONNOR, "Red"

G. A. A.; Tower Y; Tower News; Kalidasa; Swimming II, III, IV; Hockey I, II, III, IV; Basketball I, II, III, IV; Hiking; Mileage Swim I; Senior Life Saving; Baseball I, II, III, IV; Track.

Second only to Mary's Irish wit is her fine playing on all the teams during her four years at Withrow.

WARREN R. ODER

Radio Club; Camera Club; Spanish Club.

Warren has that inventive bent which prompts him to experiment in radio and chemistry. This hobby will undoubtedly bear valuable fruit in years to come.

CAROLYN PANDORF, "Pandofy"

Tower Y; G. A. A.: Civic and Vocational League; Special Chorus.

Everyone likes Carolyn for her frankness and the way she sticks up for her friends.

JOY PAPE

G. A. A.; Camera Club; Thalian; Kalidasa.

The entire school is witness to Joy's excellent dramatic ability, displayed in numerous productions of the Thalians.

WILLIAM T. PARKER

Tennis Club; Track.

We wonder how many times Bill has been mistaken for the latest matinee idol.

LAURENCE PATHE, "Path"

Orchestra I, II; Band III, IV; Radio Club II, III; Clio.

Laurence is famous for his antics on the piccolo, but at home he studies the flute and dabbles in electro-chemistry.

HOWARD PAUL, "Hotz"

Annual; Withrow Club; Hi-Y; French Club; Nathan Hale History Club; Special Chorus.

Hotz is one of our live wires. There is little he hasn't successfully tackled in his four years.

M. LUCILLE PAYNE, "Paynie"

Girls' Glee Club; Kalidasa; Camera Club; Tower News; Hamiltonian; G. A. A.

Lucille possesses business ability, a sense of duty, and a clear head—all necessary for a successful career.

STANLEY PEAL, "Stan"

President, Withrow Club; Philologia; Student Council; Thalian; Tower News; Debating Team; Lunchroom; Special Chorus I; Boys' Glee Club I; Home Room President IV; Track I, II; Nathan Hale.

Versatility is Stan's prime characteristic. Whether acting, presiding, debating, or writing, Stan adequately and cheerfully fills the bill.

ROSELLA LOUISE PFINGSTAG

Tower News.

Rosella's mind works as quickly in her studies as her fingers do on a typewriter.

MITZI PIATES, "Mim"

Kalidasa; French III, IV.

Little, quiet, unassuming is "Modish Mitzi." We are sure that success will smile cheerfully upon her.

MARY PIKET

Kalidasa; Camera Club; Tower Y; Washingtonian; Special Chorus.

Mary's most outstanding peculiarity is getting stage fright when she wants to ask questions of older girls whom she adores.

ROBERT PIPER, "Bob"

Camera Club.

Here's the true idealist! His friends are well acquainted with Bob's amiable habit of wondering what would happen "if this weren't so."

HELEN RUTH POLLARD

Home Room President I, IV; Special Chorus II, III, IV; Scribblers III, IV; Thalian; Law Club; President, Kalidasa; President, Reviewers, Student Council; Annual; Spanish Club.

We feel assured that no compliment or flattery would quite tell what we think of Helen. She is the indescribably fine sort of friend we so admire.

MARY GRACE POLLITT, "Mima"

Camera Club; French Club; Aeneadae; Nathan Hale; G. A. A.; Kalidasa.

Being around Mary, one feels quite satisfied that life is not just one big joke, but something much finer.

CAROL MARGARET PORTER, "Podie"

Spanish Club; G. A. A.

Carol wastes neither time nor energy. She accomplishes things in half the time it takes most of us.

JAMES K. POWNALL

Glee Club I, II; Special Chorus I; Withrow Club; Aero Club; Alphian; Nathan Hale; Tennis Club.

Jim's interests range from music and dramatics to aeronautics and athletics. He's the unusual jack of all trades who bids fair to become a master of several.

ROBERT PRESTON, "Bob"

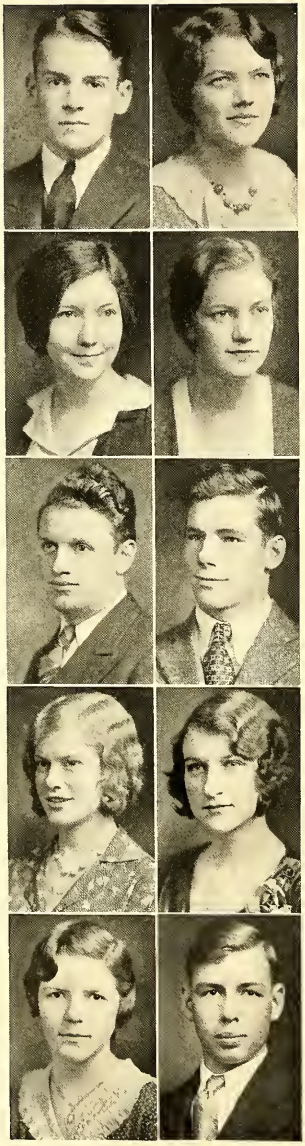
Hamiltonian; Withrow.

Modest, reticent, and serious describes this hard-working though amiable classmate of ours.

JOHN P. PUTMAN, "Jack," "Johnny"

School Bank; Law Club.

No! We couldn't exactly say that "Johnny" was one of the "watch dogs of the treasury," but he certainly has a lot to do with that important organization, the School Bank.



JOHN RATTERMAN, "Jack"

Tennis Club II, III, IV.

As a mainstay of our tennis team, Jack has "netted" Withrow many a victory.

EULA LEE RAY, "Lee"

Tower Y; Kalidasa; Vergiliani.

From Dixie land comes Eula Lee, exemplifying the charm of the old South.

HELEN REEVES, "Dickie"

Kalidasa; Spanish Club.

Helen confesses a preference for Spanish stories, and an ambition to travel some day to Spanish-speaking countries.

MARY REEVES

Taking her work seriously, but having a good time nevertheless, Mary is always a loyal friend.

FRANK REIS, "Hank"

Football I, III, IV; Baseball III, IV.

Anyone who has seen Frank hit that line on the gridiron knows that he's the kind to give all he has to accomplish his purpose.

RODNEY RICE, "Rod"

Football IV; Baseball IV; Reviewers.

Rod is an athlete plus. He was one of the mainstays of the fighting Tiger backfield this season.

LAURA LOU RICHARDS

Vergiliani; Tower Y; Euterpean; Special Chorus; G. A. A.; Tower News; Home Making Club.

Laura Lou is capable as well as conscientious. We are confident that she will become an excellent teacher.

RUTH ANN RICHT

Thalian; Special Chorus; Girls' Glee Club II, III; Washingtonian; Tower News.

As the charming heroine of the 1931 Thalian production, Ruth Ann will be admired and remembered by almost all Withrow.

ELOISE RILEY, "Wheezie"

G. A. A.; Camera Club; Euterpean; Kalidasa; Tower Y; Spanish Club.

Wheezie is mostly made up of giggles. Being one of the "A special" girls, she should make an excellent wife for some lucky individual.

CAREY RODOCKER

Tartaglian.

Carey knows his electricity from A-tom to Z-inc. It started as a hobby, but he says it will probably end as his business.

BEATRICE ROGERS, "Bea"

G. A. A.; Law Club; Basketball, I, II; Baseball I; Kalidasa; Reviewers.

Bea is certainly deserving of her nickname, for she is always as busy as a bee. Her business ability has been shown by her excellent work in the office.

HELEN A. ROTH

Euterpean; Kalidasa; Law Club; Camera Club.

Helen is one of the bright lights when it comes to giving plausible suggestions. Any committee of which she is a member is sure to be successful.

FERN ROUSH

French Club; Kalidasa; G. A. A.

To look at Fern one would think, "What a nice, quiet, good-looking girl she is." Fooled again. She is nice and good-looking, but far from being quiet, unless it is proper to be so at the time.

JANE RUDOLF

G. A. A.; Kalidasa; Pythagorean; Aeneadae.

Her charming southern manner and drawl have marked Jane for distinction.

HELEN RUHL, "Sunshine"

Girls' Glee Club; Spanish Club; Kalidasa; American History Club.

Glee Club is losing an excellent member. Helen's musical ability is sure to win her success.

LEONA ST. CLAIR

Camera Club; Kalidasa; Law Club.

Leona has brains as well as beauty, and is well prepared for any problem which may arise.

FRANK SCHILLING, "Duke"

Swimming I; Track I; Football III, IV; Boxing.

Frank's natural ability has made him one of the real athletes of our class for four years.

CHARLETT SCHOTT, "Shotty"

G. A. A.; Glee Club; Special Chorus.

Charlett's dark hair and eyes win our admiration. That combination denotes pep and loyalty, both of which Charlett has.

ROBERT SCHROEDER, "Bob"

Spanish Club.

If by craning your neck upward you chanced to see someone walking down the hall in seven league boots, it could only have been Bob.

MARIE A. SCHUBERT, "Dixie," "Rie"

Glee Club; Special Chorus; Select Chorus; Kalidasa.

There is a simplicity about Marie which is truly pleasing to all with whom she comes in contact.

MARGARETE SCHULZ

Spanish Club.

A demure little miss who captivates the hearts of everyone she meets is Margarete. Her charming smile will long linger in our memories.

GEORGE SCHWEMLEIN

Hamiltonian; Radio Club; Withrow Club.

George guarantees he will have removed 90% of the tonsils from the class of '31 within the next ten years.

MARIO SETA, "Mike"

Football; Reviewers; Aero Club III.

His position on the Honor Roll and his work as acting president of the Reviewers show us that Mike's ability is not limited to the athletic.

IRMA SEYFFERLE

Tower Y; Camera Club; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; German Club.

As president of Tower Y, Irma embodies all the ideals and mottoes of the Girl Reserves.

CRYSTAL RUTH SHOOK, "Kris"

Kalidasa; Euterpean I, II, III, IV; Camera Club III, IV: Tower Y; G. A. A.

If Kris really is going to do her intended religious work, we're all going to turn heathen so she'll have to reform us.

MARY SHOOK, "Dix"

Camera Club.

Mary is rather quiet and calm, but "Still water runs deep."

BRUCE S. SHUEY

Glee Club I, III, IV; Orchestra I, II; Bank I, II, III, IV: Special Chorus I, IV; Euclidean; Clio; Lunchroom Staff; Annual.

Besides being a fine musician, Bruce's participation in many activities has made him the valued acquaintance of most of his classmates.

CLASON SHUMARD, "General"

Boys' Glee Club; Special Chorus: German Club; Cheerleader III, IV; Baseball III, IV.

We'll all remember Clason as that lusty cheerleader who could always get results when our cheering seemed to lag. So now it's, "Yea for Clason!"

LAURETTA MARIE SILVER, "Etta"

Hockey IV; Basketball III, IV; Baseball II, III, IV: G. A. A.: Law Club: Tower Y; Hamiltonian; Kalidasa: Special Chorus.

Whenever athletic material is needed, Lauretta is right there to lend her splendid support.

RICHARD SIMMONDS, "Dick"

Thalian; Boys' Glee Club; Special Chorus; Boys' Select Quartet: Nathan Hale Club.

A mellow tenor voice and rare talent as an actor certainly destine Dick to a glorious career on the operatic stage.

BETTY SLIMP

Scribblers; Special Chorus I, II, III, IV; Editor of Tower News; Aeneadae; Glee Club I, II; Tennis Club; Euclidean.

Though Tower News alone keeps its whole staff busy, Betty finds time to write lovely poetry, keep up her musical work, and maintain her excellent scholarship.

FANNIE SMALUVITZ, "Ophelia"

Law; Kalidasa.

Fannie's nickname is rather far-fetched. One cannot imagine her meekly submitting against her will.

EMILY SMART, "Em"

Tower Y; Kalidasa; Spanish; Hamiltonian.

Emily is one who loves to ride fiery steeds, ice-skate, and attend as many basketball games as possible.

CHARLES SMITH

Orchestra I, II, III, IV; Band II, III, IV.

The above numerals after his activities silently proclaim Smitty's talent and loyalty.

FRANCES E. SMITH, "Fran"

French Club; Kalidasa; Tennis Club.

Together with her love of outdoor sports like tennis and swimming, Fran couples an ardent love for books and an amazingly attractive smile.

KATHRYN SNOWDEN, "Kate"

French; Kalidasa; G. A. A.

Care-free Kate has made four years of high school just one long happy fox-trot.

ROBERT SOHNGEN, "Bob"

Thalian; Philologia; Boys' Literary Club; Annual; Tower News; Aeneadae; Nathan Hale.

As artist, cynic, and radical, Bob has been a powerful intellectual force in our class of '31.

LOURETTA SOLT, "Rae"

Kalidasa; Special Chorus.

"As the bright sun glorifies the sky, so is her face illumined by her eye."

KATHERINE SPADA

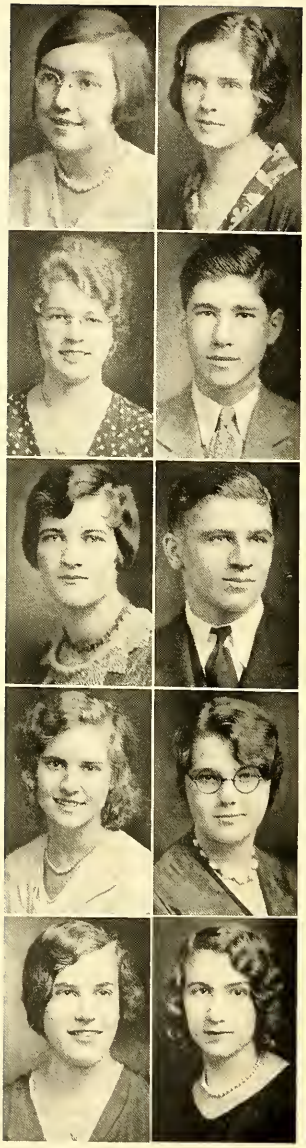
Spanish Club; Kalidasa.

Katherine has an eye cocked for the future; she wants to be a commercial artist and dab in gay colors.

LILLIAN E. SPEAR, "Bill"

Los Amigos; Kalidasa.

Perhaps you don't know that we have a Porto Rican in our midst. Lillian was born there and, according to her, there is no place like Porto Rico.



MYRTLE SPRONG, "Myrt"

Law Club; Kalidasa; G. A. A.

Dependability! That's Myrtle to a "T." To do a thing and do it well is quite an accomplishment for any of us.

THELMA G. STANFORTH

Kalidasa; Lunchroom.

Quiet, dark-eyed Thelma does exceptionally well in gym work. Just watch her throw those balls—the gym isn't long enough for them.

DORIS LOUISE STANSBURY, "Woozie"

Special Chorus.

Most of Doris's time is spent in doing things for others, which she does with a charming smile, indicating that it is truly a pleasure for her.

HANLEY STAPLEFORD, "Han"

Tennis Club; Tennis IV; Math Club; Camera Club.

Hanley's big "racket" is tennis; but we also know that his peppy "service" scores him many a point in the game of life.

MERLE STEGEMEYER

Merle has an unusually high ambition. In fact, she will have to attain heights stupendous—to be an aviatrix!

PAUL STEUER

Spanish Club; Withrow Club.

Paul is such a modest fellow that few people know what a real artist he is.

EDITH C. STEUWER, "Dee"

Spanish Club; Camera Club; Kalidasa.

Blue-eyed flaxen haired Edith, with her varied interests and argumentative nature, is a pleasing addition to any crowd.

MARGARET STIFEL, "Marg"

Euclidean; French; Glee Club; Special Chorus; G. A. A.

Margaret is a Math shark, and wants to teach the exact science after she graduates from college.

FRANCES STONER, "Fran"

Tower News; Kalidasa; French Club; Chorean.

The world needs happy people, so we say there should be more like peppy Frances.

KATHRYN STROTHMAN, "Kate," "Skeez"

Tower Y; Spanish Club; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Baseball I, II, III, IV; Hockey III, IV; Basketball II, III, IV; Swimming I.

Quick-witted Katy is an all-round girl, an apt student, and a skillful athlete.

PAUL STUBBS, "Cap," "Stubby"

Thalian; Withrow Club; Hi-Y; Aeneadae; Pythagorean; Hamiltonian; Special Chorus; Boys' Glee Club; Special Quartet; Cheerleader II, III, IV; Tennis Club.

A cheerleader with abounding pep and a singer "par excellence," Paul is one of the best known and best liked boys of our class.

HENRY SURGENER

Special Chorus I, II, III, IV; Tartaglian; Clio.

Henry's characteristics are quite evident from the orderliness in which he has kept all the apparatus in Physics Lab.

MAE TAYLOR, "Shorty"

Kalidasa; French Club.

Mae says, "Give me a box of candy and a ripping good detective story, and I'll make myself scarce for the afternoon."

MARGARET B. TAYLOR, "Marg"

Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Law Club; Basketball I, II; Basehall I, II.

When we think of Margaret, we picture a merry girl with a winning smile and laughing eyes. Margaret goes about her duties in an effective manner.

MARY ELIZABETH TERRILL, "Betty"

Kalidasa; Los Amigos; Tower Y; Special Chorus; Camera Club.

Betty's cheery smile and continual giggle hail her as a jolly addition to any crowd.

PAUL TIEDTKE

German Club.

Paul always seems able to furnish the necessary remark for any occasion. He is also quite skilled at pronouncing German.

LOIS TISCHBEIN, "Lo"

G. A. A.; Tower Y; French Club; Euterpean; Kalidasa; Camera Club.

Lois's assertion that she likes nothing but sleep is rather disproved by her bright-eyed alertness.

LORETTA F. TSCHUDI, "Teddy"

Euterpean I, III, IV; French Club; Senior Orchestra III, IV.

Loretta is known not only as one of our best piano accompanists, but also as one of our sauciest.

JOHN TYNER, "Jack"

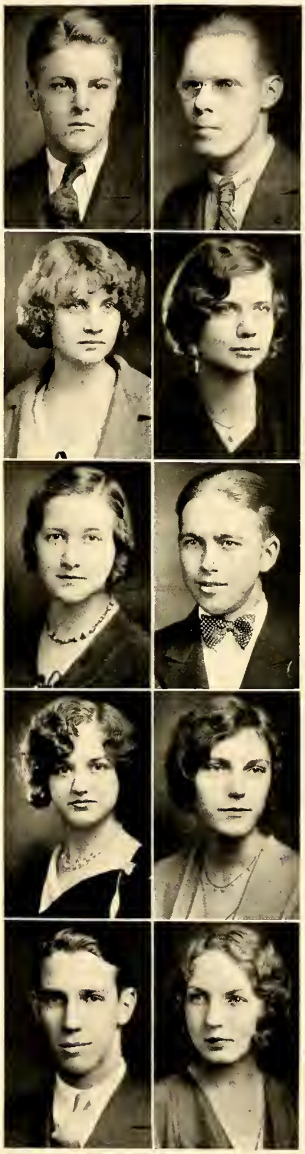
Basketball IV.

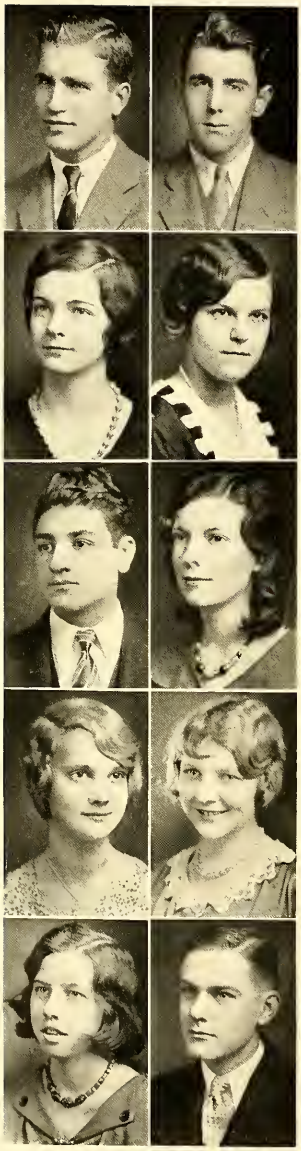
We'll all remember Jack for his jolly humor, his sophistication, and his snappy roadster.

FRANCES TUCKER, "Frankie"

G. A. A.; French Club; Kalidasa.

Frankie's nimble toes and blond curls bid fair to make her a tremendous success on the stage.





BRUCE ULMER

Hamiltonian; Spanish; Euclidean.

Here is a good business man with a flair for growing beautiful chrysanthemums in his garden in Mt. Washington.

ORVILLE VALENTINE

Glider Club.

Not only is Orville one of our aspiring "birdmen," but he's particularly interested in mechanical drawing. We don't wonder that he's won Hobby Fair Prizes.

ALTHEA VAUGHN, "Snookie"

Althea's quiet dignity and friendly smile surely will prove of immense assistance in her career as a doctor.

ANITA VAUGHN

Anita is quiet and reserved, and is extremely fond of tennis and swimming.

FRANK VERNA

Frank is not spectacular, but his steadiness is a balance for others.

HELEN VOELPEL

Kalidasa; Special Chorus; Glee Club; G. A. A.; Law Club.

Helen always seems happy and carefree, but when there is work to be done she's the first to do it.

DOROTHY VOLLRATH, "Dot," "Dottie"

Spanish; Law; Kalidasa; Annual; Hamiltonian.

Although Dot's Dad would like her to be a Spanish stenographer, she says her ambition is to be an interior decorator.

LOIS VON DAHM, "Loie"

Tower Y; G. A. A.; Camera Club; Kalidasa; French Club.

Lois is always ready for any sort of a frolic, but is always on the job when the program calls for work.

ROSEMARY VORDENBERG, "Rosie"

Camera Club; Kalidasa; French Club.

If Rosemary's even disposition ever got a bump in it, we should clap it into a museum as a curiosity, for her calm, serene nature is never disturbed.

WESLEY VORDENBERG, "Wes"

Tennis I; Camera Club II, III; Boys' Glee Club; Special Chorus III, IV; Tower News; Aeneadae; Clio; French Club.

Wes is that breezy young chap whom we generally associate with an armful of books and a broad grin for everyone.

EDITH WACHENDORF

Law Club; Kalidasa; Nathan Hale.

Edith can make a joke and take one, too. She has loads of wit and some to spare.

GEORGE WADE

What the well-dressed high school man will wear—see George. He nurses a secret ambition to wear banana-yellow spats and pale purple ties.

DELLA WADLINGTON

French Club.

Della is a conscientious and diligent student, and is sure to find success in all she attempts.

HARRIET WAINWRIGHT

French Club.

If hard work and perseverance have anything at all to do with success, Harriet will have the world at her feet before very long.

CHARLES WALKER, "Charlie"

French Club; Scribes; Tartaglian.

In the short time that Charlie has spent with us he has attracted the attention of the feminine, and the friendship of the masculine half of our class.

SARAH WALKER, "Sally"

Aeneadae; Lunch Room.

A charming smile, live ambition, and certain dependability make Sally one of Withrow's indispensables.

WILBA WALTON, "Lita"

Kalidasa; Girls' Glee Club; French Club.

With her arrival from the South just this year, Wilba brought a most gracious smile and delightful Southern drawl.

LILLIAN WARNEKE, "Lill"

Glee Club; Special Chorus; Law Club; Kalidasa; Girls' Select Chorus; G. A. A.; Bank Staff.

Lillian is always ready to enter into either work or play with an equal amount of pep, and she seems to get nearly as much pleasure out of one as the other.

CHARLES WARNER, "Charley"

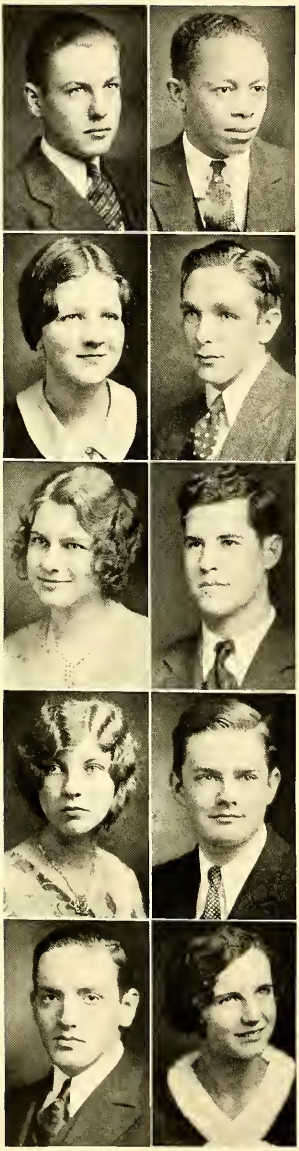
Philologia; Baseball IV.

By no means rose-petal Charley, and yet this well-groomed, good-humored young gentleman isn't known as a woman-hater.

WILLIAM WATKINS, "Bill"

Withrow Club; Philologia; Hi-Y; Euclidean Math Club; Junior Track II, Senior Track IV; Cross-country IV; Tumbling III.

Bill has a habit of doing many things well. In addition to his high scholastic standing, he is a good athlete.



CLARENCE WATSON

Debating Team; President, Nathan Hale; Thalian; Philologia; French Club; Pythagorean.

Clarence's cheerful grin and forensic ability have gained him many friends.

CHESTER WATTS, "Pete"

Astronomy Club; Nathan Hale.

That ear-to-ear grin of Chester's hasn't interfered with his efficiency, and we're sure it will be a valuable asset to him in college.

GERALDINE WEAVER, "Jerry"

Euterpean; French Club; Nathan Hale; Kalidasa; Orchestra; Tower News; Annual.

Happy, dependable Jerry! Success will assuredly greet her every effort in the artistic field.

THOMAS WEBB, "Tom"

Tom believes in taking things slow and easy—a habit which has helped to cultivate that amiable smile of his.

VIRGINIA M. WEBSTER, "Jinny"

Editor, Annual; Tower News III; Scribblers; Student Council; Aeneadae; President, Home Room II, IV; Girls' Glee Club I, II; Special Chorus I, II, III, IV; Lunchroom; Pythagorean III.

How Jinny manages to be so busy with school activities and at the same time maintain such an exceptional scholarship record keeps everyone guessing. She just grins her way through things.

GORDON J. WEDIG, "Curly"

Happy-go-lucky and cheerful, Gordon maintains a likeable and an unshakable equilibrium.

BERNICE WEIGEL, "Bernie"

Girls' Glee Club; Nathan Hale.

When you first meet Bernice she seems rather quiet, but when you get onto her ways you would hate to miss knowing her.

WILLIAM WEHRMEYER, "Bill"

Track III, IV; Boys' Glee Club; Radio Club; Clio; Euclidean.

Bill's an unassuming fellow, but his varied activities speak well for his ability.

SELDON WEINSTEIN

Tartaglian.

Seldon is always ready to enliven the conversation with a well-placed joke.

ELEANOR WEISS

Thalian; Chorean; G.A.A.; Astronomy Club; French Club; Kalidasa; American History Club; Home Room President III; Hockey III, IV; Basketball II, III, IV; Baseball II, III, IV.

We're sure that Eleanor's sunny personality and cute mannerisms are heading her straight for Broadway's Gay White Way.

ROBERT WELCH, "Bob"

Philologia; Lunchroom; Astronomy Club; Glider Club.

Calling "Lunch" and explaining Einstein are all in the day's work for Bob—our lunchroom scientist.

NORMA WELLMAN

Scribblers; Thalian; Tower News; Annual; Nathan Hale; Euclidean; G. A. A.; Baseball II; Kalidasa.

Never was a saying more true—"Good things come in small packages!" A true friend, a promising writer, a fine artist, a wonderful student—and who knows what else?

RAYMOND WELLS, "Ray"

Tartaglian; Clio.

Ray is one of the smallest fellows in our senior class, but he promises to show that the small are oftimes the mighty.

CONSTANCE WENZEL, "Connie"

Euterpean; Chorean I; Glee Club; Special Chorus I, II, III, IV.

Her outstanding musical talent, coupled with her engaging personality, will insure Connie a niche in the hall of concert fame.

MARY WENZEL

Kalidasa; Camera Club; Special Chorus; Basketball II, III; Law Club.

Mary's ability to make friends and her fondness for laughing and dancing augur well for a happy life.

DOROTHY WHEELER, "Dot"

We are not worrying about Dot's future—she has the kind of equipment that will make her liked and successful wherever she may go.

DORIS WHITAKER

Special Chorus.

Doris' sparkling eyes and beautifully wavy hair make her very attractive and her cheery disposition makes her a desirable friend.

CLARA WIDMER

Senior Orchestra.

Clara can somehow make one feel that the smallest service done for her is a special favor. It's probably those blue eyes of hers.

FLORENCE H. WILCOX, "Flossie"

Girls' Glee Club; Kalidasa.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you." Flossie certainly believes this old saying, for she is always ready for a frolic.

ROBERT WIETHORN, "Bob"

Swimming I, II, III; Hi-Y; Tumbling I.

Bob's lively example indicates that the smaller the fellow the greater his popularity.

MARGARET LEE WILE, "Marg"

Camera Club; Kalidasa; Reviewers; Law Club.

Earnestness combined with a bit of humor is Margaret's mode of attack. Needless to say the attack is effectual, and accomplishments crown her efforts.

IVAN WILSON

Math Club; History Club.

Ivan has a penchant for tinkering with automobiles, and an ambition to become a successful civil engineer.

ELSIE WINDSOR

Kalidasa; Euterpean; G. A. A.; Tower News; Thalian; Riding Club.

If you ever desire to hear an ultra-modern version of "Little Red Riding Hood," just ask Elsie!

LILLIAN WINKLER, "Lillie"

Kalidasa; Spanish Club; Special Chorus; Astronomy.

Meet a "Cracker-jack" student! Lucky indeed will be those pupils of the future who'll have "Miss Winkler" for Spanish.

HELEN A. WIOT, "Snookie"

Spanish Club; Camera Club; Kalidasa.

Everyone who meets Helen is bound to like her, for her genial good nature has won her many friends.

MARY WIREBAUGH, "Pat"

Hockey I; Lunchroom; Tower Y; French Club; Spanish Club; Kalidasa; Nathan Hale History Club; Tower News; Basketball IV.

Here's a lass of the great open spaces, who wants to globe-trot a la Richard Halliburton and then settle down as a newspaper reporter. Here's to her.

ERWIN C. WIRSING, "Irv"

Boys' Glee Club.

Since Irv is the type to experiment for himself rather than take another's word, we're sure that he will be a live-wire electrical engineer.

HELEN WOESTE, "Bliss"

G. A. A.; French Club; Dance Club; Kalidasa; History Club.

Fortunate indeed are those favored by the sunny smiles of this attractive miss.

ALICE WOLF, "Al"

Kalidasa; Tower Y; Euclidean; G. A. A.; Life Saving; Basketball I, II, III, IV; Baseball I, II, III; Hockey III, IV; Swimming.

Al is a typical girl athlete. Capturing first place in the swimming meets seems easy for her!

HAROLD WOLF

Philologia; Band I; II, IV; Scribes; Washingtonian; Orchestra II.

Combined with that easy, clear method of speaking which has made Harold a valued Philologian, are his abilities as a student and musician.

HELEN WOLF

Tower Y; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; French Club; Camera Club.

There's nothing frivolous about wholesome Helen. She's practical, capable, and sincere.

KATHRYN WOLF, "Kitty"

Kalidasa; Tartaglian; G. A. A.

Kitty is the sort of individual who is capable of chasing away one's blues and bringing forth the smiles. Such friends are of sterling worth.

OLIVE WOOD

Kalidasa; Nathan Hale.

Olive's easy-going manner and ever-ready smile have won her a host of friends.

ROMA J. WOODLEY, "Mona"

Euterpean; Kalidasa; Glee Club; Special Chorus.

This slender young lady hasn't been with us her whole high school career, but during this short time she has proved herself a true Withrowite.

THELMA WOODRUFF

G. A. A.; Euterpean; French Club; Kalidasa.

Thelma just came to us this year from Columbus. We're sorry we didn't know her sooner, but we're trying hard to make up for lost time.

VIRGINIA WOOLLEY, "Jinny"

Although Virginia is quiet and reserved, she is well liked by her many friends.

MARJORIE WULFECK, "Marge"

Dance Club; French Club; G. A. A.; Tennis Club; Kalidasa.

A typical athlete, Marge particularly excels on the tennis courts.

GEORGE YOUNG, "Yaatz"

Class Treasurer; Track 1; Aeneadae.

George has achieved a well-founded reputation as a capable class treasurer, a wearer of violent neckties, and a distributor of grins.

MYRON BURR YOUNG

Law Club; Kalidasa; Nathan Hale.

We all agree that Myron is an ambitious young lady. If you want something done in a hurry, just give her a call.

FLORENCE ZIEGLER

Euclidean; Kalidasa; G. A. A.; Tower Y; Tennis.

Florence does things correctly and well. The future is sure to hold success for one so capable.

MARYBETH Ziegler, "Beth"

G. A. A.; Kalidasa: President; French Club; Camera Club; Basketball I, II, III, IV; Hockey IV.

Marybeth is an ardent sportswoman and expert basketball player, but she says her great ambition is to be a doctor.

FAR back in the dim, ancient days of 1929 we strode across the bridge, wearing our best clothes and an air of great dignity. As tradition demanded, we searched anxiously for missing class-rooms, dropped our elusive books in conspicuous places, were properly impressed by the seniors, and did our nightwork every night. Finally the glaring green aura which surrounded our every act lost some of its brightness, and we became a rather insignificant part of the school.

Our class was audibly present at all of the games, even if we did confuse our cheers at times. We were tested for our intelligence ratings, although the seniors deemed it a hopeless task. We endured the agonizing famine of last lunch, last call. The conjugations and declensions of a foreign language swooped down upon us; tricky algebra formulas became daily fare; and we met the gods of Greece and Rome in all their glory. The dread exams followed these!

As sophomores we fully justified the meaning of the word "wise folly." We became so insufferably conceited and authoritative that one could scarcely distinguish us from the haughty seniors. We were true sophisticates—for had we not learned to laugh loudly at Mr. Surdo's jokes, to successfully explain in fifteen different ways the reason for our unpreparedness, to discourse impressively on the faults of various teachers, and to give the exact location of any room in the building?

We entered Withrow with a feeling of true importance and responsibility this year. A number of our members joined upper-class clubs and activities.

We have learned the true ideals of Withrow and accepted our part in advancing them. Soon we shall reach our senior year—the finest one of our high school career. Although we are the thirteenth graduating class, we hope to survive the avalanche of black cats and bad luck which must cross our path and achieve the eminence of preceding Withrow graduating classes.

SOPHOMORES

ANOTHER year and another class—and what a difference a new year and a new class make! Remember when we enrolled in 1929, and signed those imposing white slips? And that marvelous, tremendously proud feeling that we carried with us almost as constantly as our books?

We were like so many bright, highly-inflated balloons—bouncing perversely about the halls in the frenzied freshie fashion. Finally some supercilious senior punctured our overweening emptiness, and we painfully settled down to earth. We became meek, model children—till we should be sophomores.

But the next year came. We flounced across the bridge; we "hulloed" the teachers; we banged doors. We were sophomores. Our humility had vanished. At least we used to ask to sharpen our pencils, then tiptoe to the sharpener as quickly and quietly as possible. But 1930 found us slowly shuffling up the aisle in splendid disregard of books and papers overlapping the desks, and it never entered our heads to ask permission. Indeed, it was even with a feeling of condescending superiority that we favored the teacher with a legible script.

The midyear found us floundering helplessly among a sea of papers on "What the Up-to-Date Sophomore Should Know."

But even the midyears were soon over. A very large majority of us passed and we all pegged away till spring fever caught us and held us in the usual listless mood.

Then, after only too short a time—the finals,—and our sophomore year was at an end.

Out of respect for the efficiency of the Junior and Senior teams, we refrain from the trite and traditional mention of our own athletic achievements. We have at last found a definition for respect.

Perhaps next year, when we ourselves grace the heights of upperclassmen, the sophomores will regretfully make the same announcement. The activities of the various clubs open to second year pupils were enthusiastically participated in by us. We'll never forget the brilliant costuming, colorful setting, and fine acting of Mrs. Howard's last play, "Once in a Lifetime."

Under the practiced teaching of Mr. Newell Bush many of the innocent young sophomores gradually assumed a bit of senior technique—not the same type of technique, however, that charmed the audience during the Chorean Dance Club program, nor held us spellbound at Mr. Surdo's Annual Concert.

Perhaps we have been just like any other second year class, but we flatter ourselves that we were really quite exceptional. Our "feelings" were much more tender than previous sophomore classes,—for we skated to school!

We were as easy as could be on the freshmen and still impress them.

We managed to keep the second-floor teachers busy chasing the sophomore Romeos from the corridors.

Mischievous we may have been—studious we tried to be—ambitious we are. Look out for us! Another sophomore class is out to make itself a name.

FRESHMEN

WE, the class of '34, as we approach the close of our freshman year, recall with smile and an insignificant feeling, the hopes, the disillusion, and the wild expectations of our last days in the eighth grade and our first ones as freshmen. What a difference!

Upon the members of the eighth grade rest the responsibility and dignity of an elementary school, but upon freshmen, though composed of the same people, there rest only ridicule and laughter.

How exciting the first September day was! The disillusion of being only a freshman had not yet dawned; just the halo of being a high school student was visible about us. Running around the halls vainly trying to find certain rooms occupied the rest of that day; the awakening had not yet begun.

But the second day, and the third, and the fourth!!!! We found, at the end of that first week, that we were from one to three inches smaller than we were at the beginning of the week, in direct proportion to the number of seniors who had glanced superciliously at us, or the number of wrong rooms we had entered.

The following weeks were a maze of white corridors, strange faces, yawning blackboards, and confusing room numbers. We came to the conclusion that we were not an exceptional class, but only normal, and-perhaps-a little below. There were so many people, and all except us seemed to know where they were going, and what everything was all about.

We received quite a blow when we realized our actual classifications by the seniors, who have dubbed us stupid, just mere wisps of nobodies from nowhere. We recollect with horror our futile wanderings through the corridors, the delaying of a long line of impatient upperclassmen while hesitantly selecting the proper vitamins and calories from a variety of food, and our hoarse, ungodly outbursts at our first football game. The thrill of that first game is inexplicable. Before this, perhaps, we had witnessed many such games, but never before had we belonged to the team that was playing.

We knew then the feeling of victory that came with the feverish singing of the school song and with mad cheering. We have not yet arrived at the stage of sophistication which watches a football game without the slightest flicker of an eyelash. But we are learning.

It is June. Next year we shall be sophomores. The thought sends the thrill of awakened ambition through our veins. We realize that the great hopes we so confidently held for ourselves last year have not died. They have merely been hidden by a lunch room tray, and silenced by its crash.

Again we look forward to our future achievements at Withrow, and now we face the sober question of upholding the standards of our school in the future. We, in time, will grow in stature; our minds will be broadened; and we believe that we shall be able to fill adequately the large gap left by the graduating classes.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

IT was just two years ago that some mysterious necromancer waved a giant wand over the Industrial Arts building to transform it to the junior high school. Where greasy-handed boys once explored the "innards" of dilapidated "Model T's," five hundred and fifty seventh and eighth graders scurry about the halls. Where wood-working and pattern-making were formerly done, the gym and office now stand. Extensive changes have been made throughout the building, till now a large part is occupied by the seventh and eighth grades of Hyde Park, Oakley, and Kilgour schools. To accommodate the doubled enrollment of this last year there are now fourteen home-rooms, six for eighth grade students, and the rest for seventh graders.

Each of these fourteen home-rooms moves as a unit through eight classes a day, but the boys and girls are segregated as to sex. Besides the usual elementary school subject, they have several unique courses. Three extra periods are devoted to an introduction to languages, taught by Miss Borreson and Miss Duncan, while another three periods are given over to Miss Murphy's introduction to business course. These are known as exploratory courses, for they greatly aid the younger pupil in choosing his high school subjects.

Another special feature of the junior high courses is the weekly period devoted to club work. The various home-rooms organize clubs of their own which they conduct themselves, thus becoming familiar with extra-curricular activities. As each home-room forms its own club, there is a great variety—chemistry, history, dramatic, and stamp clubs.

An excellent intramural system has been developed for the junior high school by Mr. D. D. Gregg, boys' gym instructor. All of the home-rooms participate in the different sports, and each individual is given a chance to play in the game he likes best. Letter awards resembling those of the senior high school are given to the better players. Gym efficiency letters are also given.

Special classes have been organized at Withrow for the junior high girls, and they, too, have their intramural games.

Both the boys and girls of the junior high school are given the privilege of using the swimming pools the eighth period, when their classes are held.

In addition to these many interesting courses, the junior high school boys take Industrial Arts. Here the practical side of the school life is emphasized, in laboratories for printing, woodworking, metal work, and pattern making. The pupils move from one laboratory to the next as rapidly as they complete the course of study.

After considering the junior high, one becomes more and more impressed with its similarity to Withrow itself. As in the senior high, the students enjoy the benefits of a multitude of unusual courses, fitted to all sorts of individuals. Truly beautiful surroundings, fine equipment, and an interested faculty, are characteristic of both upper and lower schools. We may be justly proud of our protege, who is progressing so rapidly and so well.

ART DEPARTMENT

As one walks into the art room one seems to enter a world apart from the usual high school routine—a sort of Utopia where students are enjoying themselves tremendously and at the same time doing excellent work. Here they are learning the principles of art and applying these theories to their own projects, for one learns through actual practice in the art department.

The work offers the greatest opportunity for individual, creative work of any subject in the curriculum. In many courses, one is so busy acquiring the fundamentals that little opportunity is given for individual opinion or suggestions, but under the guidance of Miss Cook and Miss Green the group become individuals of personality and self-expression.

Yet so many things are included under that sweeping term—art. It does not mean creating designs or making jewelry alone—these are the means by which the students receive an appreciation of the finest principles of art. Through the studying of the great masters, the pupils realize the fundamentals of composition and design. The use of these methods in their own creative work aids them to understand and enjoy thoroughly the art qualities of the things of everyday life—clothes, buildings, books, pictures, designs, pottery, advertisements, or jewelry. Truly the art department is one of the most important cultural forces at Withrow, for a person who has studied art has a broader appreciation of life and finer standards of living.

The art department is a vital part of Withrow life. What would the school do without the continual stream of colorful posters announcing the games, the club meetings, Tower News and Annual, the Thalian play, and the Annual Concert?

Much of the success achieved by the department must be attributed to its teachers, Miss S. Louisa Cook, Miss Stella Green, and Miss Sarah Hulick.

Miss Cook has given unsparingly of her time and aid for the construction of numberless settings and stage effects for both the Thalian plays and Chorean Dance Club programs. Because of Miss Cook's poor health, Miss Sarah Hulick has ably replaced her as art advisor in the staging of "Once In A Lifetime."

A great deal of praise is due Miss Green for the unique and clever art work which she provides for the Annual and Tower News. Her students' illustrations have been of exceptionally high calibre, and were of major importance in Withrow's achieving two All-American Annuals in eleven years.

It is teachers such as these who make school really worthwhile.

DRAMATIC ART

MAY we present that unique part of our school—the dramatic art department. In its one brief period each week it accomplishes extraordinary results. Blushing and self-conscious, the juniors drift into the White Club Room; as seniors they leave, poised, self-assured, and with a knowledge of dramatics and forensics.

The course is a varied one, demonstrating the principles of fine speech and good drama. The fundamentals of public speaking are taught first—a schooling in the different gestures, and in the organization of a speech. Having practiced these points, the student is required to prepare a talk on an assigned topic, and deliver it before the class, utilizing the gestures in his delivery. Class comments are then offered concerning the coherence and forcefulness of the speaker's opinions, and on his use of gestures.

From the prepared speaking the class progresses to extemporaneous talks. A list of subjects are offered, and the pupil speaks on the one of his choice. This provides excellent practice in quick, systematic thinking and in self-control.

The classes then dramatize parts of Shakespearean plays, an interesting experiment in imagination, for no scenery is used.

In the senior year, one first learns the elements of pantomime and mimicry. After much "silent acting" and a goodly demonstration of nasals, falsettos, and the like, the pupil is almost ready for the stage. Almost!

Again public speaking occupies the program, but these talks must be long, polished orations. They are delivered from the auditorium stage, as in a regular assembly. One acquires "stage presence" and gains fine experience in talking in a large hall.

Hereafter, debate work takes up several months. First, the myriad points of debating and of the construction of debate briefs are explained Then the questions are announced, and debating teams are formed, as each student is required to debate. Books and periodicals are perused for data for one's "cards." Finally there are enough, and the brief is prepared. The great day comes, and you and your colleagues argue with your "honourable opponents" for the favor of your classmates. A vote is taken at the close of the debate, and the student chairman announces the result.

The rest of the year is rounded out with studying plays for plot, characterization, and atmosphere created.

As an outgrowth of student interest in dramatics, a club of twenty-three members was organized six years ago at Withrow. The Thalian Dramatic Club, as it was called, has now increased to fifty members, and has sponsored the freshman-sophomore Alphian Dramatic Club. They produce a Christmas and spring play each year under the competent supervision of Mrs. Howard, for the enjoyment of the school.

MUSIC

WITHROW is widely known for the excellence of her musical organizations and she is justly proud. The Orchestra, symphonic in its quality and proportions, holds rehearsals Monday and Thursday afternoons. For this year's, the Twelfth Annual, concert the orchestra played "Der Freischutz" Overture, the Andante from Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony, and the "Dance of the Hours," by Ponchielli. In addition to the concert numbers, they have played throughout the year works of such composers as Verdi, Rossini, Baccharini, Gounod, and Buzzi-Peccia. The Big Four Concert, in which our orchestra took part, was given at the Scottish Rite with repeat programs at various churches of the city. The Orchestra also played at the convention of the National Penmen Association and Supervisors, over the radio, and at the usual goodly number of student assemblies.

Every Wednesday afternoon ninety girls are on hand for the regular rehearsal of the Girls' Glee Club. "The Snow," by Elgar, "Minuet," by Paderewski, and Strickland's "Honey Chile," were the numbers which we enjoyed so much during the Club's portion of the program.

"Withrow's Largest Choral Organization," is the title which the Special Chorus of some two hundred and twenty voices, meeting Wednesday at seven fifty-five, has the right to bear. Longfellow's "The Wreck of the Hesperus," with a dynamic musical setting by MacCunn, was the feature number of the chorus, while for the last group, the combined choruses rendered "The Prophecy" and "The Hosanna Chorus" from "Ben Hur," by that renowned Cincinnatian, Edgar Stillman Kelley.

All these organizations are under the skilled baton of that dean of directors, Mr. Joseph Surdo. Despite the fact that the individual co-operation is excellent, the marvelous results could not be obtained without the undying efforts of our beloved director.

The remaining group is the band, which needs no introduction to the student body. The multitude of game and assembly appearances have taken care of that. Besides these usual engagements, the band has played a radio program, a concert for the Alumni, Parents' Night, and the East Night-West Night graduation exercises, plus an appearance at Corcoran Field in the May-Day exercises. The concert numbers have been by such as Massenet, Oscar Straus, and Victor Herbert, with stirring marches by Sousa, Chambers, and Fillmore.

The marvelous improvement of the band in the past two years in both quality and size may be attributed to the efforts of Mr. George Smith, better known as "Smittie."

Withrow may consider herself fortunate in having two such men, each the outstanding figure in his field.

BRUCE SHUEY.

HOUSEHOLD ARTS

THE Household Arts department offers a regular four-year course for girls. Those taking this course receive practical experience by caring for the model apartment on the fourth floor at Withrow. Their training includes food study, and in order to learn to be perfect hostesses they entertain each other at luncheon. Each group plans its own menu, markets, prepares and serves the meal. In sewing the girls learn not only to make wise purchases when buying textiles, but they learn the proper care each article requires. The girls in the Household Arts course learn management of the home and how to furnish it attractively and conveniently. Child care and nursing are included in the course.

In order that those girls who are interested in home making, but who do not wish to enter the regular Household Arts course, may follow this line of study, Withrow has a special homemaking course which may be elected by seniors only. Ten periods a week are required for this, and it includes the buying, selecting and preparing of food; sewing; textile study; the buying and selection of clothing; home furnishing; and child care.

These girls each year make children's dresses which are sent to the Red Cross for distribution. In December of last year all Household Arts students held a style show for other Withrow girls. Each girl wore the clothes she had made. Gay pajamas were displayed; winter coats, summer coats, fur-trimmed suits, tailored dresses: all were worn. Several of the girls who have taken this Household Arts course cut and fitted costumes which were worn in the Chorean program. These girls likewise made costumes for the Thalian production, "Once In A Lifetime." Combining gay colors in a most attractive manner, they designed the gypsy costumes which added so much to the colorful setting of the play.

In order to demonstrate their culinary skill, the girls in the Household Arts special gave several luncheons for their mothers. They planned menus which were quite tempting though inexpensive.

Throughout the year at their club meetings the girls were entertained by various well-known speakers. These meetings were especially interesting. The speakers gave talks about home furnishings and convenient electrical appliances which reduce the drudgery in housework. Other discussions were on child-care and child feeding.

As may be seen by the practical experience the girls receive in this course, it is helpful to all girls, regardless of their outlook upon life. It is of particular value to those girls who are preparing to specialize at college in fields of work open to women. It is a valuable preparation for the study of Dietetics, Nursing, Tea Room Management, Social Service, and Child Welfare Work.

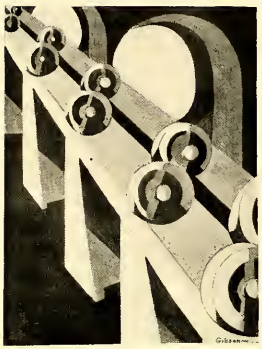
INDUSTRIAL ARTS



PERHAPS this is the most interesting and most fascinating division in the curriculum of studies which the boys enjoy at Withrow. It is indeed the program to which the boy student is most naturally attracted. By clothing the academic subject in a practical aspect, the studies are made easier for the student to grasp.

The purpose of this industrial arts program is not, as many suspect, to make a tradesman out of the boy, but to give him all the possible information about the industrial environment in which he lives.

Architectural and mechanical drawing, cabinet and pattern making, foundry work, metal work, machine shop work, printing and electricity are embraced in this varied program. Work in these subjects begins in the seventh year, in some cases, and lasts through the twelfth year. This is a great advantage to junior high school boys as they could never have taken these courses in the regular seventh and eighth grades of the public schools.

The mechanical drawing course, which runs from the seventh through the twelfth years, and architectural drawing, which is studied by eleventh and twelfth year students, are merely the foundation for a more strenuous study of the subject in college. Incidentally, the popular illusion that a boy taking the industrial arts course cannot enter college is not true. Many boys, graduating from this course, have entered universities and have completed their work with a high rating, one boy even winning a Phi Beta Kappa scholarship key. It is interesting to note that the boys in the architectural drawing group have made plans for and have constructed a miniature home, perfect in every detail.

The printers put out all announcements, bulletins, card forms, and slips for the use of the school, besides printing the "Junior News," the publication of the junior high school.

Quite a few extra-curricular organizations in this division have made accomplishments which are well worth mentioning here. Aero Club members, with their model planes, have captured high honors in all local meets. Members of the Glider Club have been busily engaged all winter in building a full-sized glider which they are about to give its maiden flight. Radio enthusiasts have been busily engaged sending messages through Withrow's amateur transmitting station, which, incidentally, was built by our own boys. Over forty-eight different stations have been communicated with.

May we again reiterate the statement that the industrial arts course is not primarily intended as a training course for the future tradesman. It is merely the general course plus valuable industrial information and experience.

WILLARD MULFORD.

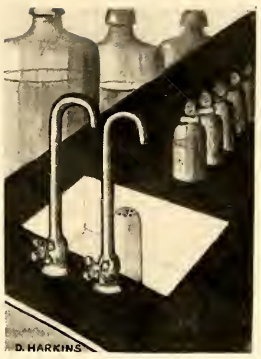
THE SCIENCES

"TO bring about a definite conclusive understanding of the prime fundamentals of the natural sciences." This statement might well be taken as the goal toward which the scientific department at Withrow is continually striving. This group of subjects which includes chemistry, physics, mathematics, botany, zoology, physiology and general science has, with the exception of English, a larger number of students pursuing it than any other in the curriculum. It covers completely the ever-broadening field of scientific knowledge and presents sufficient well-rounded fundamentals to give an excellent start in any scientific field.

At Withrow this department is fortunate enough to be the proud possessor of some of the finest equipment. The chemistry division has three lecture rooms and three completely equipped laboratories. The general science classes possess three modern combination laboratory and lecture rooms, while the other groups possess equally ample and excellent equipment. Add to this fine equipment the fact that the work is directed by, and under the careful supervision of, skilled and competent instructors and it is no wonder that some fine scientific workers have gone from Withrow.

From the time a student takes his first freshman science lesson until his senior year, his knowledge of science work is piling up and accumulating, whether he takes just two courses necessary for graduation or covers the field completely.

In the mathematics group four years of real mechanical background for any science are offered. This includes three phases of algebra, plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry. In addition to being a complete course in itself, this group presents a real means of attacking the problems which arrive in later scientific work, particularly physics and chemistry. In addition to mathematics there are three other options, general science, botany, and zoology. If he chooses general science, he is providing an excellent background for his junior and senior physics and chemistry. If he chooses botany or zoology he provides a means for an easier course in his sophomore physiology. Turning from the first two years it can be seen that the sciences of the last two, chemistry and physics, go hand in hand. Either can be studied independent of the other, but both interlock in numerous ways.



Thus it is obvious that the scientific department is like a huge chain in which each link fits perfectly into its mate. Yet it is an unusual chain in that it permits the removal of any one link without injury to the parts of the whole. Such a chain is well nigh perfect and just such a chain is the scientific department which provides, through careful selection, a thorough fundamental scientific background which is being stressed at present as a real asset in both cultural and commercial education.

BOB BUTLER.

COMMERCIAL EDUCATION

THE Commercial Department of Withrow is one of the busiest departments of the school. Although it has only four years in which to prepare students for their future work, its task is always thoroughly finished. In those four years the student is prepared in all types of commercial work so that he is able to take advantage of any opportunity which may come his way.

In the bookkeeping part of the Commercial Department the different methods of keeping books are studied. Thus the commercial student is familiar with and can keep books for any type of business. In his first year the student is given a general knowledge of bookkeeping. He learns the rules and applies them by working on a simple set of books.

Junior accounting, which is in the course for the junior year, is another study of bookkeeping. This is a study of the fundamentals of Cost Accounting, where all types of accounts are analyzed.

Junior Business Training also comes under the general heading of bookkeeping. This subject deals with the different kinds of commercial papers, how to write them, how to use them, and why they are in use. This subject and Commercial Arithmetic together make one year's work. Commercial Arithmetic quickens the student's common use of arithmetic by showing him many short cuts to the answer.

The student in the bookkeeping department is also made familiar with the various kinds of bookkeeping machinery.

The Stenographic section of the Commercial Department includes all work which a stenographer must know. The students are carefully drilled until their hands can move rapidly across the stenography pad. Shorthand is begun in the second year of the commercial course, and is continued throughout the last three years. Typing is studied for four years.

Other subjects which aid greatly with secretarial work are: filing, penmanship, office training, store service, and business correspondence. These subjects are invaluable to one who wishes to progress in the business world.

Commercial law gives the student a glimpse of the many legal entanglements which grow out of a small mistake on a commercial paper. It teaches him how to avoid these unnecessary mixups. The pupil is also taught how to make contracts, notes, drafts, etc.

Students in the Commercial Department have three opportunities to work in the main office of Withrow, once during their junior year, and twice during the senior year. This opportunity enables them to practice the work they will do in a business office. They have an opportunity to operate the switch-board, meet with visitors, and type letters for the school.

After completing the work of the Commercial Department in Withrow, a student may continue the work in college. For one who has completed the work in this department and who has not shirked, there are unlimited opportunities after graduation. A commercial course starts the young man or young woman on the right road to success.

MARGARET B. TAYLOR.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

PHYSICAL EDUCATION at Withrow has as its purpose, both in the boys' and girls' departments, the advancement and building of a more sturdy and finished body. With this view in mind the instructors have, with the excellent facilities available, planned a most helpful and thoroughly enjoyable program of work.

In both gyms two periods of work each week are required of every student. In both groups this work is given in the nature of competitive and corrective exercise.

This work is divided into two periods. In the first two years the gym work is almost entirely instructive. During this period the student learns how to acquire grace and ease both on the floor and apparatus. The last two years are spent in the acquisition of proficiency in the many sports in which the student may participate. In addition to its obvious value to the student, this work has often been helpful to the department, for many a real athlete has been discovered in this manner.

One period of swimming each week is also required of boys, and the plan and result of the work in the natatorium is almost the same as that in the gym classes. Swimming after school, under competent instruction, has been one of the more popular of extra-curricular activities in the past few years.

Before taking any physical education work physical examinations are given, and special help is offered to those who need it.

In the girls' gym additional interest is created by competition in such group games as hockey, basketball, track, swimming, volley-ball, and kickball. In this work native ability is polished up, and the competition teaches the girls the essence of good sportsmanship and fair play.

Probably the greatest drawing card of the girls' gym is the Girls' Athletic Association. This group encourages girls to shoulder responsibility so that they may become capable and efficient leaders. It also offers the opportunity for a girl to win her all-round W, the acme of athletic achievement for girls at Withrow.

The chief outside interest of the boys' department is the sponsoring of the school teams which compete against other high schools of the city and state in well-planned and well-organized schedules. Deserving members of these teams are awarded a W in their respective sport. This is a most cherished honor.

In addition to the regular gym classes and interscholastic teams, the boys' gym sponsors intramural athletics. This type of work offers opportunities to boys who, because of weight or other handicaps, are unable to gain a position on the squad. Remarkable team and group spirit has grown up in this type of game, and suitable rewards to the winners has added zest to the competition.

So it may be seen that at Withrow the physical education work is not narrowed to any small group or groups, but is far reaching and comprehensive in its scope. This obviously should be the purpose of the physical education work in any school.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

THE Foreign Language Department of Withrow includes Latin, French, Spanish, and German. Each language has its own peculiar value to the student, and each opens a different field of literature and culture.

The Latin department is headed by Miss Alice Donnelly, and offers a four years' study of that language. Latin is valuable because, since seventy-five percent of the words in the English language are derived from the Latin, a knowledge of it makes English more vivid. Latin students become acquainted with the lives and customs of the Romans, and with Roman culture. Caesar's "Commentaries on the Gallic Wars" gives them history from the pen of a maker of history. They explore the fields of oratory and literature with Cicero, and Vergil's "Aeneid" and Ovid's "Metamorphoses" give them Latin poetry at its best.

Miss Catherine James heads the French department. Since French comes third in the list of languages that are spoken most widely in the world, a knowledge of French is valuable to one who travels, as it enables him quickly to adapt himself to his surroundings in French-speaking countries. In classes, parts of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," Jules Verne's "Around the World in Eighty Days," short stories of Guy de Maupassant, and stories of Alexandre Dumas are read. Famous authors like these are the outstanding figures in French literature, and their works are not only entertaining, but instructive.

The Spanish department, directed by Miss Mary Louise Perkins, is one of the most popular in Withrow, judging by numbers. Spanish is essential in business and in commerce carried on in Latin countries, and for this reason many commercial students study this language. Spanish students become familiar not only with the history and legends of Spain, and with stories of its gay and colorful people, but they study, too, the customs and current affairs in modern Spain and read about her great and famous cities. They gain a more fluent speaking knowledge by singing Spanish songs in class.

The German department, of which Dr. Schoenle is the head, is becoming increasingly popular year by year; it is regaining its pre-war status, and recovering from the artificial decline in interest it suffered during the World War. The study of German opens up the rich field of German literature and culture, and the rich storehouse of German history. Next to English, German is the most widely spoken language and therefore is almost essential for travel and foreign business. German also has a peculiar value to English students, because it is the key to those words which have come into English from the Saxon.

German students read the lyrics and ballads of the great German poets whose names are known everywhere, Goethe, Heine, and Schiller. They read the memoirs of a German who served both his fatherland and America, Carl Schurz. They learn the customs of Germany and her many old legends.

In each language section, the students organize clubs and add further to their knowledge of the language.

ANN McELFRESH.

ENGLISH LITERATURE

ONE of the most important and best known departments in Withrow is the English department. Every student in the school, regardless of the course he takes, must study English in each of his four years.

The purpose of the department is threefold. It aims to prepare students for college work, to offer pupils knowledge of the best in English literature, and to give them control of the English language in both speech and written composition.

In preparation for college one must know something about English literature and its history. He must be acquainted with essays, poetry, plays, novels, and short stories, and know the fundamental principles for writing them. A student entering college should be able to speak correctly, clearly, and forcefully. All of these things are taught in the English department through literature, composition, grammar, and elocution.

The friends made in books never change, and in the study of literature one finds many such friends. By reading the works of the best writers, the student's taste is guided toward the selection of worthwhile literature with which to beguile his leisure hours. Withrow's finely equipped library is ready with its hundreds of fascinating books of fiction, science, history, fine arts, travel, and biography, to satisfy that hunger for good reading which is thus aroused.

In the daily period of English many new ideas are suggested by the book or poem under study, and vitally interesting discussions, sometimes occupying the whole period, are awakened by perhaps just one short line in that book or poem. Something intangible, yet immensely valuable, thus is brought into being.

Both in literature and in composition is one taught closer observation and keener appreciation of the happenings in the world about him. Through literature one experiences all kinds of adventures vicariously; through composition one learns to organize and record his observations and adventures in an interesting, imaginative, and informative way. Creative composition nourishes the new ideas and flights of imagination which are springing up in the mind.

Enough grammar is taught to enable the student to speak and to write his native language correctly. The study of grammar is continued in high school not to make periods boring, but to help the individual pupil. One must know how to talk properly no matter what one's vocation may be, and the purpose of teaching grammar is to provide that essential knowledge.

Elocution, too, is part of the English course. In this study, which is required of juniors and seniors, one learns how to speak fluently, clearly, and purposefully before a group. It is here that the need for grammar study is most apparent. Poise and ease of manner are developed, and latent dramatic talent often is aroused in the weekly elocution class.

And so, the important English department prepares one for college and the outside world, arouses a love for the finest in literature, fosters new and interesting ideas, and gives one control of both the written and spoken English language.

TOWER NEWS

ISSUANCE of an unusually early first edition, an unusual novelty assembly given in conjunction with the Annual, the sending of a delegation to the National Scholastic Journalism Convention at Cleveland, and the production of an April Fool comic issue combined with the regular appearance of a high type of paper to make the year 1930-31 one of the best in the annals of Tower News.

Several innovations were introduced. One was the policy of using more cuts or pictures to illustrate the news. This feature, which met with instant acclaim, presented sketches and close-ups of prominent faculty members. Another new idea was the featured sports column, Who's Who Among the Athletes. This presented intimate sketches of the more or less famous heroes of the scholastic sport world. Late in the year a comic strip known as Professor Dodo's Diary appeared to delight the readers.

As the yearbook goes to press, the members of the Tower News staff are busy, in addition to their regular paper, with the preparing of staff members for next year. This plan of perpetuity of the staff, innovated last year, has shown its worth in this year's paper and is now being carried on, much to the betterment of Tower News and Withrow's journalism.

THE WITHROW BOOK

EVERY shrinking little freshie who expectantly crosses the bridge and timidly enters Withrow's confusing white halls is amazed at the immensity and strangeness of the place. In their eager desire to help those freshmen, whose trials they have already experienced, the members of Scribblers, a literary club for girls interested in creative writing, each year compiles the Withrow Book, a handy guidebook telling everything about the school of interest to the student.

Every department in the school is explained briefly, clearly, and informatively. There are maps and directions for finding the various places in the school, explanations of clubs, elections, courses, athletics, preparation for college, scholarships, and all student activities.

The president of Scribblers edits the book, with various committees composed of the other members.

Each girl in the club writes articles about the subjects with which she is best acquainted. These are referred to the composition committee, which reads the material and makes the necessary corrections.

After all the corrected copy is typed, it is sent to the printer, and returned to the proof-reading committee for correction. The dummy is then pasted up and sent back to the printer to be made into booklets.

The committee on art work designs drawings for the cover, selecting the best one from this group. This committee also draws floor plans of the school which are so helpful to wandering strangers, and, especially, to freshies.

The publicity and selling committee provides for a proper advertising campaign and sees that every freshman, at least, buys this booklet, which is sure to be of much benefit to him.

So it is evident that a great deal of work does into the preparation of this handy little guidebook for the students.

FACILITIES

THE LIBRARY

OUR library with its shelves filled with representative works of ancient and modern authors, covering every class of printed matter desirable for high school students, is becoming more useful and valuable every year. Placed as it is in the exact center of the building and overlooking the tower and the bridge, it is easily reached from all parts of the school, and students in all departments make use of its resources.

The school library as it is now presents a somewhat different appearance from that of eleven years ago. The alcoves at either end which were at that time only used for seating are now completely equipped with shelving and are used for the short story, history, and reference sections. Several articles of furniture, such as chairs and tables, have been added to increase the seating capacity.

The number of books has been practically doubled. However, the size of the library naturally will not permit any all-inclusive collection of books such as are found in large libraries. It has been the policy, therefore, to assemble as large a group of representative works of the best authors as can be handled. Each year a new group of books constituting the very best in current literature is added. Those who know books will affirm that excellent taste and knowledge of the best are shown in their selection.

The pleasure every one derives from going to our library may be attributed in no small measure to the fact that it presents an atmosphere which never fails to add to the enjoyment of the pursuit of intellectual development.

ART LEAGUE

FORMED six years ago, the Art League has been one of the foremost factors in beautifying the halls of our school with paintings. Organized of members of the student body and of the faculty, the league is supported entirely by voluntary contributions by the students.

This year the Art League has added to those pictures already on the walls a painting by the well-known Cincinnati artist, Paul Ashbrook. Hanging between rooms 103 and 105, the picture, entitled "Cathedral Wall, Tepozotlan," brightens the east hall.

Of his painting, Mr. Ashbrook writes the following:

"Tepozotlan, a few miles from Mexico City, was built originally as a convent by the Jesuits in 1582. The wall seen here in the foreground and the cathedral in the distance are an exquisite example of that bizarre religious style of architecture and decoration known as the Ultra-Barocco or Mexican Barocco."

Among the paintings presented by the league in former years are the murals in the lunch room, the creations of a Cincinnati artist, Louis Endres; also there are the two reproductions of scenes from Abbey's frieze, "The Search for the Holy Grail"; "Indians," by J. H. Sharp, famous for his Indian portrayals; "Still Life," by Mrs. L. F. Fisher, and "Interior," by Elizabeth Nourse.

Selecting paintings of color and interest to all the school, the Art League has been performing a valuable service for the school, and one which should continue in the years to come.

THE LUNCH ROOM

WELL, what have we here? You've guessed it—the most important part of the school. Though our main purpose at Withrow is to satisfy our hunger for knowledge, every day at eleven-forty-five great evidence is shown of another hunger equally as important, for then first lunch begins, and everyone is sure to see to it that he gets his share.

This year we have an added feature in our lunchroom. It is two new counters, one for boys and one for girls, where ice cream, bread, butter, rolls, custards, and salads may be obtained by those who do not care for any hot food.

Across the hall from the students' lunchroom is the teachers' lunchroom. It is very similar to the students' lunchroom in every way, with student helpers there, also.

The lunchrooms are very efficiently and systematically managed by Miss Townley, assisted by Mr. Mathias and Mr. Hunt.

We are proud of our beautiful lunchroom with its many smiling, happy, and willing workers, and we will always remember it.

THE SCHOOL BANK

THE amount of deposits in the Withrow Savings Bank has increased steadily since its founding. Through the efforts and co-operation of both teachers and students, there are now approximately one thousand depositors. Last year there were approximately 850 depositors. This is a remarkably large percent of our pupils.

The banking office, located in room 120, is open every Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday morning from 8:00 A. M. to 8:25 A. M. The D, C, and Junior High School students make their deposits through their home-room representatives, who take the money to the banking office. The upper classmen make their own deposits. Bank books may be kept by the students or left with the bank. Three percent interest is paid.

This bank is very convenient for deposits, because it is right at hand to its depositors.

During the past year the management of the bank has been in the hands of the following students:

John Putman.....Student Manager
Martha Maycox, Ruth Jackson, Bertha Nemiroff, Virginia Lowther, Burton Kinney.....Tellers and Bookkeepers
Arline Stocker, Lillian Warneke, Doris Grosse, Bill Eveland, Mary Blust
.....Assistants

The success of the Bank is greatly due to the efforts of Mr. Ziegler, faculty advisor.

It is rather remarkable that the amount of deposits has not dropped during the season of business depression.

OFFICE ASSISTANTS

EACH year the work of the office assistants is developing more and more, until now the tasks they so capably perform are of great value and help to those in charge of school business.

Every commercial student in school spends one day in the school year assisting Miss Thaubald in the main office. Seniors help the first half of the year, and juniors work the last semester, typing, answering the telephone, sorting mail, and performing a multitude of tasks. This gives the students practical experience of great value in their commercial work.

Margaret Brown and Beatrice Rogers assisted Mr. Seay in counting money, filing money envelopes, writing receipts, making out checks for Mr. Seay's signature, and keeping the treasurer's books.

During the sixth bell each day Hazel McClure, Charlotte Frey, and William Broerman counted the lunchroom receipts. They made up the deposit to go to the bank, and prepared the change for the next day's business.

The sale of street car tickets was handled by Alma Larkin and Doris Grosse. During this year more street car tickets were sold than ever before.

The services rendered by these people were considered invaluable by Mr. Seay and Miss Thaubald, and were of great benefit to the students themselves.

FOOTBALL

TO quote Coach Walke himself, "Prospects for the 1930 football season were as drab, and material as green, as I have had in years at Withrow." When such a statement is taken into consideration, the record of three victories, five losses, and one tie, which was compiled by the Tigers, is not so bad as it may seem.

After a week of intensive drill, the Orange and Black played host to the Redskins of Norwood High. The Indians found Fort Withrow far more pregnable than in previous years and went home with twelve scalps dangling at their waists, while the Orange and Black tallied nothing.

Withrow started out as if to repeat last year's debacle. With Buschbacker and Floyd carrying the ball, the Tigers marched deep into Norwood territory, only to lose the ball on a fumble. Then Buschbacker injured his ankle severely and was taken out. Many regarded this as the turning point of the season for the Tigers.

Little Newport came over to the stadium on October 10 and went back with a freakish victory by a 2-0 count. The day was much too hot for anything but baseball, and the players discarded all unnecessary paraphernalia. Late in the second quarter George Rimmer, shifted into the backfield because of his extraordinary kicking ability, went back into punt formation.

During the week after the Newport game Coach did the most thorough shifting of men on record at Withrow, and, when on October 17, the Tigers raced on the field to tackle Xenia, linemen were in the backfield and ex-backs were on the line. Before long the spectators were also trying to identify one number 10 on a Xenia sweater. They had reason to wonder who it was, for all Bus Bell, for that was his name, had done was to advance the ball personally from midfield to the Tiger goal.

Bell, however, had not finished. He was on the throwing end of a forward pass that landed in the arms of Kinsey, an end, and was good for 15 yards and a touchdown. The half ended with the Blue and White holding this 12-7 lead. The Withrow team that came back for that second half caused Tiger supporters to think they were back in '29. The first thing they did was to engineer a pass, Floyd to Schwartz, that took the ball to the 2-yard line. Rimmer wasted no time plunging over from there. Then he took the ball on the second play after the kick-off and galloped 75 yards through the whole up-state team for a score. Late in the game Kaufman intercepted a pass and was driven out of bounds in Xenia territory. Floyd ran over from there.

The peak of the season was reached when, on November 7, the highly touted Western Hills Maroons fell 6-0 before an inspired Tiger outfit. The hill-toppers came into the game topheavy favorites, looked upon as championship caliber. They went out a sadly outfought team.

The two outfits battled on even terms for three quarters, but in the last period the undaunted Tigers won out. Three times they fought their way to the Western Hills goal line, and three times they were repulsed. Then with Charley Floyd and Rod Rice carrying the ball, they came straight down the field in a 40-yard march that culminated when Rice went over. The game ended two minutes later. In the second of those goalward marches, Svetozar Nankovitch, big Serbian guard, was severely injured and was carried from the field and sent to the hospital. His play had shown distinct improvement and his loss was a severe one.

From the heights in the Western Hills game the Tigers went to the depths against Woodward. Their 8-0 loss at the hands of the Bulldogs was a terrific blow to their followers.

Despite the Woodward setback, every Orange and Black follower looked confidently toward the classic of the season, the Hughes game. The usual colorful pregame festivities went off in fine style, and then something happened. Hughes' backs began to sweep at will through the Tiger line and eluded the secondary to run wild. Schaps, Nolting, and Kramer galloped all over the field, and when the gun went off the score was Hughes 37, Withrow 7. The Orange and Black touchdown came on a plunge by Rimmer after a blocked punt late in the game. So the curtain came down on the season.

Although the Tigers did not win the majority of their games some fine players were uncovered. Of course, Captain Hessel was the bulwark of the line, but he received some real help from Niehoff,Nankovitch, Mueller, Schawe, and Schwartz. In the backfield, George Rimmer displayed some fine plunging and punting, and was ably assisted by Frank Reis, Rod Rice, and Charley Floyd.

BASKETBALL

LACK of experienced material, the chief difficulty in other sports during the current season, did not spare basketball, and, when Coach Carl Duning called his first practice, one veteran, Jack Kreimer, reported to him. With Jack as a nucleus and with some promising material from the reserves, Coach started the tremendously difficult task of building a team.

A month of practice produced some result and on the twelfth of December the Tigers faced Lynchburg on the latter's floor. The starting lineup of Pressler, Hulsbeck, Kenny, McIntyre, and Kreimer found that they were facing an under-rated team. This, combined with a bandbox floor, caused the Orange and Black a disheartening 18-8 defeat.

Eight days later the team, after a thorough drill in fundamentals, faced a powerful Middletown team. This game, too, was played away from home and resulted in a demoralizing 23-7 defeat for the Duningmen. But for the accuracy of Dick Meyers in the last two minutes Withrow would have tallied only three foul shots.

An encouraging change for the better was shown in a 32-20 defeat by Greenfield. The upstaters, always powerful, presented a fine team and were given a real battle throughout by the Tigers. Jack Boyle and Fritz Pressler gave signs of a real scoring punch with 8 and 7 points, respectively.

After a holiday rest, the basketeers returned to action on January 9, when they tackled Hartwell in their first inter-scholastic battle. The Duningmen, led by Jack Boyle with 11 points, led all the way and ended on the long end of 21-16 count. Jack Kreimer also played well as the Tigers scored their first victory.

A week later the schedule called for two games. The first one was another inter-scholastic battle, this time with the Eagles of Walnut Hills. The game was torrid all the way and only a spectacular long shot by Alex McIntyre in the last 10 seconds won for Withrow—16-15. Then, tired by their efforts of the previous evening, and facing one of Indiana's strongest fives, the Orange and Black took up losing ways by falling before Lawrenceburg 43-17. Withrow's points were widely divided while Albright and Stevens, Hoosier forwards, made 36.

Returning to the interscholastic wars, Withrow faced Western Hills and was defeated, 29-19. Illness kept Jack Boyle, high point man, out of this game. Fritz Pressler, taking his place, played well, scoring 8 points. Sheer fight by Alex McIntyre was another feature of this game.

After a strenuous examination week, old man Hard Luck again invaded the squad. This time, on the eve of the Hughes game, Coach Duning's father became fatally ill and the Orange and Black played without the guiding hand of their coach. The result, of course, was a 32-9 defeat. The gigantic Big Red outfit played great ball and, led by Murray and Margolis, avenged their defeat of the previous year.

February 13 was the close of the inter-scholastic series. Withrow met the Bulldogs and succumbed, this time by a 33-19 score. The game was, however, very encouraging to supporters of the Duningmen. Fight predominated on Withrow's side, with Pressler, Kreimer, and Boyle showing real playing. This brought the scholastic season to a close with two victories and three defeats.

Hamilton's powerful five, Southwestern champs, avenged the two beatings of the previous year by scoring a 27-17 victory on February 20. With the same splendid five that had worn the Blue and White the previous year, the upstate five jumped to an early lead and the ultimate result was never in doubt. Jack Boyle, as was his custom, was high point man.

The last regularly scheduled game was, of course, the annual classic with Norwood. Not even the staunchest Tiger supporter expected a victory, but none expected the landslide which came. Trailing at the half 23-4, the Orange and Black never had a chance before a powerful Indian offense and fell 38-12. Jack Kreimer showed the only real fight and played capable ball.

A brilliant ray of hope emerged in the Southwestern Tournament at Cincinnati University. Facing a team that had been seeded number two, the Tigers presented a lineup of four juniors and a senior. This lineup, playing all the way through, led until the last two minutes, and then lost to Xavier High School, 22-20. Experts predicted a brilliant future for next year's team.

When the fact that the team was entirely new is considered, the season's record was not so bad. Jack Boyle, Jack Kreimer, and Fritz Pressler played consistently good ball and were valuable men. With such prospects, Coach can look forward to a prosperous season next year.

TRACK

ALMOST immediately after the opening of school, Coach Fred Reuter began his annual systematic hunt for trackmen. With the assistance of Captain Joe Schwartz and several veterans of other years, he combed the gym classes for men and soon had enough for the makings of an excellent track outfit. Months of diligent work brought his runners and Coach Nelson Walke's field men up to fine form for their two indoor contests. However, in both of these meets the Tigers met with unusually powerful opposition and both times came off with second places. Columbus Central sent strong enough teams to Cincinnati to win both of these.

When the football season had closed, the team was strengthened with the return of several weight men and sprinters. The pleasant spring weather also benefitted the Reutermen, who were able to get outside for practice much earlier than usual. This advantage helped the Orange and Black to be in fine fettle when the first outdoor meet, a dual one with Hamilton, was held on April 11. Schwartz, a true captain, set an excellent example for his mates by winning the shot-put and discus and placing third in the javelin. His teammates were not slow to follow him, however, and the Orange and Black won ten firsts. Outstanding performances were turned in by Ben Willis in the hurdles, Russ Johnson in the jumps, and Frank Krentz in the pole vault. The final score, 81½-68½, indicates the superiority of the Tigers.

A week later the harriers tangled with Hartwell in the Withrow stadium and again won by an approximate 14-point margin, 83-68. To observers the Valley team seemed to push the Orange and Black more than Hamilton, but superiority in numbers and better balance won for Withrow. Each team took seven firsts. Schwartz again starred, this time with a first and second, but his chief supporters this time were Bob Breitenstein, Bud Stallings, and Jim Mossman. Breitenstein followed Pellens of Hartwell twice for two seconds in the hurdles, while Stallings, showing great improvement, easily won the broad and high jumps. Mossman, a veteran, won the 440-yard dash, took a third in the broad jump, and was the number-one relay man.

On April 25 a cocksure bunch of trackmen journeyed to Dayton for the Stivers Relays, only to meet a horde of flyers from Huntington, West Virginia, and come home with sixth place. Schwartz lived up to his reputation by tossing the 12-pound shot 47 feet 8 inches for a new meet record and a victory. He also hurled the discus 112 feet for a fourth in that event. His support from other team members, with the exception of Breitenstein and Stallings, fell down on him, though. A fourth in the hurdles was the former's reward, while the latter took a high jump third. The relay teams, heretofore unbeaten, took one third, two fourths, and a fifth.

Only a picked band of men was taken to Columbus on May 1, and two for that annual mid-western sports carnival, the Ohio Relays. Schwartz, universally picked as shot-put winner, could do only 46 feet 8 inches, and ran second to Griffiths of Columbus Central. Ben Willis ran to the finals of the high hurdles, only to fail to place, while the mile relay took seventh in the finals. That was Withrow's limit against the section's best.

One week later the Southwestern Ohio Athletic meet was held at Oxford, Ohio, and the Tigers, winners in the years of yore, came home in fourth place, preceded by Dayton Roosevelt, Dayton Stivers, and Cincinnati Hughes.

Schwartz, Harry Duncan, Bud Stallings, Frank Krentz, Charlie Mauthe, and Bob Breitenstein turned in all the individual points won by Withrow. All existing records were broken by the Tiger captain, when he tossed the iron ball 50 feet ½ inch to an easy win of the shot-put. Not content with this, he won the discus with 108 feet 4 inches. Duncan, whose work improves constantly, supported him with a third in the shot and a fifth in the discus. Stallings, a crack jumper, was third in the high and fifth in the broad, while Krentz took a pole-vault third. Mauthe, after a short absence, returned to finish fifth in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Breitenstein, coming back in fine form, was third in the high hurdles. The half-mile relay team won its event, while the mile baton-carriers came fifth in line.

This was the last meet run off in time for Annual coverage, but steady improvement seemed to point to a successful conclusion to the track season.

BASEBALL

SOME of the finest early spring weather ever experienced at Withrow gave Coach Carl Duning and his baseball candidates an excellent chance to get far more outdoor practice than usual, and the squad that he selected came up to its opening game on April 17 in splendid shape.

His first call for candidates showed that he had a veteran battery in Charley Floyd, catcher, and Charley Anderson, pitcher, and a star shortstop, Frank Reis. Upon these men as a foundation he built his squad. Ed Holzenkamp, a rangy fielder, won the first base post, with Jack Kreimer holding down second, and Joe D'Andrea and Wilbur Schwemlein alternating at third. In the outfield Rodney Rice, Frank McDowell, Charley Warner, and Alex McIntyre divided duties in the three positions. To aid Anderson in the box, coach selected two righthanders, Harold Hulsbeck and Russ Johnson, and a southpaw, Bob Piper. With this young and promising squad he set about preparing for a stiff schedule.

The Eagles from Walnut Hills High visited Withrow for the opener and went home soundly beaten 16-4 in seven innings. The game was nip and tuck until the fifth inning, when the Tigers hopped Wulfeck, Eagle hurler, for nine runs and the ball game. From this point Anderson, Tiger hurler, just breezed in. The big feature was a home run by Charley Floyd.

The second game was scheduled for Lynchburg, but rain twice halted this contest, and Hughes came next on the Orange and Black schedule. The Tiger defense, none too tight in the Walnut Hills game, took on a sieve-like aspect in this fray and eventually cost the game. The final score was Hughes 7, Withrow 4, but the Duningmen had 10 hits and 6 errors, as compared with 7 hits and but 2 wabbles for the Klinchmen. This alone tells the story.

The twice-postponed Lynchburg encounter came next and resulted in a lopsided 17-1 victory for Withrow. The entire Withrow team hit well, with a home run by Holzenkamp, triples by Holzenkamp, Kreimer, and Warner, and a double by Warner, as features. Hal Hulsbeck, making his first start on the mound, fanned six, gave but four hits, and retired the opposition in order five times.

On April 28 a powerful Norwood nine took the Orange and Black back to defeat by winning 19-4 at Norwood. Norwood bunched her 21 hits far better than Withrow did her 13. Withrow scored 3 of her runs off Korengel's pitching in the ninth.

Masterful pitching by Ray Evans and Bill Egan, of Woodward and Purcell, respectively, brought about two defeats in the next two games. The Tigers could do nothing with either of these boys, while Woodward had one big five-run inning off Piper, and Purcell pounded Tiger pitchers to all corners of the Withrow lot.

Revenge for the Norwood defeat was gained when the Indians played a return engagement at Withrow on May 8. Russ Johnson, Withrow, and Bob Gabel, Norwood, hooked up in a thrilling pitcher's battle that Johnson won when Schwemlein tripled and McDowell singled in the ninth. The final score of 4-3 indicates the calibre of ball played.

The Orange and Black team slugged its way to a 16-14 victory over Elder on May 12. Although handicapped by the absence of Reis and Holzenkamp, the Withrow nine played fine ball, coming from behind to win. Trailing Elder by two runs in the last inning, Rice's and Johnson's easy rollers were muffed. They advanced on D'Andrea's sacrifice, and then scored on Kreimer's double. Another double by Floyd, with singles by Schwemlein and McDowell, netted the winning four runs.

A heart-breaker was lost the next day, when Western Hills won 5-4. After playing superlative ball for nine innings, the Tigers blew a two-run lead in the deciding tenth. Withrow collected two markers in the initial innings and remained idle till Johnson drove two more tallies across in the sixth. Two were out in the ninth, and the Tigers led 4-2, when a twisting roller to short tallied two runs for Western Hills. While Withrow went scoreless in the tenth, Western Hills scored the winning tally.

Although a light rain fell during most of the game, the contest was marked by clean fielding and excellent pitching. Russ Johnson's hurling and hitting featured the struggle, for he allowed only six safeties as compared with double that number provided by the hilltop moundsman.

As the Annual goes to press the Tigers have two games and the tournaments left on their schedule. Despite the fact that they have played in and out ball to date, success seems to be assured. Their effort in the second Norwood game was splendid, and continuation of that type of play is sure to mean a grand finale to the baseball season.

TENNIS

UNLIKE other athletic teams, the tennis players were fortunate in having at their disposal three veterans from the team of the year before. These three men were Bill Chambers and Dick Meyers, holders of numerous junior titles, and a fine doubles player, Jack Ratterman. These men, under the capable coaching of Miss Gladys Bahr, formed half of the regular squad. An intramural tournament was held to select the other members and Neil McPhail, Fred Pressler, Dan McDaniel, Jack Montgomery, and Bob Wile won the coveted positions.

Like the other spring sport teams, the racqueteers benefited from the spring weather and, after a few weeks of extensive work, took the courts for their first match with Hamilton. The upstaters furnished little, if any, competition, and the Tigers won.

A week later the Orange and Black traveled to Lexington to battle the powerful freshmen outfit from Kentucky State University. A defeat in the third singles match made the only blemish on the card, and the Tigers won 4-1.

The exhibition season closed with a match against Holmes High of Covington, but the power of the Orange and Black racquets swept the Kentuckians to a 5-0 defeat.

The opening of the interscholastic season brought the Big Reds of Hughes to the Hyde Park Tennis Club. The tennis players, led by the stellar play of Meyers and Chambers, accomplished the unusual and the Orange and Black won 5-0.

On May 30 the postponed state final matches were played off on the Ohio State University courts. Withrow's doubles team, composed of Chambers and Meyers, won from Lorain High by default, the Lorain team failing to put in an appearance. The same day, without any real difficulty, Chambers won the state scholastic singles championship, defeating Neihauser of Cuyahoga Falls High School, 6-2 and 6-1. The consistently good playing of the Withrow star excited considerable comment and brought forth predictions of a brilliant future on the courts.

The splendid work of the two best singles players in the Ohio Valley and the aid of a strong supporting group have given Withrow a successful tennis season.

GYM CLUB

FEW Withrowites are well acquainted with the Gym Club, a small but active group of boys of the junior and senior high school who meet together on Thursday afternoons with the purpose of developing a skill and ease in apparatus work and gymnastics. Perhaps this lack of renown is due to the fact that those who seek public recognition for their athletic prowess are not to be found in this club. The only rewards besides personal self-satisfaction are two gold medals given at the end of the year to the finest gymnast in the senior high and the foremost of the junior athletes.

This new organization, not yet three years old, performs a real service to the school in training and developing boys for the newly founded gym team. Incidentally, the two boys of this team who participated in the state meets this year, Doyle and Macbeth, won first and fourth places, respectively, in the contest. Each year the club entertains the student body in an assembly.

Under the tutelage of Coach D. D. Gregg, the boys learn how to perform many different kinds of gymnastics and trick stunts. Many of these stunts appear to be easy to accomplish, but in reality are very difficult. Pyramids and tumbling form interesting sidelines for the club. A relatively new organization, this club has an excellent future before it. Certainly it is one of the most beneficial athletic groups of the school.

GOLF

ALTHOUGH they make up one of the school's youngest teams, the golfers, under their coach, Mr. Walter Peoples, had a highly successful season.

This team, composed of Captain Bob Gaible, Harold Moonitz, James Jenkins, Allan Hennessy, Bob Schroeder, John Hellebush, and Jack Montgomery, opened its season on April 22 with a smashing victory over Western Hills. This match resulted in a 10½-1½ victory for the Tigers, whose play was featured by the work of Gaible and Jenkins. Three days later Purcell administered the first defeat, when it won 7½-4½ from a team composed of Gaible, Moonitz, Boyle and Hennessy.

Revenge for the defeats administered to other Withrow teams was gained when the mashie-swingers triumphed 8-4 over Norwood in a match at Avon Fields. This time Gaible, Moonitz, Jenkins, and Schroeder represented Withrow. May 4 brought a second red letter match. Holmes High of Covington inflicted this one, traveling to Ridgewood to win 7½-4½ from a team composed of Gaible, Moonitz, Hellebush, and Montgomery.

Two days later the long awaited victory from a Hughes team came when Gaible, Moonitz, Jenkins, and Hennessy drove and putted their way to victory.

The remainder of the schedule for the boys, coached by Mr. Peoples, consisted of matches with Walnut Hills, Roger Bacon, and University School.

HOCKEY

HOCKEY! How eager the girls are to get out on the hockey field, flashing their sticks, dashing breathlessly after the speeding puck, thrilling to the ideal game of Autumn afternoons.

This season followed the plan of last year and proved extremely successful. A greater number of girls participated this year than ever before. From the Rainbow league, consisting of eleven teams, the class squads were selected.

Each class played each other class once, the scores resulting in a tie between the seniors and sophomores. The seniors, champions of last year, defeated the sophomores, and again gained the championship. The juniors placed third, and the freshmen fourth.

Fifty points were credited toward the all-round "W," to any girl attending two-thirds the number of games and practices. Twenty-five points were given for those attending one-half the number of games and practices. Those girls who kept the score and time were also credited with points toward their letters.

The entire hockey system was under the direct management of Lavinia Ervin. Each class team was managed by a captain, who directed the girls on the field. The captains were:

Freshmen—Marjorie Stevenson
Sophomores—Pauline Easter
Juniors—Margaret Gillette
Seniors—Edna Fife

GIRLS' SWIMMING

AN extensive and enjoyable program covering almost every imaginable phase of aquatic sport was planned and conducted for the girls this year under the direction of Marjorie Cowell, swimming manager.

Probably the most important phase of the work was the interclass competition. Meets were held in December, March, and April with the sophomores triumphing in the first meet, the seniors winning the second, and the juniors and seniors tying in the third.

The Annual Endurance Swim also came in for a major share of attention. By starting out with 5 minutes a day and increasing 5 more each day, the girls developed remarkable endurance. There were over a hundred girls competing and the first ten to finish were: Martha Jane Pulliam, Ruth Gross, Emily Bowen, Doris Evans, Elizabeth Seeger, Helen Convery, Betty Angle, Elba Noelke, Mary Shook, and Eleanor Ulmer. Class competition gave the juniors a victory with 9366 lengths; second, freshmen 6408; third, seniors 3011; fourth, sophomores 2925.

In April, 27 girls of a class of 54, instructed by Miss Bertha Bruckman, won the Red Cross Life Saving Awards. Eleven received the senior emblem and sixteen, the junior.

As a fitting climax to a successful season a water pageant, The Frogs' Frolic, was held. The success of this venture which was lavishly costumed and scened was largely due to the efforts of Miss Fennekohl and the Art Department.

GIRLS' BASEBALL

THE call to play baseball this year was answered with amazing eagerness by one hundred and three girls. Freshmen, of course, were in the lead with forty-five girls out; sophomores followed with twenty-two, juniors with twenty, and seniors brought up the rear with sixteen.

The season opened with three weeks of hard practice, followed by six games for each class, starting March 30 and extending until April 17.

Each class elected a captain for its team. The representatives selected this year were:

Genevieve Jennings, A
Bernice Palmer, B
Lorraine Hogan, C
Denise Eickhoff, D

To each girl who played twenty or more innings, fifty G.A.A. points were given, and to those who played from fifteen to twenty innings, twenty-five points were given. These innings could either be played in the class games or in the scrub games. The latter were played in the outdoor gym when there were enough girls present.

There were twelve freshmen girls who received fifty G.A.A. points for their participation in the games, fourteen sophomores, thirteen juniors, and seven seniors.

There were five freshmen girls who received twenty-five G.A.A. points, three sophomores, no juniors, and one senior.

On the winning sophomore team thirteen girls who played fifteen innings in the class games received chevrons.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

THE long-awaited basketball season began on December 1, with an instructive exhibition game for the freshmen.

The method of handling the basketball schedule as in previous years was continued this year. Each class elected a non-playing manager to plan the activities of her team, such as arranging quarters and being responsible for attendance of a full team for all scheduled class games.

Group games were played throughout January. Any ten girls who selected a name and captain and registered at the gym office could compete in the group games. The twenty teams that were entered each played three games. Of the 199 girls playing in one or more games, 119 received twenty-five points toward their letters by playing eight or more quarters.

Following the league series, a squad of twenty-four girls was chosen from each class. A schedule of six double-header games was arranged for each squad. A girl could play only four quarters in an afternoon, participating in either or both games.

This year eighteen girls from the four classes received the honor of being chosen to play on the Varsity and All-Star teams. This game was open to all who wished to see it. The Varsity was the winning team.

The faculty played the senior champions in an hilarious and exciting game, and, to the surprise of all, the faculty won.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE Girls' Athletic Association has been in existence for five years and has steadily held the respect and interest of the entire school. By bettering and systematizing girls' athletics at Withrow, this organization has proved itself to be a worthy one. Its object of emphasizing the improvement of health through normal athletics, attainment of skill and technique in the various sports, development of leadership and dependability, and the realization of the joy of play, has been constantly in action. No other club or organization offers such a wide range of activities in which most girls are able to find a real interest.

The G.A.A. executive board carries on most of the business of the organization. This board is composed of a president, vice president, corresponding secretary, recording secretary, treasurer, sports managers, and faculty advisors. Open meetings are held at intervals during the year, at which times all members of the G.A.A. participate.

Any girl who is interested in athletics may join G.A.A. upon paying a small fee annually. Two membership drives are held during the year—the first in September, the other in February. Members of G.A.A. may participate in all G.A.A. activities, such as competitive sports, parties, and special events.

The G.A.A. provides various activities throughout the year, such as hockey, basketball, baseball, track, swimming, hiking, and play-days. The social side of G.A.A. includes parties, dances, swimming meets, a water pageant, and the Honor Night banquet which caps the year, for then all awards are given to those deserving them. There are two class trophies—a general trophy representing all sports, and a swimming trophy. The class winning the highest number of points has its numerals put on the trophies. Points are awarded only to G.A.A. members. Chevrons are given to all members of the championship team in each sport. Numerals are awarded to all those who have earned five hundred points, while those who have gained a thousand points are given the all-round W.

Each fall a Hare and Hound Chase is given, in order to stimulate interest among the freshmen and to encourage them to become members of G.A.A. The Hare and Hound Chase introduces the hiking program which continues through the year. The hikes are usually held on Saturdays, but very short ones are sometimes held after school.

As introduced last year, G.A.A. again held some interscholastic playdays. Norwood joined in with Withrow in giving the play-days.

Honor Night is the climaxing feature of the girls' athletic season. A banquet is given in the Withrow lunchroom, at which time letters, numerals, chevrons, and trophies are awarded, next year's officers installed, and the Honor Girl, chosen from the senior class, presented with an Honor Ring.

The officers of G.A.A. for 1930-31 are:

Vice President . . . . . Eleanor Weiss
Treasurer . . . . . Cajetan D'Agostino

COLOR DAY

THE 1931 Color Day, the girls' annual track meet and field day, was held on May 4 in the Withrow Stadium.

The meet was divided into two sections. The first part was given over to the presentation of class entrances. The rest of the program consisted of all field and track events. Hand bill programs containing a brief interpretation of the class stunts and the events in their order, were distributed.

Much thought was put into the original and clever stunts produced by the four classes. The stunt managers were Nancy Gordon for the seniors, Rae Bellonby for the juniors, Marcella Ackenhausen for the sophomores, and Jeannette Meier for the freshmen.

The seniors presented their version of "Sleeping Beauty." Sleeping Beauty rested behind the human hedge of charmed admirers. The Green, Blue, and Red Knights tried in vain to break an opening in the hedge which flaunted their colors, and they were added to the barrier. Then the Orange Knight triumphantly slashed down the hedge and woke the sleeping beauty—Color Day. This colorful presentation won first place.

The juniors marched out on the field bearing a huge Withrow Treasure Chest filled with freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors represented by colored balloons. The red balloons soared high above the others thus gaining second place for the juniors.

Freshmus, Sophmus, Junus, and Senus, as presented by the sophomores, were contesting in a chariot race in the presence of His Majesty, the Sultan, in order to win his fair daughter, Color Day First Prizemus. Of course, Sophmus won the race, thus securing third place for the sophomores.

A verse was worked out by the freshmen who marched onto the field, bearing a long strip of green cloth with the qualities of an all-round girl printed thereon.

In the fifty-yard dash, Moselle Gaston equalled the national high school record with a 6:1 sprint. Fifty-yard hurdles were run this year, instead of the sixty-yard hurdles of former years. Clara Miller placed first by running the hurdles in eight. Evelyn Pelzer, repeating her success of last year, again took first place in the hurdles for form. Lorraine Hogan threw the baseball 225½ feet, almost equalling Ruth Webster's national record of 228 feet, and thus making a national record for second place. Elsa Leroy placed first in the hurl-ball throw with an 82-foot throw. Edith Eberle threw the basketball 74 feet. Peggy Ringhand won the running high-jump with a jump of 4:4.

The juniors placed first in tug-of-war, with the sophomores and freshmen winning second and third. The sophomores placed first in both the 50-yard relay and the obstacle relay. The freshmen placed first in the potato-race, the target throw, and the class basketball throw.

The sophomores won first place in the entire meet, with a total score of 70½ points, while the juniors placed second, with 48 2/3 points.

RIDING CLUB

WITHROW High School is so unique in many ways that it is not surprising to find her among the few high schools sponsoring the art of horsemanship. The Withrow Riding Club was formed about four years ago with instruction and guidance under one of our own graduates, Miss Ethel Todd. The Riding Club is now one of the many sports offered under the guidance of G.A.A. A horsemanship test including a walk, trot, canter, change of gait, mount and dismount is given each year, and the successful riders are presented with the horsemanship pins.

Forthe past two seasons Withrow riders have chosen Maple Grove Riding Club for their "home grounds." The Withrow Horse Show of last spring is a memorable event in the minds of many G.A.A. followers who staged a hike to the Riding Club to see fourteen Withrow girls put their horses through the paces and to be thrilled at the exhibition of several celebrated show horses. Last, but not to be forgotten, was the dance in the Maple Grove Barn.

The lack of wet weather during the fall term gave us ten weeks of good riding with an average of seven riders each time. The advanced group also rode occasionally at Miami Riding Club at the foot of Mt. Washington and had one unique ride on Armistice Day, when its members rode from Tuxedo Farm to Anderson's Ferry, ferried across the river with their steeds, and cantered about the hills of Kentucky.

STUDENT COUNCIL

ONE of Withrow's latest steps forward was the organization of Student Council in the fall of 1930, largely through the efforts of William Franklin and Mr. Howe.

The body is composed of nineteen members in the small council, and all the home room presidents in the large executive council.

Among the achievements of this first year are the conducting of five assemblies, management of the mid-year scholarship drive, selling the arm bands and pep cards, providing stunts at the Hughes-Withrow football game, assisting in the athletic dinner, and management of the cheer-leaders, and sponsoring the debate team.

The members of the small council are four seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, one freshman, and one representative of the junior high school, and, also, the president of the senior class, the president of Withrow Club, the president of the Girls' Athletic Association, and a representative each from the Annual and from Tower News. Thus it is arranged that the upper classmen are in the majority, but the lower classmen are well represented.

ALPHIAN

THE Alphian Dramatic Club is an organization sponsored by Thalian and composed of a group of freshman and sophomore students interested in dramatics. The club was organized for the first time a few years ago for the purpose of giving the lower classmen an opportunity to develop their latent histrionic ability and to further their interest in dramatics.

At the beginning of each school year the freshman and sophomore students who are interested in dramatics try out for membership and the most successful applicants are admitted to the club. The interesting programs given by various members at each meeting are filled with recitations, short plays, dialogues, and other entertainment of dramatic value.

This year several Alphian members had small parts in the Thalian Dramatic Club's successful production, "Once in a Lifetime."

The officers of the club for the following year are elected from the freshman class by the members of the club at the close of the ensuing school year.

EUTERPEAN

THE Euterpean Music Club, organized for the purpose of furthering the interest and appreciation of good music in Withrow, is now in the third year of its existence. The membership of the club is composed of two groups, namely, the active members, those who agree to take part in the programs by playing, singing, or reading papers on musical subjects; and the associate members who come merely for enjoyment.

Each year the Euterpean Club acts as sponsor for a musical program which is presented before an assembly of the lower classmen.

Meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, and the varied and delightful programs are enjoyed very much. All the members participate in musical spelling bees and musical memory contests with a great deal of eagerness.

Membership is extended to all grades, and lower classmen are thus given an opportunity to start club life.

SCRIBBLERS

SCRIBBLERS Club takes for its aim the promotion of interest in good writing and good literature. The club is composed of twenty senior and junior girls who have been recommended by their English teachers for literary ability.

Meetings are held every other Tuesday after school, and consist of a short business procedure and a program of original compositions by the members. Essays, poems, book reports, criticisms, and short stories written by members usually form the program, but occasionally the works of well-known authors are read. Cincinnati poets and prose writers are sometimes procured to speak at meetings.

The practical project of Scribblers is the editing of the Withrow Book, a small handbook of facts and interesting information about the school. The purpose of this book is to serve as a guide-book for freshmen. The book contains diagrams of the school and information about various parts of the building to help the newcomer through the first few days; and the facts about clubs, organizations, scholarships, and college preparation are equally valuable to upper classmen.

PHILOLOGIA

THE Philologian Literary Society, oldest of Withrow clubs, was founded at Madisonville High in 1912.

Philologia has always been acknowledged as the leading boys' society, for it is a criterion of scholarship, ability in speaking, and fine comradeship.

The society has maintained its excellent traditions only through the most capable guidance and fine interest of Mr. C. M. Howe, to whom the society extends its sincere appreciation.

DEBATE TEAM

TO rouse further interest in the art of public speaking, Philologia sponsored a debating team to represent Withrow in interscholastic forensics.

A team of eight members was selected by open competition, the judges being Mrs. Howard, Miss Atkins, and Mr. Howe. The team is composed of Captain William Franklin, Stanley Peal, Homer Jensen, Willard Mulford, Gordon Frey, Ruth McKim, Jeanette Merk, and Clarence Watson.

Because only a few local schools had debate teams, not all of the team members engaged in interscholastic competition, but William Franklin, Stanley Peal, and Homer Jensen were selected to oppose Holmes High School of Covington and Western Hills.

In the first encounter, at Covington, both sides presented excellent arguments, but Withrow lost the decision by a vote of 2 to 1. The question was, Resolved: That chain stores are detrimental to the best interests of the American people.

The second debate was on the same subject and took place in the Withrow auditorium. Mr. Arthur S. Postle, debate coach of the University of Cincinnati, acting as critic and judge, awarded the decision to the negative team of Withrow, giving clear and concise reasons for his conclusion.

Debating is regarded by those engaging in it as one of the most useful of competitions. It helps to conquer stagefright, it teaches how to make concise statements of facts, and how to secure those facts.

RADIO CLUB

IN October, 1920, the Radio Club was organized by Mr. C. M. Howe as a club through which boys interested in radio could get a more thorough understanding of it. In the following year Elmer Davis, '22, received President Harding's inaugural address and shortly after it was given read it to the school in an assembly. In 1925, a radio was hooked up in the auditorium and the whole school heard the inaugural address of President Coolidge. This was still unusual, considering the number of radios in existence at that time. Interest in radio continued to grow and in 1928 the club had a forty watt transmitter. All the parts of this were donated or loaned by various members and completely assembled by the club. In June, 1930, the transmitter was a fond memory. However, at the beginning of this past school year the Radio Club put in an order to the Board of Education for the materials necessary for a station. They received the parts and built the complete station, and the end of this year finds them sending and receiving messages from all parts of the world.

WITHROW CLUB

UNDER the able guidance of Mr. Hunt, faculty advisor, the Withrow Club was under way soon after the opening of the school year, last September.

This club was established several years ago with its main purpose that of fulfilling the numerous minor duties around the school, the small things which tend to make a fine school organization move neatly and smoothly. Members of the club meet every other week to discuss ways and means of improving the cleanliness and the orderliness of the buildings.

This year the Withrow Club was the first to inaugurate the system of associate memberships for lower classmen.

A SENIOR GIRLS' CLUB

KALIDASA

THE Kalidasa Club was organized way back in 1923 by the senior girls of that year. They conceived the idea of a club in which the various talents of the girls might be developed, and it was thus Kalidasa came into existence. The club has endeavored to emphasize the idea of the Three Arts—Art, Drama, and Music. Through membership in Kalidasa the girls become familiar with the social usuages. There are no restrictions or requirements for membership, save that one be a member of the senior class.

They have sponsored many activities and parties throughout the year. In November a Pirate Party was held, with a most mysterious and exciting treasure hunt as a fitting climax. A grand and glorious Christmas party, known as a "Kiddies' Party," was held. In February a most enjoyable Valentine Party was held for the members. With the coming of spring, the club staged two amusing one-act plays. Trysting Place, by Booth Tarkington, and the That Awful Letter, were staged by the members of Kalidasa for the junior girls. The plays were prepared entirely by student directors, Jeannette Merk directing the first play and Lucille Payne, the second. Thus the year was brought to a most instructive and enjoyable conclusion.

TOWER Y

TOWER Y is a club which has been at Withrow for many years. It is composed of a group of Girl Reserves, who are junior members of the Y. W. C. A. The purpose of the club is "to find and give the best," and the slogan of the organization is "To face life squarely."

The members of Tower Y hold regular meetings on the second and fourth Thursdays of every month. These meetings take place in the White Club room under the capable direction of Miss Ruth Grove, who is the faculty advisor.

The work and ideals of the club are explained beautifully by its code:

*G*racious in manner.
*I*mpartial in judgment.
*R*eady for service.
*L*oyal to friend.

*R*eaching toward the best.
*E*arnest in purpose.
*S*eeing the beautiful.
*E*ager for knowledge.
*R*everent to God.
*V*ictorious over self.
*E*ver dependable.
*S*incere at all times.

WITHROW HI-Y

THE aims and purposes of the Withrow Hi-Y are, with the exception of its service to the school, the same as those of the Y. M. C. A.

Meetings are held every other Monday. The meetings at school are held in the afternoon, and the topic of discussion usually pertains to the school and school life. At the meetings at the Y held in the evening the topic discussed is generally religious in character.

All of the Hi-Y clubs in the city are sponsoring a World Brotherhood Movement this year. The clubs contribute funds sufficient to bring a member of a Hi-Y club in some foreign land to this city. In this way the boys of Cincinnati learn of the activities of other countries in Hi-Y work. The success of the club is due, in a large measure, to its officers and the faculty advisor, Mr. Howe.

CAMERA CLUB

THE shutter has clicked on another successful year for the Camera Club. This year we have seen, at the College of Medicine, how photography aids humanity by recording the various stages of operations, wounds, and infections. At a commercial plant we discovered how a merchant is aided in advertising his products by means of photography. Thence to the Eastman store, seeing the latest appliances for cameras and the newest additions to their line of photographic materials and instruments. The principle of the simple pinhole camera was explained to us here.

However, we did not spend all our time in listening to others. We practiced the principles of composition in a meeting devoted to table top photography. At one meeting we also worked out some very interesting silhouettes of the members. One of the last meetings was given over to the exhibition of thirty prints from the Los Angeles Camera Club. Last, but not least, came the party in the model flat with its contests and prizes.

TENNIS CLUB

THE Withrow Tennis Club was again organized last fall, but did not become active until this spring. With the coming of tennis weather, however, the two courts which are the possession of the Withrow racqueteers were reconditioned and play begun.

The purpose of the club is to further good sportsmanship and to foster interest in tennis.

The membership of this year's club is approximately forty members less than previous years. This is due to the decision to eliminate all associate members.

After several weeks of practice, the club sponsored a tournament to determine members of the tennis team and their ranking. Through numerous fiery matches, these members were chosen for the boys' tennis team, ranking in the following order: Captain Bill Chambers, Dick Meyers, Neil McPhail, Jack Ratterman, Fritz Pressler, Bob Wile, Dan McDaniel, and Jack Montgomery. On the girls' team the ranking was: Katherine Wallace, Marge Wulfeck, Frances Fearon, and Cajetan D'Agostino.

AERO CLUB

AERO Club now ends its third year of model-making supremacy. Organized by Homer Jones in 1928, most of the members were taught by him in classes on Wednesday afternoons.

Last year at the Rotary Club contest, Jack Fischer won first place in all three divisions of the contest, and he and Homer Jensen went to Detroit. There Jack's plane made such a creditable performance that plans of the plane were given national circulation by the American Boy Magazine. Many critics considered it one of the most advanced designs of the year. The boys returned with two medals.

By the end of this year, of the six divisions the members have entered, the club had five state records, and a second place in the sixth. This record easily places the club well above any other model airplane club in the state.

The club is divided into two sections, the Model Airplane Club and the Glider Club. The Glider Club was first started this year, the construction of its plane taking from November to May. Albert Brady did most of this work.

The purpose of the club is to teach technical aeronautical facts by practical means through the construction of miniature planes.

Officers of both sections of the club were:

President . . . . . Jack Fischer
Vice President . . . . . Homer Jensen
Secretary . . . . . Frank Brady
Treasurer . . . . . Albert Brach

PYTHAGOREAN

THE membership of the Pythagorean Math Club is each year made up of the pupils in Miss Helen Swineford's first period senior class which takes up the study of trigonometry and college algebra. The last Friday of each month is set aside from class time for the club meeting in which various members of the club take part. At this time the technicalities of algebra and trigonometry are forgotten, and the time is devoted to discussions and talks dealing with the fascinating and intriguing origin and influence of higher mathematics. The purpose of the program is to demonstrate the practicability of higher mathematics in every-day life and to reveal the usually hidden fascination of the subject. The programs show, too, that math has as interesting and colorful a past as history and the classics, and they impress on the minds of the members the fact that science of mathematics is privileged to take its place among the most ancient and interesting of sciences. This year the programs have been exceptionally good with their amusing and puzzling mathematical fallacies and brain-twisters, and accounts of the lives of the ancients who were the originators of this particular science.

TARTAGLIAN MATH CLUB

THE Tartaglian Math Club is made up of the students in Miss May Conner's fourth period class of senior math, which includes trigonometry and college algebra in the course of study. The club meets on the first Monday of each month of the school year during the time in class which is ordinarily devoted to study. The name and constitution of the club, which were established first by the class of 1929, were again adopted.

The very interesting meetings which are held during the year inform the members of the lives and works of many well-known mathematicians, both those of ancient and modern times. Curious and amusing tricks which are shown at these programs intrigue the imagination of the members.

The work of the year was brought to a close in June with the long-anticipated picnic for which all the senior math clubs combined.

All in all, it is believed that Tartaglian Math Club has been a decided success this year. While the practice in trigonometry and algebra has been invaluable to the members, they cherish even more highly the spirit of good fellowship, without which no club can be worthwhile.

EUCLIDEAN

THE Euclidean Mathematics Club meets on the last Friday of each month during the regular sixth period recitation. The club is composed of senior pupils who are studying trigonometry and college algebra. Not only is the pleasure of omitting a regular recitation and its attendant nightwork enjoyed, but a keener and deeper appreciation of mathematics is developed. Through the interesting programs the historical and practical background, upon which the value of the subject depends, is shown.

During the year the lives and accomplishments of the great mathematicians of ancient and modern times are reviewed. Talks are given on the practical application of mathematics to navigation and the various branches of engineering, and mathematical puzzles and fallacies are often offered for class solution. The evolution of the science of mathematics from ancient to modern times forms another interesting part of the program.

The course is brought to a triumphant close each year with a grand picnic, at which male members attempt to determine unmathematically the complete capacity of a certain digestive organism.

STARGAZERS

THE Astronomy Club, organized annually to foster an additional interest in the subject, furnishes one of the most interesting parts of the astronomy course. This year the meetings were held every other Thursday during the seventh bell.

Legends of the many constellations, lives of many of the great astronomers and their contribution to this science of the universe, literary references to astronomy, and discussions of recent articles on the subject made informative and interesting material for the programs. If time permitted at the meetings, extemporaneous talks were given which challenged the ability of the keenest students.

Trips to the observatory proved well worth while, and under Dr. Yowell's supervision the Stargazers lived up to their name. Not only were brilliant stars viewed through the telescope, but also such planets as were then in sight. Mars, and Jupiter with its four satellites, proved remarkable worlds when brought closer and magnified.

The Stargazers completed the year with a picnic, which proved successful in every way. Thus closed the history of the Stargazers, the Astronomy Club of 1931.

LAW CLUB

THE Law Club was formed for the purpose of making a more extended study of the various phases of commercial law which could not be dealt with in class because of the lack of time. All pupils who have studied law or are studying it at the present time are eligible for membership in the club.

The club, unlike many clubs devoted to a more comprehensive and intimate study of the classroom work, holds its meetings after school.

At the first meeting of the club an exciting election was held, and as a result, a girl president, Mary House, was chosen. Robert Smith became vice president, Agnes Verkamp, secretary, and Jack Winget, treasurer.

Through the club the students become familiar with the most important elements of commercial law. The many and varied technicalities of the subject are put into actual practice during the meetings of the club. It has been the custom of the group to conduct court trials in accordance with the most strict judicial procedure. The various sorts of legal papers are studied, and practice is given in drawing them up.

The officers of the club are:

AENEADAE

THE Aeneadae Latin Club, one of two such clubs organized by seniors who are taking fourth year Latin, is composed of the twenty-seven members of Miss Grove's second bell Vergil Latin class. Its membership is open to all of Miss Grove's Latin pupils. This club was organized in the beginning of the school year for the purpose of sponsoring outside reports on the custom, dress, architecture of the early Romans, and the weapons, the material for which is not to be found in the text book. It also encourages an increased interest in study of this ancient language which has been handed down to us through such a long period of years and which still thrives, although it is dead as to any use but the study of the beauty and charm of its immortal classics.

On the last Friday of every month the regular lesson is dispensed with and in its place interesting talks, illustrated lectures, and Latin plays are presented by the members. The club, under the faithful and inspiring direction of its advisor, Miss Grove, has learned some interesting ancient Latin songs which they enjoy singing.

Following is the list of officers of Aeneadae for the school year 1930-31:

President . . . . . Elsie Liggett
Vice President . . . . . Ansley Mueller
Secretary-Treasurer . . . . . Paul Stubbs
Faculty Advisor . . . . . Miss Grove

VERGILIANI

THE Vergiliani is a senior Latin club, formed with the purpose of studying Roman life and customs. The club is named after Publius Vergilius Maro, one of the foremost of the Roman poets. As the Aeneid, his most famous work, forms the major part of the fourth year course, this club name is most appropriate.

The club is composed of the members of Miss Donnelly's sixth period class, and meets during the regular recitation period on the last Friday of each month. A unique feature of the club is its roll call. Each member signifies his presence by answering with a quotation from the Aeneid.

Vergiliani has a splendid faculty advisor in Miss Donnelly, under whose guidance many interesting and instructive programs have been prepared. Often entertaining talks are given on Roman customs and traditions, while other programs feature the dwellings and religions of that civilization. Much of the background of the Aeneid and of Vergil is given. In addition to these informative subjects, the programs are intermingled with lighter, more amusing topics, varying from Latin crossword puzzles to charades.

FRENCH CLUB

THE Withrow French Club, which is not so well known under its French name of Le Cercle Francais, is organized under the capable direction of Miss Catherine James, for all students of the French language except freshmen. The purpose of the organization is to further the student's ability to understand and use, out of the classroom, the French language.

The business sessions and programs of the club are held after school on the third Monday of each month in the school year, and are conducted almost entirely in French. The very interesting programs are made up of short talks, songs, sketches, dialogues, short plays, reports, and various other features, all of which are carried on in French. The meetings, while they are of a social nature, not only provide the student with a greater opportunity to learn and to speak French, but also enable the members of the club to receive in a fascinating way a broader and better knowledge of the manners and customs of the energetic, artistic people of France.

GERMAN CLUB

THE German Club, Schiller-Verein, named for the great poet and dramatist of Germany and comprised of all junior and senior students in Dr. Schoenle's third period class, was organized for the purpose of furthering the students' knowledge and ability to use the German language by daily practice. Meetings are held monthly during class time and are conducted entirely in German. The programs primarily consist of readings. However, since mid-year, the German newspaper of the city has been studied minutely and articles selected and translated to accustom the students to a more specific application of the language. Several meetings of the year were devoted entirely to Dr. Schoenle, in which he told his experience of the previous summer while visiting Germany. Among these the most outstanding were the colorful description of the world-famous natural zoo of Hamburg and the equally famous Oberammergau passion-play.

Each meeting has been both beneficial and entertaining and Dr. Schoenle and all the students who have been participants in the club since its beginning two years ago hope for the successful continuance of the club.

QUIÉN SABE?

THE Quién Sabe? Spanish Club is composed of the students who are studying fourth year Spanish under the direction of Miss Perkins. This organization holds a meeting every two weeks on Monday, during class time, with the teacher as the advisor of the club. The minutes, the parliamentary procedure, and the programs which are conducted in the Spanish language, present the interested student with an opportunity to learn to speak Spanish much more fluently.

The Spanish Club, which formerly held its meetings after school, has this year divided into class clubs known as Sanos Y Salvos, Mejor Y Mejor, and Quién Sabe? On special occasions these clubs come together for a joint meeting. At such a social gathering as this various members of each club participate in the program. An open meeting, the long-awaited "Juegos Florales," is held every year, and at this time valued honors are awarded to those students who have received the highest grades in a comprehensive test given to all the students of Spanish. At the end of the year the much-anticipated picnic is held for a jolly social time.

MEJOR Y MEJOR

MEJOR Y Mejor, the fourth period 2A Spanish Class of Miss Mudge, was organized early this school year.

In the first meetings it was decided that all business and programs of the club, so far as would be possible, should be conducted in the Spanish language. In actual practice, the formal orders of the president, the minutes, and the program were given in Spanish, usually, but the discussion was confined to English.

Much credit should be given Ruth Wright for the painstaking care she has put on the minutes of the club.

The programs of the meetings were diverse, ranging all the way from solving Spanish crossword puzzles to mock radio programs. At one meeting considerable amusement was afforded by translations of Mother Goose Rhymes. At another, several two-minute talks in Spanish on current events were given.

SANOS Y SALVOS

THE Withrow Spanish Club, "Sanos Y Salvos," was organized by the pupils of Miss Perkins' fourth period class for the purpose of further encouraging the study of Spanish. Meetings are held every other Monday during class period and are conducted in Spanish by the student officers. The club is comprised of members of third and fourth year Spanish. Spanish songs, plays, debates, stories, and games make up the unusual but very interesting programs. There are usually several parties during the year, one of the most delightful being "Juegos Florales." At this party, which is given in the spring, medals are awarded to those pupils who have achieved the highest grades on a special test that is given to all Spanish classes. Lillian Winkler, Mildred Finke, Bill Horne, Virginia Norris, Walter Ramsey, Dorothy Shore, Estelle Beach, Lloyd Behymer, Warren Wurster, Ava May Dilling, and Helen Dalke received prizes this year from the Spanish department. Lillian Winkler, who had the highest average for four years in the Spanish course, was also awarded a book in the Class Day exercises. Other parties are given at Christmas, St. Valentine's Day, and St. Patrick's Day. The Club has done much to create a real liking for the study of Spanish.

HAMILTONIAN

THE Hamiltonian History Club was organized this year by the senior pupils of Mr. Hamilton's fifth period class. The club meetings are held during class time on the first Monday of each month for the purpose of more fully developing the multitude of topics which can only be briefly touched upon in regular class time.

The programs are devoted to the many phases of American history. Discussions of the lives of great American men are given; descriptions of various periods of American life are surveyed from an unbiased viewpoint; debates are held on subjects of the day; in fact, all historical topics which are of special interest to the entire group make up the programs. Through this outside study of historical events and questions, a greater appreciation of the subject is obtained.

CLIO HISTORY CLUB

IN order to secure a broader appreciation of the history of our country, Miss Dickinson's seventh period senior history class organized an American history club. It was decided that the group should be called the Clio History Club, after Clio, the muse of history.

The club convenes during the regular class period on the first Friday of each month. During these forty-five minutes the class is entertained and instructed with many varied topics which form a necessary background for the enjoyment and complete study of the course as discussed by the class members. Both the past and modern aspects of the United States history are review, and student reports are given on problems of the day throughout the world.

Thus the history club is most beneficial to the American history students for its student discussions and reports are an efficient adjunct to the regular course of study. With its aid, Miss Dickinson succeeds in making the study of the United States history one of the most engrossing and instructive subjects in all of the school's courses.

NATHAN HALE HISTORY CLUB

AFTER much persuasion Miss Dickinson relented and allowed her fourth bell class to form an American history club. The club was organized quite late in the year, and its first meeting was held the first Friday in December. At this meeting it was voted that the group should be called the Nathan Hale History Club, in honor of the great American patriot. The officers were elected at this time, and the members decided that a constitution should be dispensed with.

On the first Friday of each month during the regular recitation period the program committee presents various historical topics. Reports are made on modern events and their significance; brief biographies are sketched of famous men of the past and of noted contemporaries; disinterested views of present day political questions are offered; the many eras of American history are described, and the most interesting highlights of American history are presented to the class. The students are thus given an opportunity to study more completely these interesting topics.

THE WASHINGTON HISTORY CLUB

ONE of the most interesting and beneficial of the class clubs at Withrow was organized by Mr. Ralston's seventh period American history class. This club was called the Washington History Club. The purpose of the group, as incorporated in the constitution, was as follows: "to foster an interest in the history of the United States of America, both current and early, and to promote an interest in the lives of the great men of that country."

In accordance with the provisions of the constitution at their first meeting, the class elected the customary four officers and the chairman of entertainment committee. The officers were: President James Mossman, Vice President Robert Mecum Kuck, Secretary Frank Reis, Treasurer Earl Kaufman, and the chairman of the permanent committee on programs, T. Marvin Edwards. Through this able chairman the club enjoyed many entertaining and unusual features during the year's meetings. American history became a truly real and living subject under Mr. Ralston's instruction, with the aid of this club.

Much credit is due to Richard Firestone, for his compilation of the club's excellent constitution.

REVIEWERS

FOR the purpose of supplementing the class room program and of presenting history in a novel fashion, the Reviewers' History Club has been organized this year by members of Mr. Hamilton's first period class. Regular meetings are held during class time on the first Monday of each month. Officers are elected semi-annually.

Many different sidelines of history, particularly the biographical line, which are entirely omitted in the regular text may be reported on and discussed at these monthly meetings of the club.

The value of a club such as this lies in the fact that it develops initiative, leadership, and responsibility among its members. Judged on this basis, Reviewers' History Club has enjoyed a most successful debut into Withrow's club life.

Officers of the club for the year 1930-31 are:

SPECIAL CHORUS

SPECIAL CHORUS

SPECIAL Chorus, consisting of two hundred and twenty boys and girls, is Withrow's largest choral organization. It is directed by Mr. Surdo, and meets each Wednesday morning before school at seven-fifty-five. Special Chorus includes in its membership boys and girls from all the classes.

The practice received often leads to the development of really fine voices among the members of the chorus, and because it is open to all pupils, from the very start of one's high school life one may receive excellent training and very valuable voice instruction.

The whole year is spent in intensive practice for the Annual Concert, which is given two successive nights at the end of each year. For this year's number the members of the Special Chorus sang Longfellow's "Wreck of the Hesperus," which has received its powerful musical setting from MacCunn. It is a stirring tale of a hardy New England seaman and his lovely young daughter who are drowned when a terrific storm dashes their study boat, "Hesperus," to destruction on the rocks. Special Chorus also sang in the "Hosanna Chorus" from Ben Hur.

The success of the chorus is due largely to its director and the co-operation he receives from its members.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

THE Boys' Glee Club is made up of approximately sixty-five boys from all of the grades at school. The members come together for their weekly rehearsals on Tuesday afternoons for about an hour and a half, under the direction of Mr. Surdo.

The purpose of the club is to open the minds and hearts of the members to the beauty and significance of music, to teach the members voice control, to give them practice in group singing, and to provide entertainment.

The principal aim of the club is the presentation of a beautiful performance for the Annual Concert. This year the Boys' Glee Club, with string accompaniment, sang a group of three varied songs. The first was "The Bugle Song," a lovely number adapted by Smith from Tennyson's poem; "Chit-Chat," a charming old English air by Moffat followed; and the comic number, "A Little Bug'll Find You Some Day," which was so much enjoyed by the audience, was the last. The performance of the Boys' Glee Club has always been one of the most popular parts of the Annual Concerts.

Withrow is fortunate in having a musical director who willingly gives so much time to the development of its musical talent.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

WITHROW is deservedly proud of her fine Girls' Glee Club, which has acquitted itself so admirably on many occasions. The club is composed of about eighty-five girls interested in music who meet in the music room on every Wednesday afternoon for an hour and a half of diligent practice in preparation for the Annual Concert.

Many people in music circles have wondered at the degree of excellence achieved by these girls. Diligent practice, constant and willing; a desire for a better knowledge of music and more ability in singing; and cooperation under the guidance of Mr. Surdo have helped to bring about this surprising accuracy of pitch and delicacy of shading.

At the Twelfth Annual Concert this spring the Girls' Glee Club, accompanied by the Senior Orchestra, sang three numbers remarkably well. "Minuet," by Paderewski; "The Snow," by Elgar; and "Honey Chile," a delightful negro melody by Stuckland, made up their program.

Withrow appreciates the efforts of Mr. Surdo and these girls in developing so fine a chorus.

BAND

THE BAND

THE Withrow Band of 1931 has been one of the most outstanding and one of the best-known organizations in the school. Resplendent in their brilliant orange and black uniforms, the members of the band provided pep and entertainment with their enthusiastic playing at the games during the year.

The assemblies in which the band has played have been among the most popular ones given.

Besides these usual engagements the band has played in a radio program, in a concert for the Alumni banquet, on Parents' Night, at the East Night-West Night graduation exercises, and in the May Day exercises at Corcoran Field.

The concert numbers which have been given were written by such well-known composers as Massenet, Oscar Straus, and Victor Herbert; and the difficult and rousing marches were works of Sousa, Chambers, and Fillmore.

The Withrow Band was begun in 1924 by Mr. Horton, with a membership of twenty-five. Since that time it has steadily increased, until now there are sixty pieces in the organization. Two years ago it was taken over by Mr. George Smith, or "Smitty," as he is called by the students. His jolly personality, hard work, and faculty of inspiring co-operation have been instrumental in placing the band in the position it now holds as one of the best organizations of its kind in Cincinnati.

VIRGINIA WEBSTER.

ORCHESTRA

THIS, the twelfth year of the existence of Withrow's Senior Orchestra, has produced an organization which far surpasses that of any previous year.

With the growth in number from twenty members to sixty-five, has come a growth in the quality of production that is almost unbelievable in a high school organization.

The orchestra has two rehearsals a week, on Monday and Thursday, each being from two-and-a-half to three hours long. The work accomplished is remarkable.

In addition to the concert numbers, the orchestra plays for numerous student assemblies and for outside engagements. This year the orchestra took part in the Big Four Concert which was given at the Scottish Rite. When the National Penman Association and Supervisors held a convention in Cincinnati this spring, Withrow's Senior Orchestra was on hand to furnish some excellent music. Appearances on the air were also included among the performances of the 1930-1931 season.

On Friday afternoons the Junior Orchestra, fifteen younger players who are striving to attain the degree of excellence which will permit them to join the Senior Orchestra, practices under Mr. Surdo's direction.

The efforts of both Mr. Surdo and the members have made possible orchestras of which Withrow is justly proud.

FEATURES

SENIOR HISTORY

AS commencement approaches, we seniors recall the four years of work, play, and fun that have been ours since we first entered Withrow as the ladies and gentlemen of the gaping mouths and cascading books.

We all remember that first day which held so many thills mixed up with such fearful uncertainty. We were completely bewildered in this huge school where two thousand unfamiliar faces surged about us. In our earnest efforts to be insignificant we performed the whole catalogue of "freshie" mishaps. We accomplished new sound effects in the lunchroom by allowing our trays to come to a gentle, peaceful rest on the lunchroom floor, we sat in the wrong seats in study-hall and attended the wrong classes in the right periods, and we were generally entertaining to the rest of the school.

But the gods are merciful to fools and small children, and soon our eternal ignorance was mercifully cloaked with the glamour and gaiety of football. Can we ever forget the grand climax of the Hughes-Withrow game, vivid beyond all description? In the last half the fighting Withrow warriors drove our score up to 13, and Hughes, with its 6, was forced to surrender. The contest for the Cornell Cup between Hughes and Withrow had been waged for eight consecutive years; this memorable year brought it to a triumphant close! Withrow was proclaimed champion of the city and undisputed owner of the Cornell Cup—ours to keep forever.

The glorious Christmas holidays followed, and upon returning we enjoyed the teachers' tardy present of exams. "Enjoyed" cannot express our feelings! However, after this painful interlude the usual routine of school was resumed.

The following year we swaggered across the bridge as all-powerful sophomores who had lost insignificance and developed in its place sophositication. We benevolently beamed upon the "little freshies" and wondered if we could ever have been as childishly stupid. It was glorious to be a sophomore!

The Thalian Dramatic Club presented this year, three one-act plays—"The Knave of Hearts," "Old Walnut," and "The Valiant." All were well acted, but "The Valiant" was superlative. Some of us sophomore girls wandered about in an envious daze for some time after seeing George Hart and Ginevra Venable in this drama.

We waded on again through Gaul with Caesar, reciting anxiously "The square of the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the other two sides" as we went, and we explored the intricacies of the Alimentary Canal in Physiology.

Mr. Surdo brought us our second Annual Concert, and some of us were among the musical organizations.

With our sophomore year behind us, we looked ahead as juniors to the responsibilities of clubs and various activities. We were now a real important part of the school; we had become upperclassmen.

We were admitted to Philologia, Thalian, Withrow Club, Hi-Y, Chorean, Scribblers, and other school organizations.

Our football team had another victorious season, losing only the game with Hamilton. Our gridiron held an extraordinary aggregation of football stars. Fred Ratterman, the idol of the female contingent, was made captain of the mythical All-Cincinnati team, many of whose members were Withrow players.

The day our band appeared on the field in resplendent new uniforms was a proud one. Their improved playing and marching was a tribute to the fine work of "Smitty," our new band leader.

The basketball season, too, was a most successful one. After trouncing Hughes, we went to Dayton for the state tournament, and met defeat only at the hands of the state champions, from Dayton Stivers.

"The Rear Car," guided by that capable engineer of all Thalian specials, Mrs. Mildred Howard, rolled into Withrow High School with a carload of laughter and thrills. It was truly a success, with its bloody chains, flickering lamps, terrorizing screams, and apes.

The National Honor Society was instituted at Withrow, and forty-three seniors were chosen.

Under the baton of their excellent director, the orchestra and choruses presented the Annual Concert in fine style.

Our third year was completed with the publication of the annual, which was unique in many respects.

Almost before realization we have become seniors—members of the highest class at Withrow. This last year has proved to be a glorious triumph in itself.

We have been active, responsible members of a myriad of school organizations; we have supplied the teams with various members; we have studied hard and well; we have endeavored to lead our school in the accomplishment of its fine tradition.

Our most worthy work was the creation of a Student Council, through which the student body may express its opinions. With the co-operation of Mr. Lyon the members were elected, and an active organization founded. The stunts at the Withrow-Hughes game, the scholarship drive prior to the mid-year exams, the napkins in the lunchroom, the student assemblies—these were some of its achievements.

Although our teams were not as successful as previous years, their fighting spirit was unsurpassed. They were true Withrow teams, whether they lost or won.

We struggled with the mid-years for the last time, and our senior industry was repaid with passing grades.

Our last play was presented and was received very enthusiastically. Thalians had attempted a varied and difficult play, and had done it well, we were sure.

A merciful ruling exempted all seniors with a seventy average from the final examinations, and so most of us escaped this ordeal.

Now as commencement is rapidly drawing nearer, each day we realize that we are not graduating from knowledge, but are beginning to visualize the opportunities ahead of us. We feel that the school spirit of Withrow has stamped an imprint of character upon our lives. We, as seniors, have tried to uphold the traditions of Withrow and have attempted to live well, laugh often, and love much the school that will always be ours. MARY NICHOLS, '31.

CLASS PROPHECY - - 1931

WITH an expansive sigh, I sank back luxuriously into the cool, green depths of a large, leather chair. The high, barren desert plateaus of Chinese Turkestan, where for four weary years I had been delving into the musical history of Thibet, faded from my mind as the restful atmosphere of the room insinuated itself into my consciousness. Home! What a soothing sound that held for ears which had worn the dirt of strange, distant countries for so long.

I looked about me in mild wonder. This was something unusual—a hotel lobby in a city the size of Cincinnati that did not sound like a madhouse during a fire! "Why," I thought to myself, "a place as charming as this must have been arranged and directed by a person of marvelous taste and great brains! I wonder who the manager is?"

Curiosity on this point became so strong that I rose reluctantly and sauntered out into the crowded lobby, where a neat sign announced, "Gen'l Manager—Karl Niehoff."

"Why, let me see," I mused, "wasn't he a football player at school? How did he ever get in this business?" But before I could take any steps to probe further into this mystery, a bell-hop approached with the evening paper in his hand. As he handed me my change, I thought I knew him, and with some hesitation asked, "Aren't you Tommy Edwards?" The handsome man, not changed a bit in the fifteen years I had not seen him, replied that he was, and added that he was taking a correspondence course in dog-catching during his spare moments.

I again sought my quiet corner, eager to look through the paper for news of my former classmates. As I was opening it, I thought of Bob Butler, who had been editor of Tower News when I was a senior.

"He ought to have some kind of job on this paper," it occurred to me. And surely enough, in the masthead on the editorial page appeared the title, "Bob Butler, Editor-in-chief," and underneath it, "William Broerman, Business Manager." Other features on the editorial page caught my eye: There was a political cartoon, and I made out the name in one corner, William Duttenhofer! A lengthy article entitled, "Political and Economic Situation in Florida," bore the signature of Robert Welsh; I remembered that he had once taken a trip to Florida during his career as a student. Tucked away in one corner I found a blank verse poem bearing the name "Autumn Rapture," and I saw with amazement that it was signed "Cajetan D'Agostino."

But, eager to know if any of my friends were to be found on the first page, I turned there quickly. A thick, black headline struck me in the face, (but not too forcefully).

JENSEN ELECTED SOCIALIST SPEAKER OF HOUSE

The article went on to state that for the first time the Socialists were strong enough in the House of Representatives to command a majority. Farther on another statement caught my eye, "Senator Willard Mulford of Ohio is now the leader of the Republican Party on the floor of the Senate."

Right beside this was another sensational article, headed,

YOUNG, COUNTY TREASURER, HELD FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Charles Floyd, County Prosecutor, Believes Young Headed For Alaska With $1,000,000 Of County's Money

The article described how George Young, the popular county treasurer, had made away with the vast sum of $1,000,000 and had slipped through the hands of the police; but Chief-of-Police John Hellebush expressed confidence that he would be caught almost any minute.

I turned to more cheerful reading matter, and the first thing I noticed was a headline,

CONCERT SOPRANO SUES MANAGER FOR DAMAGES

"Elizabeth Slimp, nationally known coloratura soprano, filed suit today against her manager, Wesley Vordenberg, charging him with maliciously mixing glue with her throat spray in an effort to ruin her professional reputation. Miss Slimp, the Swedish nightingale, asks damages amounting to $25,000, claiming that her voice is somewhat damaged. Her accompanist, Fannie Smaluvitz, is prepared to perjure herself if called as witness."

Just beneath this was a notice of a debate to be held in the new Public Auditorium between the eminent astronomer and desciple of Einstein, William Franklin, and the noted churchman, Robert Sohngen, president of the South Australian Missionary Society. They were to debate on the question, Resolved: That Religion and Science Can Meet.

I now noticed a large picture of the famous Drackett Shakespearean Players Company, which was appearing in the city that week. Prominent in the picture were the manager, Charles Drackett; the leading lady, Marian Binder, who giggles Lady Macbeth so superlatively; Stewart Fern, who has enjoyed great popularity in the role of Shylock; Mary O'Connor, cast in the role of Ophelia; and Joseph Schwartz, acclaimed by critics as the greatest actor of Hamlet ever on the American Boards.

Next I noticed a photograph of a lovely lady whom I immediately recognized as Joy Pape, although the picture title proclaimed her to be Joyce Papier, the successor of Greta Garbo. She was appearing in a picture based on a novel by Elsie Liggett, and directed by a woman who had made her name in the moving picture field, Mary Nichols.

Suddenly I wondered if any of my friends were helping to advance Cincinnati's name in musical circles, and turned to the music notes. There I discovered with delight that the new conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Dorothy Johnson, was to conduct her own work, the "Ohio River Symphony" at the next concert. Daniel Nankovitch, the soloist, was to play a violin concerto by Brahms, and as a special feature the famous concert pianist, Constance Wenzel, was secured. I noticed among the members of the orchestra that Carl Kennedy was the tympanist, whose charming wife, the former Nancy Bell, has recently been presented at the Court of St. James. Lawrence Pathe played first flute, with Gerald Britton as clarinet soloist. I was rather surprised to notice that Clarence Watson was assistant conductor.

Among other notes I saw an announcement of a recital to be given at Emery Auditorium by the Cincy Trio, composed of Agnes McDaniel, soprano; Virginia Webster, mezzo-soprano, and Helen Pollard, contralto.

On the opposite page were sports, and there appeared a great many names I knew. Bill Chambers, the American Lawn Tennis champion, was to play in the tournaments at Wimbledon against the French challenger; Homer Jones, the great pitcher of the New York Giants, was to pitch against the Cincinnati Reds that week, of whom Dwight Harkins was manager; Jack Fisher, who held the world's glider record, was to address the Kiwanis Club.

I began to finger idly through the pages. Among the new books was a work on child psychology by Janet Koolage, a volume of nature poems by Marjorie Cowell, and a new translation of a Greek comedy by Mildred Dahlman.

With a start I read the depressing headline:

WITHROW SENIOR DIES

The sad, sad item related how Larry Canter, the ever-blooming senior of Withrow High School, had suddenly collapsed while studying.

After much careful searching, I found the Woman's page. First of all I saw "Mama Harmon's Helps to Happiness." It was a whole column and a half of advice to perturbed people by none other than Mary Rose Harmon. Justly proud of the fine work Withrow grads were doing, I read a few of the letters. The first, signed Mrs. Mary Crouse Simmonds, implored Mama Harmon to tell her of a preparation to keep baby from sucking his thumb. The second was from Charley Anderson and Jake Boyle, asking Mama Harmon to please introduce them to a couple of nice, sociable girls in her Mama Harmon's Stitch and Chatter Club. The last one, from a Withrow girl, wanted to know if boys really didn't like baby talk. Only the initials, M. B., were signed.

The theatre notes were full of familiar names: Lillian Winkler, the exponent of Dalcroze eurythmics, was presenting a series of recitals in New York and had been well received by the critics; Margaret Flinn was appearing opposite Jack Tyner in one of the most successful photoplays of the year; Charlotte Frey was lecturing at a downtown theatre on the subject, "How Every Woman Should Exercise Her Vote."

I began to feel sleepy and yawned occasionally as I thumbed through the advertisements—Virginia Davis, Buyer for Pogue's—Helen Burr Beauty Salon.

A voice mumbling in my ear brought me sharply back, and I looked up, faintly annoyed, to see a dark-haired man with a gentle, reflective expression, addressing me.

"I believe I know you from somewhere ——," he was saying. I knew his voice immediately.

"You're Stanley Peal, aren't you?" I demanded. He nodded. "And what have you been doing with yourself all these years?" I pursued.

Immediately he looked dreamy. "I've been writing a book about it—only been working on it about twelve years, but I hope to have it done within twenty years from now."

My weak fingers dropper the paper; "I've no doubt you will," I murmured hoarsely as I sank into unconsciousness.

CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

8. School opens. Several new teachers are almost as lost as the freshies.

9. Scribblers sell the Withrow Books, which are received with open arms by the bewildered freshmen.

10. First fall day with the opening of the lunchroom. Fifth period about two hours long and the lunchroom staff exhausted trying to hurry the freshies. Lots of wrecks mingled with blushes and giggles.

15. Tower News staff starts to work.

17. First assembly and more confusion among the freshies. Poor things! No one's ever taught them to salute the flag properly. Judge Fred. L. Hoffman spoke about the meaning of this "Constitution Day." Thalians hold first meeting of the year.

18. With the approach of the football season enlivening pep talks are being given in home rooms.

25. Our first pep assembly this year. Hip-hooray! The band blared forth, cheerleaders yelled, and freshmen screeched wildly. Mr. Howe gave a talk, and Bill Franklin explained our newest organization, Student Council.

26. First football game, Withrow vs. Urbana, ended with the tantalizing score of 6-6.

30. Tower News has a real live-wire staff. The first issue came out today, having been published without any help at all from a faculty advisor.

OCTOBER

1. Stage fright! Thalians hold tryouts today for girls.

2. More of it! This time with the boys. More clubs are starting out.

3. Lose a game to Norwood—12-0. The assembly with the orchestra and cheerleaders this morning didn't seem to inspire the team quite enough.

7. Castor oil and winding caverns—Scribblers initiate new members this afternoon.

10. Poor team! Newport beat us 2-0 today.

14. Baby dolls and hair ribbons are very much in evidence because of the A-D party, much to the mortification of freshmen and the enjoyment of upper classmen, notably sophomores.

15. Virgil's birthday is celebrated in assembly. Miss Grove shows slides of her trip over the route taken by Aeneas, and Bill Franklin gives a resume of Virgil's life.

17. At last the Tigers win a game. Beat Xenia 25-12.

20. Rolling of sleeves and stockings is necessitated this morning when vaccinations are examined.

21. Helen Pollard, Peg Granger, Homer Jensen, and John Hellebush are elected to represent the senior class in Student Council.

23. Withrow wins another game from Miami Military Institute with a score of 27-6.

24. Hooray! Convention for teachers and a holiday for us.

28. Assembly this morning for a talk by Mr. Stuart M. Thompson on the Young People's Concerts.

30. Another assembly. Dr. Charles Barker with a real speech holds his audience spellbound giving clever illustrations of the right and wrong ways to study and explaining boy and girl relations.

31. What a trick to play on Hallowe'en—report cards are issued! The red ink looks like the eyes in the pumpkin.

NOVEMBER

6. Another pep assembly with speeches by Coach Dana King, and Mr. Howe. Arm bands with towers and W's on them are sold by Student Council.

7. Withrow wins another game from Western Hills with a score of 6-0. Svetozar Nankovitch is injured seriously in the game.

10. Rabbi Heller gives an inspiring talk on "Peace," because of Armistice Day tomorrow.

13. Tower News—Annual assembly showing the past and the future of popular students. Jack Campbell's impersonation of Mr. Lyon is a riot. Circulars passed around after the contest reveal the astounding fact that both Tower News and the Annual cop the prize!

14. Woodward wins the game 6-0. And what a game!

20. A pep assembly in the form of a radio program with Stan Peal announcing is a clever innovation.

21. The big day! Hughes-Withrow game, and much to our disappointment Hughes wins 37-7. Withrow shows real pep, though, especially when a plane decorated with orange and black streamers and piloted by a Withrow student flies over the stadium.

24. Jess Pugh, humorist from Indiana, speaks.

25. The snow, the snow, the beautiful snow! Winter's coming, children.

26. All the feminine hearts flutter madly when Miami's handsome Men's Glee Club sings in assembly. Thanksgiving tomorrow. Hurrah for the Pilgrims!

DECEMBER

1. Back to work and tests.

9. R. M. Zimmerman initiates us into the mysteries and dangers of deep-sea diving as connected with the making of movies.

12. Report cards again! Red ink is so cheerful. Lynchburg beats us 18-8.

16. Happy Goldsmith gives an unusually interesting talk on food.

19. Dr. Hesser, superintendent of music, leads us in singing Christmas carols, and the Boy's Glee Club sings other Christmas songs.

22. Whooie! What pajamas these girls make! Household Art students amuse the rest of the girls in an assembly, displaying the clothes made in class.

24. Thalian gives a lovely Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang."

JANUARY

5. School and studies start again.

6. Twelfth night party is a big success.

7. Thoughts of exams are replacing our pleasant dreams of holidays.

9. Withrow defeats Hartwell 21-16. Well, well!

15. Mr. Peoples presides over an assembly this morning in which Mr. George Moriarity talks on baseball.

22. These handsome speakers! Mr. Art Young gives a fascinating illustrated talk on archery and his use of the bow in big game hunting.

23. Western Hills defeats us 29-19. Nuf sed.

27. Exams.

28. More exams.

29. Still more exams.

30. More! This is terrible. Dates and chemicals don't go so well together, while poetry and math are making faces at each other.

FEBRUARY

2. The worst which was yet to come has arrived—exam grades! A physiognomist would have a grand time here today.

4. Dr. James Thomas gives a graphic talk on temperance.

6. The band gives a concert today in assembly. Smitty certainly does things with those boys.

11. Another musical assembly—orchestra plays today.

13. Friday the thirteenth. Fingers are crossed and manholes carefully covered! Senior rings and pins finally arrive!

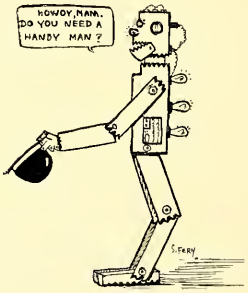
16. The U. C. Glee Club makes itself doubly welcome with fine music and the omission of the sixth period.

20. Woodward defeats us 33-19.

24. The Teachers' Octette sings several very pretty songs and Mr. Cecil Gamble speaks in assembly this morning.

MARCH

3. Miss Theolind Castellini, Mr. Surdo's charming niece, captivates the hearts of her audience with her beautifully sung Italian and Spanish melodies.



11. Mr. F. A. Wheeler brings Herby, the Televox man, to astound us students with his mechanical intelligence.

12. Shades of Adam! Faculty game today, and—the faculty won!

13. Thalian holds tryouts for the spring play, "Once in a Lifetime."

19. The most thrilling assembly in Withrow's history takes place. Svet Nankovitch returns victorious over his long illness; football letters are awarded, and the band bedecked in ancient suits adds to the tremulous hilarity.

20. Report cards again. We're in favor of the school system which omits grades.

26. All kinds of things take place in the home room meetings this morning.

27. Seniors forget their dignity and cavort wildly about when told that those having an average of 70 when the graduation census is taken will be excused from exams.

31. Chorean Dance Club gives a charming program this afternoon.

APRIL

10. Junior class officers are installed by Mr. Hamilton in assembly.

16. Former Governor Cooper introduces Mr. Strickland Gillilan, humorous philosopher, in assembly this morning.

27. Even supercilious high school students are still interested in fairy tales. This is proved by a Marionette show in assembly which portrays the story of "The Glowing Bird."

28. The A-B party is held today. "That Awful Letter" and "The Trysting Place" are very much enjoyed.

MAY

1. Moonlight and romance, gypsies and violins! Thalian's first night with "Once in a Lifetime."

4. Withrow girls hold Color Day. Seniors win first place in the class stunt, and sophomores first in points.

5. Mr. Gregg's Tumbling Team performs in assembly.

8. Senior party is held in the boy's gym after school with a floor show, dancing, and refreshments.

11. Withrow's debating team defeats Western Hills in assembly this morning, according to Mr. Arthur Postle, judge. The proposition was: Resolved: That chain stores are detrimental to the best interests of the American people. The girls hold a water pageant after school.

12. Water pageant is repeated. These girls are regular ducks—or is it fish?

14. Philologia holds its annual open meeting in assembly. Bill Franklin's extemporaneous talk on "Ping Pong as a form of Mental Gymnastics," is the hit of the program.

15. More Annual pictures are taken today. "Now, girls, fix your hair," is Mr. Webb's everlasting admonition.

18. Regret over the passing of Dr. Withrow, who has done so much for our school, is deeply felt.

22. Members of the National Honor Society are announced in assembly. Fred Wehking, '30, and Mr. E. D. Roberts, Superintendent of Schools, are the speakers. The first performance of the Twelfth Annual Concert is given by the Musical organizations of the school.

JUNE

2. Senior exams begin today.

9. Lower classmen suffer this week.

12. The day of days for seniors finally arrives. Graduation! Happiness at having come thus far is mingled with keen regret at leaving Withrow, and with the fond hope that we may make her proud of us.
